ITALO-GERMAN ENTENTE SAID TO BE COMING

Agreement Will Include Austria, Whose Independence Will Be Guaranteed, It Is Reported as Leaders Hold Conferences; Move Is Answer to British-French Understanding and Franco-Soviet Mutual Assistance Pact

Associated Press

Florence, Italy, Feb. 19.—A high authority disclosed tonight that a three-point agreement among Italy, Germany and Austria is in process of formulation.

The proposed agreement obliquely includes Hungary.

This disclosure indicates a new agreement exactly similar, in territory embraced, to the old Triple Entente, which before the Great War allied Germany, Italy and the Austro-Hungarian empire.

The three points of agreement were outlined as follows:

1. Germany and Austria will lower their tariffs considerably to each other.

2. Germany will guarantee Austria's independence.

3. Italy will permit the free development of Pan-Germanism in Austria as long as the movement does not destroy Austria's independence.

TWO HAVE TALK

This new development was revealed shortly after Fulvio Suvich, Italian Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, and Egon Berger-Waldenegg, Foreign Minister of Austria, had concluded a conference here.

Even as the two talked, following a luncheon, Ulrich von Hassell, German ambassador to Italy, was flying to Berlin. Von Hassell and Suvich had a long talk yesterday in Rome before Signor Suvich came to Florence.

Diplomatic sources placed Von Hassell's flying visit to Berlin in relation to Berger-Waldenegg's presence in Florence.

The relations between Italy and Germany have been somewhat improved since the start of the Italo-Ethiopian war, but informed sources representing both countries have said there was no immediate possibility of an alliance.

SELASSIE'S PLANE IS SABOTAGED

Canadian Press from Havas

Ethiopian authorities, it was said, discovered the personal airplane of the Emperor had been skilfully sabotaged in its hangar so it would undoubtedly have taken a disastrous nose dive shortly after a take-off.

PENSIONS AT SIXTY URGED

A. A. Heaps, C.C.F., Winnipeg, Asks Commons to Declare For Plan

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Pensions for all Canadians reaching the age of sixty, were proposed in the House of Commons this afternoon by A. A. Heaps, C.C.F., North Winnipeg. The plan, he said, would be an aid in relieving unemployment by creating jobs.

The Winnipeg member moved the following resolution:

"Whereas, there exists in Canada an acute unemployment situation;

"And, whereas, it is desirable as many as possible be absorbed into the useful industrial life of the Dominion;

"Therefore, be it resolved that, in the opinion of this House, the government be requested to immediately introduce legislation granting adequate retiring allowances to all citizens over sixty years of age, thereby giving an opportunity to large numbers now unemployed to be reabsorbed into useful productive activity."

Justice T. W. Trenchard, New Jersey, Sets Execution For Week of March 30

Associated Press

Trenton, N.J., Feb. 19.—The electrocution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann was fixed today for the week of March 30, with a second reprieve from the Governor of New Jersey as virtually his only hope for further delay.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas Trenchard, ill at his home, signed the third death warrant shortly after informed sources reported Governor Harold Hoffman had held a heated midnight conference with Defence Counsel Lloyd Fisher and Attorney Samuel Leibowitz.

Leibowitz denied the meeting had taken place, but from other persons came word that the noted New York criminal lawyers and Governor Hoffman had disagreed over the manner in which further questioning of the man convicted of the Lindbergh baby slaying should proceed.

JUDGE IS ILL

Assistant Attorney-General Joseph Lanigan took the warrant for Hauptmann's execution to Justice Trenchard's home, where the veteran jurist had been kept by a throat infection. The date for the electrocution, Lanigan said, was left to Justice Trenchard's discretion. By law it must be between four and eight weeks after the warrant is signed.

Victims Of Langford Lake Skating Tragedy

Miss Jessie Alexander, above, and H. "Hy" S. Green, right, drowned last night while skating at Langford Lake. They were last seen by skaters shortly after 9.30 o'clock. Their bodies were recovered this morning. The photograph of Miss Alexander was taken by Hester Wilkinson. The picture of Mr. Green was taken a few years ago when he was one of the leading amateur baseball players in Victoria.

H. "Hy" Green and Jessie Alexander Lost At Langford

Popular Vancouver Island Coach Lines Driver, and Stenographer, Victims of Skating Tragedy

Harry "Hy" S. Green, 1266 Montrose Avenue, and Miss Jessie Alexander, 827 Queen's Avenue, were drowned when they fell through thin ice while skating at Langford Lake last night. Provincial Police conducting dragging operations recovered the bodies in about seventy-five feet of water shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

The bodies were found after an all-night search for trace of the missing skaters, during which the hole where they went down was located. Skate marks were found leading up to the hole, but there were none leading away. Following this discovery police started dragging at the hole about 10.30 o'clock this morning.

The tragedy was the second of the current cold spell, the first being the death of Ernest A. Spencer, ten-year-old lad, who was killed sleighing at Brentwood. Today there is an atmosphere of gloom over Langford, where, for the last week, skating enthusiasts have been enjoying delightful outdoor sport.

The time of the tragedy is unknown, but it is believed to have occurred about 10.30 o'clock, after Mr. Green and Miss Alexander left members of their party to go for a skate.

MISSED BY FRIENDS

It was not realized they were missing until about midnight, when they were unreported and their companions were preparing to return home.

Provincial Police were notified at 1.10 o'clock this morning after a report was received at the city police station the couple was missing.

Sergt. Richard Harvey and Constable Gerald Davis went to the scene immediately and conducted a search in darkness around the lakeshore. At daybreak this morning Constables Davis and Elmer Holm continued the search, and shortly after 7 o'clock this morning they found the hole in the ice.

Mr. Green and Miss Alexander were members of two separate skating parties.

Mr. Green was accompanied by his twelve-year-old son, Harry, and Valentine Ramsdale, a young companion. Miss Alexander was a member of a skating party which included her sister, Marion.

It was Marion Alexander who reported the couple were missing to the police.

WELL KNOWN IN CITY

Mr. Green, who was forty-four years of age, was widely known in Victoria and a popular member of sporting circles.

He came to Victoria about twenty-five years ago and was associated with baseball, rugby, fraternal and varied other activities. He achieved prominence in the old days of amateur baseball and was an outstanding first baseman who played with the Elks.

Latterly he had confined his sporting interests to bowling and in this sphere he was a consistent member of the Poodle Dog quintette.

In the business world he was a member of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines staff and one of the company's leading drivers. Mr. Green was connected with the sightseeing and driving business ever since he came to Victoria from Seattle.

MOISTURE IN WHITE FROST

Cold Snap Slowly Coming to End, as Thermometer Reaches 38 at Noon

Victoria's temperatures are slowly rising and at noon today the thermometer reached thirty-eight degrees. At 2.15 o'clock this afternoon the temperatures on Gonzales Hill had risen to forty-one degrees. It was expected to go still higher around 3.30 o'clock.

This morning saw the first white frost of the present cold snap. White frost, F. Napier Denison, superintendent at the Observatory on Gonzales Hill, said indicated more moisture in the air.

The minimum temperature this morning was twenty-seven degrees, which was five degrees of frost. The minimum on the grass was nineteen degrees.

There was a magnificent sunrise this morning and not a cloud marked the sky. Under this sun the thermometer rose steadily. There was only a light breeze from the north-east and in sheltered spots the warmth of the sun could be felt.

The weather map still indicates slowly rising temperatures. Vancouver Island will be the first place in British Columbia to feel the milder weather.

NEW CO-ORDINATION

Wellington, N.Z., Feb. 19 (Canadian Press).—As a result of the reorganization of the labor and unemployment departments the government announces the establishment of a bureau of industries which represents the most comprehensive effort yet to co-ordinate the functions of government departments.

SKATERS WARNED ICE DANGEROUS

The delights of skating seemed about over for Victoria today, as rising temperatures and a warm sun slowly melted through the great coats of ice on the lakes about the city.

Skating is still safe on the shallow ponds and flats, although the ice is badly broken.

"Although the surface seems to be all right," F. Napier Denison, superintendent at the Meterological Observatory on Gonzales Hill said this morning "the thawing takes place underneath and the surface is weakened from below. The warm sun, of course, has its effect on the top."

Calgary, Feb. 19.—Cold weather makes Calgary citizens more patient, according to City Commissioner T. B. Riley. "They aren't even kicking about street car service," he added.

DOUGLAS COSTS ALBERTA $11,000

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Feb. 19.—Founder of Social Credit, Major C. H. Douglas of London, was paid $6,449 in fees and expenses in his capacity as reconstruction adviser to the provincial government, for his twenty-four-day stay in Alberta in 1934-35. The figure was before the Legislature today, having been given in a report yesterday by Hon. Charles Cockroft, Provincial Treasurer.

Having a two-year contract with the province, made by the late Farmer government, Mr. Douglas may collect an additional $2,500 as balance of his general fee of $5,000. In view of the fact that the Aberhart government expects him to arrive here about the end of the session to assist in preparing a Social Credit plan, he will be entitled to a special fee of $2,000 if his stay in the province is not over three weeks, it appears his total cost to Alberta will be about $11,000.

Art Christopher Defeats Whaley In Winter Golf

Victoria Player Scores Victory Over Seattle Star in Second Round of Empress Tourney; H. Brynjolfson Wins

A. B. "Art" Christopher, long-hitting member of the Colwood Golf Club, maintained the topsy-turvy nature of this eighth annual Empress winter tournament at the Oak Bay links this morning when he defeated Ralph Whaley, of Seattle, conqueror of Scotty Campbell, by 3 and 2 in the second round of handicap play. The big Seattle golfer had to concede two strokes in the eighteen-hole match.

An amazing ability to outdrive the husky Whaley, coupled with an uncanny knack of sinking putts when they counted most, won for Christopher. On one hole he outdrove Whaley by fifty yards.

The turning point of the match came at the eleventh hole, when Christopher holed an eight-foot putt to become two up. Whaley cut the lead to one at the thirteenth but the Victorian dropped a ten-foot putt at the fourteenth to go two up. Whaley's second shot on the fifteenth hit the lip of a trap beside the green and Christopher took the hole to go three up. They halved the sixteenth, and Christopher won the match.

NICOL WINS

Doug Nicol of Portland, former University of Washington title-holder, conceded eight strokes to Frank Burns of Seattle but managed to eke out an eighteen-hole win.

Harold Brynjolfson, favored by many in both the handicap and open divisions, advanced this morning at the expense of Cedric Walker of Victoria, winning by 4 and 2.

Manuel Azana, Former Premier, Called on to Form Government After Radicals' Victory in Election

Associated Press

Madrid, Feb. 19.—Former Premier Manuel Azana, Leftist leader, was named today to form a new government for Spain after the Portela government had resigned in the face of the Radical election victory.

Azana is head of the Leftist Republican Party.

He is not a Socialist, but he joined the Leftist electoral coalition on a compromise platform, the chief point of which is the strict enforcement of the present constitution of Spain.

Reliable sources declared orders had been issued to provincial courts to place all political and social prisoners under immediate provisional liberty. Between 25,000 and 30,000 Leftists would be released under the order.

THREE KILLED

Meanwhile, three political prisoners were killed and five severely wounded in a clash with guards at El Dueso Prison at Santona, Santander Province.

The new casualties brought the total reported killed in election and

Invaders Claim Defenders' Communications With Tembien Sector Broken; Italians Send Polish Physician and Assistant to Rome As Prisoners

The Havas News Agency

With Italy's Front-line Troops at Antalo, Feb. 19. — Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the Italian armies in Ethiopia, set about today to cut Ethiopian forces into small ineffective bands that will be helpless to threaten the new advanced Italian positions.

The Ethiopian armies are those of Ras Seyoum and Ras Kassa, which long have been a threat to the flanks of the Italian forces and to their communication lines behind Makale. Both were defeated in the great Enderta battle last week.

CHILDREN'S AID SEEKING FUNDS

Appeal Is Made For $5,000 to Carry on Important Work in City

An appeal for $5,000 in order to carry on the most humanitarian of work, the prevention of suffering among children, is being made by the Children's Aid Society.

The society has done invaluable work in the community.

Last year 198 cases were investigated, and only five of these were brought in as charges against the state. Readjustments were made in the homes of the other 193, readjustments which required skill, patience and understanding, and of course necessary funds, but which saved the province and the taxpayer large sums of money.

The $5,000 which the society is appealing for will be spent on preventative work only. The foster home and child placing, the other part of the society's work, is almost entirely

Speculation On New Armaments

London Newspaper Reports Six New Millionaires in Britain Though Government Has Not Even Announced Details of Programme

Associated Press

London, Feb. 19.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's cabinet advanced consideration of its great programme for increased national defences today amid expressions of apprehension in some informed British quarters that an armaments boom is imminent.

While the ministers assembled for further discussion of the defence plans—reported to call for £280,000,000 (about $1,400,000,000) on a three or four-year programme—appeals were being made to the government to prevent any excess of speculation after the full programme became known.

One newspaper, asserting there were already six new millionaires in Britain and that fortunes were being made almost overnight, urged: "The only way to prevent these unearned gains is to nationalize armaments now."

The London News-Chronicle: Conceded the government could not control stock exchange operations, but asserted it could control "swollen profits, the anticipation of which is post-election disturbances to thirteen.

The former government, headed by Premier Manuel Portela Valladares, had been in office since December 30.

The resignation, which removed from office all appointed administrative officials, was regarded as preparing the way for the establishment of a new government of radical political complexion.

RUMORS OF COUP

The resignation came shortly after Premier Valladares had investigated Leftist charges that conservatives and army officers might attempt a coup d'etat to prevent the establishment of a Leftist government.

The decision to resign en masse was made by the cabinet members in a lengthy conference with President Alcala Zamora.

It came as a surprise since the cabinet, at an earlier session, had agreed to withhold its resignation "until an opportune moment."

Strong guards were thrown around strategic centres and five military officers were arrested.

His communique, reporting on movements since Ethiopians were defeated Saturday in the Battle of Enderta and the Amba Aradam fortress was captured, said:

"Aviation has continued bombing the enemy in flight to the south.

"Troops of the Third Army Corps have reached the basin of Gaela, on the line of communication between the Tembien and Socota, without encountering resistance, being well received by the population."

Both prisoners said they were citizens of Poland and attached to the Ethiopian medical service.

They surrendered February 16 in the battle of Amba Aradam.

(Leslie Brown, secretary in Addis Ababa for the International Red Cross, cabled to Geneva demanding an explanation be obtained from the Italian government for the capture of the two Poles.)

Dr. Below, small and slight, graduated in medicine from the University of Warsaw in 1926. He joined Dr. T. A. Lamble of Toronto, director of the Ethiopian Medical Mission, in the interior in September, 1934.

Dr. Below told the Italian intelligence service, before he and his companions were taken to Massaua to sail, that he had quarreled with Dr. Lamble and joined the Ethiopian Red Cross in September, 1935.

Medynski, twenty-six years old, blonde and husky, went to Addis Ababa from Warsaw last September as a war correspondent for The Warsaw Kurier Polannj. In Addis Ababa he met Dr. Below and, having studied medicine in Poland, contracted to become the physician's assistant.

provided for by the provincial and municipal governments.

The money will be spent during the year on the following: Investigation of reported cases of maltreatment of children; investigation for legal adoption, and the non-ward care of children.

NON-WARD CARE

The non-ward care of children applies to homes where the investigator deems it necessary to remove children for a period of time but not permanently. The maintenance of these children is not provided for by the governments and the society has to pay the entire cost itself. As this amounts to over 70c a day, it is a heavy drain on the society's funds.

Last year sixteen children came under non-ward care.

"If we find a mother who is very ill and her children have no one to take care of them, we can take the children and put them in a home for a while and tell her not to worry at all but just to get well," Miss Lyna Mess, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, said in explaining the non-ward care of children.

Graduate in social services from the University of British Columbia, Miss Mess has only recently come from Vancouver to take over the local society. In Vancouver she had experience in both the preventative and foster home work.

Of the investigation of cases she says:

"We go out with two objectives in view. First we try and see whether we can re-establish the family so we need not remove the child. Then if we see that this is absolutely hopeless we collect evidence to lay a charge against the family and bring the child under the care of the society."

Miss Mess has found that not all the cases she has investigated were due to poverty. Most of the cases of physical brutality had no economic foundation.

The superintendent envisions the time when the society and its work will become so well known that families who have trouble with their children will come to the society of their own accord.

Speculation On New Armaments

the basis of these gamblers' speculation."

The continuing cabinet deliberations on the rearmament project aroused fresh speculation over the possibility of appointment of a co-ordinating minister to link operations of the Admiralty, the War Office and the Air Force.

Lord Eustace Percy, veteran minister without portfolio in the present cabinet, was considered a likely candidate for such a post, but mention of the name of Sir Samuel Hoare persisted in some political quarters.

FLEET MOVE EXPLAINED

On the eve of the cabinet session, the Earl of Stanhope, Under-secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Lords that "threats" from Italy were the real reason why the British fleet had been sent from Malta, close to Sicily, to the eastern Mediterranean.

This was the first official explanation that the fleet had moved to the east because of vulnerability of the vital British Malta base—a step which cost the Exchequer more the £7,000,000 (about $35,000,000).

He denied charges the fleet movement was designed to coerce Italy.

Fascist sources, in reply to the Earl of Stanhope's explanation of British fleet movements in the Mediterranean, asserted at Rome that Britain had received repeated assurances it had no need to fear an Italian attack.

Lord Stanhope told the Upper House yesterday evening that neither Britain nor any other League of Nations member was presently preparing new peace plans. No request for peace proposals had been received, either from Italy or Ethiopia, he added.

The six-power Mediterranean mutual assistance pact also entered into the discussion. "We are now pledged by that correspondence to go the aid of Turkey or Jugoslavia in the event of any incident being created which could be attributed to the enforcement of sanctions against Italy," said Lord Phillimore.

Ottawa Informs Civil Servants Economy Still Is Necessary

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—The need for economy in public expenditures prevented immediate compliance with requests for restoration to a normal basis of civil service salaries and the establishment of a $100 monthly minimum for all full-time male civil servants, Finance Minister Charles Dunning declared today.

The minister received a delegation representative of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada, headed by Harold Baker of Vancouver, national president. Recommendations contained in a lengthy brief presented to the minister would be given careful consideration, Mr. Dunning said.

Requests made on behalf of the workers in the public service included:

Restoration to a normal basis of all civil service salaries.

PERMANENT EMPLOYEES

Granting of permanent status to all temporary employees holding permanent positions.

Establishment of civil service councils in accordance with provisions of an order-in-council passed in 1930.

Granting of political rights to civil servants, giving them the rights of free speech at political meetings, the right to nominate and accept nomination and election to federal, provincial or municipal legislative bodies without resignation or dismissal from the service but with leave of absence without pay.

Amendments to the Superannuation Act along reform lines detailed at length in the brief.

EXPORTS ARE INCREASING

Minister of Trade Tells How Canada Ships More to Britain and U.S.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Citing figures of increased exports to the United Kingdom and the United States during January, 1936, compared with January, 1935, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, declared in a statement today there had been a "sharp advance" in trade with those two countries.

"Exports to the United Kingdom in January amounted to $21,682,840 compared with $16,811,036 in January, 1935, an increase of $5,071,804 or 30½ per cent," the minister said. "Exports to the United States amounted to $20,129,564 compared with $17,529,101, an increase of $2,600,463 or almost 15 per cent."

The minister stated that "contrary to the expectation of opponents of the reciprocity agreement with the United States, the opening up of trade with that country had not affected adversely Canadian trade with the United Kingdom. On the other hand, exports to the United Kingdom had increased at an even greater rate than those to the United States."

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 19.—Rev. George Karn Bradshaw, pastor of the Morrison Street United Church, died today following a brief illness. He was a native of Townsend, Ont.

As a young man, he went to Grand Forks, B.C., in 1908 as a probationer, and later held pastorates at Vancouver.

HAUPTMANN RESENTENCED

Governor Hoffman, who on January 16 reprieved Hauptmann for thirty days, gave no immediate indication whether he would grant a second delay. He had said previously he would not take such action unless Attorney-General Wilentz should agree. Wilentz held the first reprieve, was illegal, although he did not oppose its issuance.

IMPROBLE MOVES

There are other possibilities for defence efforts to stay the execution, but in some circles they were considered unlikely. A new trial could be sought on the basis of new evidence, the application being presented to Justice Trenchard.

Soon after the death warrant was signed, Leibowitz announced he would visit Hauptmann in his death cell this afternoon to question him further. His two previous visits, it was reported, had failed to shake Hauptmann's story as told at the trial.

Hauptmann, it was learned reliably, told his wife yesterday he believed he could convince Leibowitz of his innocence.

When Leibowitz became interested in the case a couple of weeks ago he indicated he would undertake defence moves only if Hauptmann would "tell the whole truth."

INTERVIEW REPORTED

Trenton, N.J., Feb. 19.—A man who heard the death house interview Sunday between Bruno Hauptmann and Attorney Samuel Leibowitz of New York, quoted Hauptmann, today as having said at that time: "I guess my story sounds pretty weak."

The news source said he heard the entire four-hour discussion.

"Leibowitz asked Hauptmann to reconstruct the entire crime according to his own version of what had happened," he said.

"He also asked the prisoner leading questions relating to the kidnap ladder, the ransom money, Isidor Fisch (Hauptmann's one-time business partner, who the prisoner claims left the ransom bills in his home), the ransom notes, and the disposition of the body of the Lindbergh baby.

OUT OF DOOR

The lawyer also asked Hauptmann how he would have committed the crime, the news source said.

"I would not have used a ladder," he quoted Hauptmann, "and I would have taken the baby out the front door. I would not have been alone."

"I would have had a gang. There was women in the house. I would have gotten sweet with one of the women, then I would know what to do, and I would not have had to use the ladder."

The news source said that on further interrogation, Hauptmann admitted, however, it would have been difficult to "reach" the women in the house, that he could not have taken the baby out the front door and that the ladder would have been "a good bet."

French Ambassador to U.S. Suggests 27,500 Tons As Upper Limit

Associated Press

London, Feb. 19.—The French Government, in an effort to gain the consent of the United States to smaller battleships, has approached the government at Washington direct.

This approach was made through the French embassy in Washington over the heads of Norman H. Davis, leader of the United States delegation to the Present International Naval Conference here, and of Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations.

A spokesman for the United States delegation called the move preposterous, pointing out Mr. Davis and Admiral Standley had full authority to negotiate.

United States headquarters said Mr. Davis had been advised of the diplomatic manoeuvre by the French. Charles Corbin, French ambassador to Great Britain, returned here from Paris yesterday evening after engaging in conversations with heads of his government.

CHIEF OBSTACLE

The problem of battleship tonnage is the principal obstacle remaining to prevent the three-month-old conference from closing. The French want the size of battleships limited to 27,500 tons while the United States is adamant in its stand that it must have a limit size of 35,000 tons. The Americans claim the areas United States naval forces must cover make large ships, with their wide cruising ranges, imperative.

INVITATION TO GERMANY

A British proposal in an effort to circumvent French objections to participation by Germany in the Naval Conference was said by authorities to have been framed by Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, and delivered to Ambassador Corbin for his week-end discussion in Paris.

The British suggestion envisaged a four-power agreement of Great Britain, the United States, France and Italy which would be initialed.

Vancouver Man Dies of Injuries

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—George Roberts, twenty-year-old employee of the Arnot Sash and Door Co. Ltd., Semlin Drive, died in a hospital here today five hours after he had suffered numerous injuries when his clothes caught in a line shaft at the plant.

Fellow employees report Roberts had climbed on a pile of lumber to oil the line shaft when his sweater caught in the revolving shaft. He was swung about the machinery and was considerably battered before the power was turned off. He suffered fractures of both legs and internal injuries.

EX-PROSPECTOR PASSES AWAY

Canadian Press

Calgary, Feb. 19.—Jean Joseph Brochier, sixty-nine, a resident of Kaslo, B.C., for more than thirty-eight years before moving to Calgary four months ago, died here today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. West, following a lengthy illness.

Born in St. Andiol, France, he came to Canada more than forty-one years ago and had been a mining prospector in the Kootenay Lake district for a number of years. Besides the widow in Kaslo, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. West and Mrs. H. J. Barbet, both of Calgary, and a sister in France.

Sydney, New South Wales, Feb. 19.—The entire crew of five was killed when a transport plane crashed today in a field near Sydney and burst into flames.

Fight to Open Ontario Roads

Highways Blocked By Drifts in Blizzard; Below Zero on Prairies

Canadian Press

As ploughs cut slowly through high-banked roads, the weather still held well below zero. The forecast remained "decidedly cold" for Ontario today and tomorrow. Sub-zero temperatures were reported, including twenty-eight below at Hearst and thirty-two below at Hawk Junction.

Traffic came to a virtual standstill, even over main Ontario highways, yesterday as wind from the northwest swept snow from the fields and piled it over ice-covered pavements.

Concern was felt for Oshawa's milk supply from farms. There was no indication of an immediate clearing of roads that would let farmers into the city. Bakers turned back after a futile effort to get bread into Port Perry, near Oshawa.

Snow was ten feet deep in the Stratford district and farmhouses were isolated from outside communication.

VILLAGE ISOLATED

Underwood, Ont., Feb. 19.—This Bruce County village remained snowed in today while residents became anxious over the food situation. A team that left for Port Elgin, twelve miles away, Monday, struggled through immense drifts and returned to Underwood yesterday evening bringing a supply of groceries but no bread.

A fuel shortage also faced the fifty residents here with wood hard to get because of the deep snow hindering entry to wooded sections.

It was understood snowploughs would try today to open the highway from Kincardine, fourteen miles south, but conditions were still far from favorable. This morning a high wind brought further drifting.

There was no immediate serious food shortage, but the villagers were becoming worried over the continued isolation.

COLD CONTINUES

Italo-German Entente Said To Be Coming to the Anglo-French understanding and the Franco-Soviet pact was believed today to be an immediate possibility.

It was believed here that Rome and Berlin are also close to a concrete understanding concerning Austria which will leave them free to co-operate on the broader terrain of European politics.

Following numerous Italo-German contacts in recent weeks, the famous slogan "Guard the Brenner Pass" has disappeared entirely from the Italian press.

NEW BASIS SEEN

It was reliably reported to Havas that the basis for a new understanding of Austria's position in relation to Germany and Italy respectively would be discussed during this meeting.

Signs of the swift march of Rome toward an entente with Berlin, long foreshadowed, but up until now never concrete, were enumerated today as follows:

1. Italy has taken up all of Germany's objections to the Franco-Soviet pact, including the charge that it violates the Locarno treaties. Hostile German comments directed against France and the Soviet Union receive prominent daily treatment in the Italian press.

FREQUENT DISCUSSIONS

2. Italo-German contacts have taken on more concrete form in connection with the trips of Ambassador von Hassell between Rome and Berlin, the trips of Gen. Aldo Pellegrini, chief of civil aviation, and the recent conferences between the new Italian Ambassador to Germany, Bernardo Attolico, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Air Minister Gen. Wilhelm Hermann Goering.

3. In the wake of these intensive diplomatic exchanges the slogan, "Guard the Brenner Pass," has been erased from newspapers which until a few weeks ago were repeating it almost daily. The new course appears to be proceeding on the basis of certain German assurances to Italy concerning Austria.

SAY THEY UNDERSTAND

4. The press has laid heavy emphasis on the fact that the Reich has shown more "comprehension" of Italy's position than Italy's former allies.

5. Rome, on its own account, is determined to counter any European orientation which would increase the influence of the Soviet Union in the Danubian basin, where Italy intends to preserve its role as protector-in-chief, according to a Havas report.

6. Any solution of the Danubian problem which directly or indirectly implies the participation of the Soviet Union, either by itself or through a League of Nations guarantee, will be regarded with suspicion in Rome.

7. Premier Mussolini, it was believed, considers the present moment ripe for consolidating his international position diplomatically following the recent victories on both the northern and southern fronts in Ethiopia.

ANNOYANCE FOR GERMANY

Canadian Press From Havas

Paris, Feb. 19.—France was warned today that the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance treaty constitutes an alliance with Communists and a source of friction with Germany.

The warning was uttered by right wing members during debate in the Chamber of Deputies on ratification of the pact which was drawn up last May and has been before the chamber now for nearly two weeks.

Philippe Henriot attacked the Moscow Government, declaring it plays a double role, appearing now as the Soviet Union and again as the Third Internationale.

"With which of these organizations shall we really be signing a treaty?" he queried.

NOTE PUBLISHED

Associated Press

Rome, Feb. 19.—Fascist Italy, confronted by French confirmation of a mutual assistance accord with Britain in the Mediterranean, strengthened further today its own defence structure.

Premier Mussolini's government made public extracts of a French note, handed to Italian ambassador Vittorio Cerruti at Paris yesterday, which placed France squarely with Britain against Italy's protests over the Mediterranean mutual assistance agreement.

Promptly, in addition to the vast appropriation decreed yesterday for extraordinary colonial defence expenditures, the Fascist government took new martial measures. One was creation of Italy's first aerial division.

FRENCH OPINION

Paris, Feb. 19 (Associated Press).—French officials denied knowledge tonight of a reported plan for an Italo-Austrian-German accord, and branded it a "huge bluff" by Premier Mussolini.

"If there really is an accord it will mean the complete overturning of the map of Europe," said one official.

Early Debate On Oil Sanctions

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 19.—The British Government is urging oil sanctions against Italy should be considered by the League of Nations at the earliest possible date.

The League's committee of experts has reported, and with this report in hand the League's Committee of Eighteen can now go ahead. Date of the sanctions committee meeting lies with its chairman, Dr. Augusto Vasconcellos of Portugal.

It had been thought the committee would meet March 9, but Britain would like the date advanced to March 2. Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, proposes to attend the meeting personally.

Recent Italian victories on both the southern and northern fronts in Ethiopia have again brought the League sanctions problem to the forefront of public discussion. Much criticism is heard that had more effective sanctions been imposed earlier there might now be a better chance of inducing Italy to cease her aggression.

He was first employed with the C. and C. sightseeing company about 1917 and later went to the Gray Line. He then joined the Coach Lines staff when the company was formed in 1928. He married about twenty years ago.

He is survived by his widow, and two sons, Leslie, nineteen, and Harry, both at the Montrose Avenue home; his mother, in Seattle; three brothers and four sisters, all in United States.

WORKED AT BUILDINGS

In her earlier days, after attending George Jay and Victoria High School, she was active in girls' basketball circles, and played with the First United girls' team. She was also connected with other athletic groups.

After leaving school she joined the Parliament Buildings staff as a stenographer and for the last several years she was connected with the Department of Education.

She is survived by her mother and father and three sisters, Isabel, Marion and Cassie, all at home.

The bodies have been removed to Sands Mortuary where an inquest will be held tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

LOWER B.C. RAIL GRAIN RATES URGED

try, Mr. Reid clashed with Thomas Vien, Liberal, Autremont-Montreal, a former railway commissioner, who sought to explain the difference between export and domestic freight rates.

HIGHWAY COMPETITION

The whole system of railway freight rates was "idiotic, chaotic and archaic," said Mr. Reid. If the railway companies did not get rid of some of their so-called experts they would find their traffic all being handled by motor buses and motor trucks.

When grain was shipped from Calgary to Vancouver for export the rate was 20 cents per 100 pounds, he explained. When it was shipped for use in British Columbia as feed for poultry and by dairy farmers the rate was 41½ cents. The distance from Calgary to Vancouver was 642 miles. The distance from Calgary to Fort William was 1,250 miles and yet the rate on grain grom Calgary to Fort William was only 26 cents.

BOARD LOOKING BACKWARD

British Columbia could not hope for justice from the Board of Railway Commissioners, but had to come to Parliament, said Mr. Reid. The board was continually looking backward and judged all cases on the basis of decisions made twenty-five years ago.

ISLAND MEMBER'S VIEWS

If the government could not see its way to adopt Mr. Reid's bill, said A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, it should at least arrange a meeting with the railways and induce them to lower the rates on low-grade wheat moving from the prairies to the coast.

ROCKET PLANES IN THE NEXT WAR

Weapon For Destroying Enemy Without Risking Pilot's Life Foreseen By Professor Kelmin, Aeronautical Expert of University of New York

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, Feb. 19.—War is likely to bring rocket planes into being, Professor Alexander Kelmin, aeronautical expert of New York University, told members of the Electrochemical Society here yesterday evening.

"There are possibilities," he said, "of constructing an aerial weapon for destroying the enemy at 200-mile range without risking the life of a single pilot."

Stunt flying, he said, might be the first use of rocket ships. "Still later," he said, "There may be a system of mail-carrying across the Atlantic. Later still we can conceive of passenger-carrying by rockets.

"Since the rocket carries its own oxygen and works perfectly in a vacuum, it should, if light enough, be capable of sufficient acceleration to rise outside the earth's gravitational field at very high speeds, and once launched it would continue to fly through space unimpeded."

FOUR PROBLEMS

Professor Kelmin saw four practical problems ahead for rocket planes, fuel first. He said the rocket motor was not likely to be of the gunpowder variety. Yet propulsion was the objective. The jet fuel would issue from a nozzle at speeds of nearly a mile a second.

The rocket ship, he explained, is efficient only when its own speed is nearly that of the fuel jet. This brings up the second problem, inefficiency at low speeds.

The third problem is that a rocket flying a couple thousand miles an hour needs little wing area, but the opposite when landing or taking off.

Fourth is materials, especially for the exit nozzle of the motor, which is not only subjected to very high temperatures, but to terrific erosion by fast moving gases.

NEW GROUPING OF TEACHERS

Alberta M.P.P.'s to Debate Bill For Compulsory Membership in Association

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Feb. 19.—Compulsory membership of teachers in a province-wide professional organization will be the aim of a bill to be brought down in the Alberta Legislature by a private member within the next few days. This was indicated when Premier Aberhart met a delegation representing the resolutions committee of the Alberta School Trustees' Association yesterday.

The Premier did not state whether the government would favor or support the bill.

Under the proposed plan, all teachers in the province would have to belong to the organization before they could obtain a position from any school board.

The various school boards would be asked to deduct the amount of the fee necessary for membership in the teachers' organization from teachers' salaries so that all teachers in the province would be in good standing at all times.

It is recalled a bill introduced at the 1935 session of the Alberta Legislature by C. A. Ronning, Camrose, and providing for compulsory membership in the Alberta Teachers' Society caused a stormy debate. Finally, the House "killed" the compulsory features of the bill.

SASKATCHEWAN LOAN RENEWED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—The Dominion has renewed for one year a loan to the province of Saskatchewan amounting to $3,542,019.

An order-in-council authorizing renewal of the loan, which matured February 16, was tabled in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Finance Minister Dunning. The minister reported to the cabinet that the Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan had stated the finances of that province did not permit redemption of treasury bills which the Dominion held as security for the last loan. He requested renewal for another year.

As security for the renewing loan the Dominion has accepted treasury bills carrying 4 per cent interest.

Silver Dollars Are Minted at Ottawa

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—The total amount of silver dollars issued by the Royal Canadian Mint up to the present is $428,120, Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, was informed in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

The New Westminster member was also told the Mint was still manufacturing and issuing silver dollars. No particular amount had been authorized, the number of pieces to be coined depending on requisitions received.

STUDENTS' FUNDS GO TO MEMORIAL

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—Men and women students registered in the faculty of arts and science at the University of British Columbia have decided to waive their "caution money," which would ordinarily be returned to them at the close of the year, and to donate it to the Students' Union building fund, which will be used in construction of a memorial to the late Dean R. W. Brock.

Each student must pay $5 "caution money" into the university funds at the first of the term as personal guarantee against breakage of university property and cost of valuable laboratory equipment.

Report on Tractor Parts Duties Denied

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—There have been no increases recently in duties on tractor parts, National Revenue Minister Ilsley told W. A. Tucker, Liberal, Rosthern, Sask., in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

The Saskatchewan member said the International Harvester Company had sent a letter to dealers in his constituency announcing the cost of parts for duty-free tractors would be increased 33 1-3 per cent. It was inferred, the member said, this increase was due to changes in duties.

No changes had been made in duties, Mr. Ilsley said. The tractors entered free, but there had been a tariff against parts for some years.

PAYMENT WILL BE EQUALIZED

Farmers Who Sold 1930 Wheat Crop at Less Than 60 Cents to Get Difference

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19. — Prairie wheat producers who sold their 1930 crop to the pools and received an initial payment of less than 60 cents a bushel, will be enriched by the Dominion Government to the extent of close to $6,000,000. The government's intention of distributing the money was made known in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Prime Minister King.

Legislation would be introduced shortly, the Prime Minister said, to authorize payments from the federal treasury sufficient to equalize the initial payments of the pools on the 1930 crop at a maximum of 60 cents a bushel.

An order-in-council, passed by the last administration on October 10, 1935, authorized payment of this equalization fund on a basis recommended by John I. McFarland, who headed the government's wheat policy operations from 1930 to near the end of 1935. Payment was to be made subject to an audit.

Questioned on the matter in the House yesterday by J. G. Ross, Liberal, Moose Jaw, Mr. King presented the following statement:

"The auditor's report has been referred to the government. It is the opinion of the government that the report of the auditors does not justify the government in making payment under authority of the order-in-council passed October 10, 1935. The government is of the opinion, however, that in view of the policies followed under the previous government in handling the 1930 wheat pool surplus the producers of wheat who accepted an initial payment of 50 to 55 cents a bushel, basis No. 1 northern at Fort William, are justified in expecting these payments to be equalized at 60 cents a bushel.

"It is, therefore, the intention of the government to have legislation introduced without delay to provide for the equalization of the 1930 pool payments on wheat at 60 cents a bushel, basis No. 1 northern, Fort William."

ALBERTA BENEFITS

Calgary, Feb. 19.—R. D. Purdy, manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool, said here that 7,000 Alberta farmers will benefit by approximately $2,750,000 through the move of the federal government to equalize the initial payment on the 1930 wheat crop at a terminal price of 60 cents a bushel.

ATROPHIED MAN DIES IN ENGLAND

C. C. Halahan Was Kept Alive For Three Years By Artificial Respiration

Canadian Press

New York, Feb. 19.—A man who had been kept alive for more than thre years by artificial respiration died yesterday at Chiddingfold, Surrey, Eng., says a special dispatch from London to The New York Times.

He was S. Crosby Halahan, aged sixty-five. All the muscles of his body gradually had become atrophied and in 1932 he became unable to three years by artificial respiration The following year, Sir William Bragg, scientist, devised an apparatus of football bladders connected by a wide rubber tube, says The Times story. One bladder was tightly bandaged to Halahan's chest and the other, between two hinged boards, was worked by the feet like a bellows.

Later a hydraulic apparatus worked by water was designed and used until Halahan's death.

Ontario Premier Heard in Protest

Hepburn Says Errors About Him in Magazine Article and Bennett Speech

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Premier Hepburn protested in the Ontario Legislature yesterday about an article in a Canadian magazine, concerning his absence from a dinner in Ottawa. He also complained of a House of Commons speech by Opposition Leader R. B. Bennett, regarding the same incident.

The January 15 issue of the magazine, Mr. Hepburn said, contained an article stating he was "conspicuously absent" from a dinner Prime Minister King gave before the recent Dominion-Province Conference. The article went on to say, according to the Premier, that Mr. Hepburn was at the Gatineau Club, where there was more jollity.

Mr. Hepburn told the Legislature the club was "a notorious night club." His recent illness had prevented attendance at night functions, he declared, and he had remained in his hotel room that night with his friends, Arthur Slaght, M.P.; Senator F. P. O'Connor and others.

He was sure the magazine would retract the statement.

Mr. Hepburn referred also to a speech Mr. Bennett had made in the House of Commons regarding the Gatineau Club.

"Mr. Bennett can be so small at times he can walk under a freight car without removing his silk hat," the Premier declared.

He went on to accuse Mr. Bennett of smarting under defeat.

LUMBERMAN DIES IN WASHINGTON

Associated Press

Hoquiam, Wash., Feb. 19.—Robert Polson, president of the Polson Logging Company and brother of Alex Polson, died suddenly here yesterday evening.

The Polson interests control the largest stand of timber on the west slope of the Olympic Peninsula and operate a shingle mill and a lumber mill on Grays Harbor. Their timber holdings extend from Grays Harbor to the Oxette Indian reservation, a distance of about seventy-five miles.

Robert Polson was born in Nova Scotia in 1866. He came to Grays Harbor about forty-five years ago with his brother. They started a small logging company and gradually extended their interests along the peninsula.

CONFERENCE RECONVENES

Committee on B.N.A. Act to Meet Again March 2

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Further consideration of methods by which the British North America Act may be amended will be given by the full Dominion-Provincial committee on constitutional questions at a meeting in Ottawa set for March 2.

This committee, made up of provincial attorneys-general and officers of the Federal Department of Justice, was convened January 29 pursuant to a resolution adopted at the Dominion-Provincial Conference in December.

At the January meeting a subcommittee of experts was appointed to draw up tentative plans of procedure based on previous discussions. The report of the sub-committee has now been completed and placed in the hands of the provincial attorneys-general for study prior to the March 2 meeting.

FORMULA SOUGHT

Main object of the committee was to agree on a formula of procedure whereby the Dominion might obtain from the United Kingdom Parliament a statute that would have the effect of extending to Canada the right to amend its own constitution, a right enjoyed by all other self-governing Dominions.

At the December conference agreement was reached that some amendments to the constitution were urgently necessary, and a resolution that Canada should obtain the amending power, now exclusively the right of the United Kingdom Parliament, was adopted with New Brunswick the only dissenting province.

Work of the sub-committee, on which New Brunswick was not represented, was concerned with drawing up a proposed method of procedure and a classification of the constitution's clauses into categories, amendment of which would require certain fixed proportions of unanimity on the part of the provinces.

ALTERNATIVE PROPOSALS

It is understood there will be two alternative proposals—one that a clause be added to the present constitution giving the amending power to the Dominion Parliament under certain conditions, the other that the B.N.A. Act be repealed and re-enacted by the Dominion Parliament.

There is a possibility the matter will be referred to a plenary session of the Dominion-Provincial Conference before it finally goes before the federal and provincial parliaments.

Bennett Radio Bill To Be Paid

Commission's Account of $20,000 Will Be Met, Says Hon. J. E. Lawson

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19. — The account charged against Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett for radio broadcasting during the election campaign last fall referred to in a return tabled in the House of Commons last Monday will be paid, according to a statement issued yesterday by Hon. J. Earl Lawson, M.P., Conservative organizer. The account, said to be $20,000, was shown as unpaid in the parliamentary return, based on a report of the Radio Commission.

"Radio for the Conservative Dominion headquarters," said Mr. Lawson's statement, "was arranged by J. J. Gibbons Limited, and the accounts rendered to that advertising agency were paid to the commission, on the mistaken assumption that all radio was thus being paid for. Subsequently, an additional account was rendered, which I have checked and found to be correct. It will be paid."

H. WILSON ON BAIL IN TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Herbert Wilson, London, Ont., former evangelist and mail train robber paroled from the San Quentin, Calif., prison, was remanded on $10,000 bail until February 25 when he appeared in police court here yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to defraud.

Donald Holliday, Toronto, facing the same charge, was given a similar remand.

Police allege Wilson and Holliday figured in a bond deal with the A. E. Ames Co. of Toronto amounting to nearly $100,000 and that the bonds proved not genuine.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENT

Vancouver, Feb. 19. (Canadian Press).—A verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to any person was returned by the coroner's jury which inquired into the death of William Anderson, who was injured when struck by an automobile at Main Street and Northern Avenue on February 12. Evidence given at the inquest showed that Anderson walked into the path of the automobile and that Walter James Scribbens, Alleged driver, could not avoid the accident.

NEW MINES ADD BIG GOLD TOTAL

World Production in 1935 Above $1,000,000,000 For First Time on Record; Companies Rapidly Increase in South Africa

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, Feb. 19.—A flood of new gold, so vast that yellow metal mining passed the billion dollar mark for the first time last year, with a promise of mounting volume for years, was reported to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers here yesterday evening.

John J. Croston, Boston mining engineer, reported the 1935 gold mining high mark. South Africa, the United States, Canada and Russia were the main producers of gold.

As an indication of what is to come, Mr. Croston cited the Witwestrand gold area in South Africa. That region already has thirty-five large mines.

But fourteen new companies, an increase of more than one-third, are now engaged in large-scale development in that area, Mr. Croston said.

"It is expected," he explained "that these new companies will spend over $110,000,000 before reaching production, will employ 15,000 white men and 135,000 natives, and will produce about 3,500,000 ounces of gold annually—more than the United States and Canada produce at present."

INCREASE IS RECORD

Last year, with its billion dollar gold record, saw an increase in mined gold of more than 30,000,000 ounces, 10 per cent over 1934. In this rise South Africa was first, Russia second, the United States third and Canada fourth.

Australia is expected to join the gold procession with new mines under development, Mr. Croston said.

In the United States only four mines produce more than 100,000 ounces of gold annually. The Homestake leads by a wide margin.

Work on the system of highways from Cairo to Cape Town is progressing rapidly, and travel the length of Africa will soon be possible.

HOLIDAYS FOR VIMY VETERANS

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Returned soldiers in the government service will be given eleven days' extra leave with pay during the coming summer to enable them to take part in the Vimy pilgrimage.

Secretary of State Rinfret made the announcement in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon in reply to a question asked by Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster.

Japanese Vessel Safe After Gale

Associated Press

Seattle, Feb. 19.—Coastguard headquarters here said a message intercepted by its Gray Harbor radio station yesterday evening indicated the Japanese freighter Koki Maru was running out of a terrific gale, 740 miles northwest of San Francisco.

Earlier, the freighter wirelessed that its bridge was damaged and deck cargo and two lifeboats were washed away by heavy seas.

The Koki Maru's message as picked up at Grays Harbor, said:

"Wind and sea moderating. Westerly long swell. I consider can navigate with temporary measures. All hands now endeavoring to replace and relash deck load. Will set course again when swells decrease. Many thanks for kind watching."

The master of the 3,456 net ton vessel reported no losses among the crew of thirty-five men. The Koki Maru was en route from Alberni, B.C., to Newcastle when the storm struck.

Germany Bars "Modern Times"

Canadian Press

Berlin, Feb. 19.—Propaganda Minister Goebbels in two drastic censorship steps, has barred all newspapermen from reporting speeches without his personal permission and banned Charles Chaplain's new picture, "Modern Times," from Germany.

The new step against reporters, which includes foreign correspondents, will prevent them from attending meetings of the different Reich corporations, political assemblies and industrial bodies if the Propaganda Ministry decides the proceedings should be held secret.

The ban on "Modern Times" caused considerable surprise. The comedian is as popular in Europe as in the United States.

NO MORE TRIALS IN HOUSE OF LORDS

London, Feb. 19. — The House of Lords yesterday gave first reading to a bill which will abolish the traditional right of a peer to be tried on a criminal charge by his fellow peers in the Upper House. The bill was presented by Viscount Sankey, Lord Chancellor from 1929 to 1935. Supporters of the bill contend the practice involved a waste of money and violated the principle that all Britons are equal before law.

WOULD LIMIT NEWS ON RADIO

Secretary of American Newspublishers' Association Makes Suggestion

Associated Press

Chicago, Feb. 19.—E. H. Harris, secretary of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, yesterday urged members to protect their heavy investment in news by including in contracts with privately-owned press associations a provision prohibiting the sale of news to broadcasting stations or advertisers.

In an address delivered at the annual meeting of the Inland Daily Press Association, Mr. Harris, who also is chairman of the publishers' national radio committee, urged publishers to unite in "protecting the news which we have gathered and which the press associations have gathered for publication in the newspapers and not allow our property to be used for revenue producers for competing mediums."

The "most optimistic estimates" of revenues for news from radio sources was but a small percentage of newspaper revenue, said Mr. Harris, who is publisher of the Richmond, Ind., Palladium. He added:

"The cost of gathering and disseminating news requires an expenditure which radio clients cannot pay. . . . Many radio stations cannot pay the cost of the transmission of news after it is collected. Proof of this statement may be found in the records of the Press Radio Bureau in New York.

PROPERTY RIGHT

"Why should the publisher not require privately-owned press associations to include a provision in his contract which will give each newspaper client a property right in all the news of the association and prohibit the association from selling this property to any broadcasting station or to any advertiser for sponsorship over the air without his consent?" Mr. Harris queried.

He asserted he was "not trying to embarrass privately-owned press associations" or "to promote the interests of a mutual press association," but was pointing out "a method of protecting our own interests . . . as they are protected now in mutual organizations in which they were bound with other members."

A NAZI PROPAGANDIST

OPPONENTS OF STATE HEALTH INsurance in British Columbia are not the only ones to adopt Nazi Hartz's arguments against this form of social service. In fact, there is abundant evidence that this writer's brochure is being used as the basis of widespread propaganda. For example, some time ago The New York Post charged a group of powerful corporations and other organizations opposed to social security legislation with circulating copies of the pamphlet throughout the United States. The Post said:

"Behind this widespread effort to discredit social insurance are such corporations as the Pennsylvania Railroad, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Bell Telephone Company, the Bethlehem Steel Company, and the Berkshire Knitting Mills." The Post then goes on to say that "in this state the pamphlet is being distributed by the Medical Society of New York . . . its author is Gustav Hartz, and it is called 'Will America Copy Germany's Mistakes?'"

To quote again: "Hartz, who lives in Germany, was assigned to write it by a group of Pennsylvania industrialists, who paid him handsomely. Written by him in German, it was translated into English."

The Philadelphia Record of a few months ago, said: "Gustav Hartz, Labor economist for Adolf Hitler, has been employed by the large corporations of Pennsylvania to write the propaganda against Governor Earle's liberalized Workmen's Compensation Law and other social legislation.

"That startling fact came to light yesterday with the disclosure that state Senators, Assemblymen and officials have been flooded with copies of his German pamphlet entitled 'Will American Copy Germany's Mistakes?'

"Hartz was employed to write this pamphlet by the Pennsylvania Self-Insurers' Association, which numbers among its members many of Pennsylvania's great corporations. Among these are the big mining companies, steel plants such as the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Pennsylvania Railroad, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and scores of others.

"Hartz was engaged by Arno P. Mowitz, consul for the Hitler government here. Mowitz appeared in March as counsel for the manufacturers before the House committee in opposition to the Workmen's Compensation Law. He is head of the Berkshire Knitting Mills, at Reading, Pa.

GERMANY, ITALY AND JAPAN

THERE IS NOTHING SURPRISING IN the report from Rome today that an Italian-German entente is believed to be an immediate possibility. It is surprising, in fact, that the two fascist countries have not established such a relationship earlier, in spite of their conflicting policies over Austria; first, because they have so much in common in their form of government, their manufactured intensive nationalism and aggressive designs in the international field; second, because they share a similar position in the suspicion of the rest of Europe, and third, because of the agreements and understandings directed against them by their neighbors.

Italy, superficially at least, is the object of the hostility of more than fifty countries forming the League of Nations. Her defiance of the Geneva organization, of which she is a member, and her violation of its covenants which she pledged herself to uphold, combined with her theatrical belligerence, have prompted the formation of a specific coalition against her if she should be foolish enough to back up her defiance with force. Among the Mediterranean powers she stands alone.

Germany, whose present aspirations embody a much more formidable menace to peace in Europe, is confronted with a definite alliance between France and Russia, with Anglo-French protective consolidation, and a positive military alliance between France, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Jugoslavia on the side. It was inevitable, therefore, that she should get into the wagon with Italy. This, in turn, must mean a composition of the differences of the two nations over Austria, whose independence Germany has tried to destroy and for which Italy, guarding the Brenner Pass, has been ready to fight.

Germany wants Austria as the first step of a programme of territorial expansion which eventually is expected to include all of the former domain of Austria-Hungary, the areas which went to France and Belgium, and compound interest in the form of a chunk of southern Russia and a few odds and ends now belonging to Poland and Lithuania. Italy always has opposed the absorption of Austria by Germany because she did not want any German influence so close to her own Alpine boundaries. But the logic of their international position and their common form of dictatorship are inevitably bound to bring them together even though they must continue to distriust one another. It will be recalled that before the war Germany, Austria and Italy constituted the Triple Alliance against the Triple Entente of Britain, France and Russia, and that Italy withdrew from this association and joined its enemies.

A combination of Germany and Italy naturally would link up with Japan, which probably already has some form of military understanding with the Reich. Japan's aspirations are so much the same as those of Germany and Italy that it would be impossible to exclude her from such a picture. Whether Poland would enter into a union of that sort is doubtful. Her government abhors both Russia and Germany, but the Polish people know that Moscow meditates no designs upon her territory, and that Germany does. They know that Germany means to regain the Polish Corridor and cut Poland off from the sea.

An alliance between Germany and Italy, of course, would involve a readjustment of France's policy which in recent times has been directed to a closer connection with her Mediterranean neighbor. By that understanding Italy agreed to maintain strong military forces in the Brenner Pass as a constant counter-measure against German aggression in Austria, which France is determined to resist at all costs, in return for which she was given a free hand in Africa as far as France was concerned. But France has decided to maintain close relations with Great Britain, and the British people are determined to balk Italy's programme in Africa, so the French government has been engaged in the impossible task of supporting Italy in Ethiopia and at the same time keeping on good terms with Britain.

If Italy should throw her lot in with Germany the French position will be clarified, for France sees only one potential enemy, and that is Germany. Hence, the remorseless and inevitable logic of events is dividing the world into fascist and anti-fascist camps, with a race between war and widespread revolution in the offing.

EIGHT YEARS IN A ROW

WITH A VERY LARGE PART OF THIS continent in the grip of winter, with temperatures ranging anywhere from ten to nearly sixty degrees below zero, Victoria is basking in warm sunshine and the eighth annual Empress winter golf tournament has reached its third day—and still the sun is shining brightly, not a cloud in the sky.

True, the greens at Oak Bay are a little uncertain, and there must be a desire on the part of some of the contestants to put a "drag" on the ball with a club considerably more lofted than the official putter, but visitors from Winnipeg and other parts of Canada and from the south appeared to have had a good time on the first day, and chalked up scores which compared favorably with other years. They must have allowed their thoughts to wander back to their home towns where golf will not be possible for many, many weeks.

There were those, of course, who shook their heads when it first was proposed to hold an international golf tournament in this city in February. The question uppermost in their minds was whether the weather could be relied upon. On no occasion so far has it been necessary to postpone the event for even a day. And it is significant to note that a popular broadcaster at Los Angeles on Monday night told the whole of this continent about this annual Victoria midwinter tournament. He gave the scores of the qualifying round, and, in this regard, it is fitting that a hearty compliment should be paid to Mr. E. L. Howard, a sixty-nine-year-old golfer from Seattle, for leading the field. His eighty-four, with his handicap of sixteen, gave him a net score of sixty-eight.

Mr. Howard is a member of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association, but even with his handicap of sixteen, his gross score was only seven strokes behind the youthful "Scotty" Campbell, a fellow towns-youngster, who has won the amateur P.N.W. crown and the Canadian amateur championship. To Mr. Howard, then, goes a special bouquet from Victorians.

It is to be hoped that all the visiting golfers who have come to take part in this annual tournament will have a pleasant time, while officials in charge are to be congratulated on the arrangements they have made for the entertainment of their guests.

COSTLY

THE COST OF THE RECENT FEDERAL election was materially enlarged by the ill-digested provisions embodied in the election legislation enacted several years ago. An instance of some of these costly innovations is emphasized in the criticism of the conditions for taking the absentee vote which is expressed in a report to Parliament by Jules Castonguay, the chief electoral officer. In the whole of Canada there were only 5,334 absentee votes, but it cost $250,000 to record them, and of the total 1,555 were rejected.

The regulations made it necessary to provide every polling station with a complete list of candidates nominated in every province. These, of course, could not be made up before nomination day, and owing to lack of time they had to be printed in various parts of the country and in some cases sent to polling stations by airplane.

The only silver lining in the cloud of this extravagant performance was the employment it gave to printers who were out of work at the time. A number of close election results were determined by this vote, but it must be admitted the electors paid through the nose for them, and it is to be hoped that they will get their money's worth from the record of those who were elected by this means.

A SURE SIGN

The Regina Leader-Post

But the real test of what the country is doing, The Leader-Post believes, centres around the borrowing of money. When it is announced that communities, the provinces and the Dominion are again financing current operations out of current revenue, it can be taken as a sure sign that we are getting back on our feet. Until that time, there can be a good deal of illusion about figures of domestic progress. If activity is being created by borrowed money, then there is no progress at all.

Loose Ends

A gentleman speaks his mind about Miriam Hopkins—Liddell Hart is very comforting—we still face a riddle—And Parliament can't do sums.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

URK!

PEOPLE WHO MAKE movies here and in Hollywood must often be a little discouraged when they sit in a movie theatre and listen to the comment of the customers. I should like to have had some of the movie magnates and actors with me last night when I sat through a show beside a stout old boy who had indigestion and a certain cynicism about love and romance. There was a stark cold sanity about his running line of comment which I felt was more valuable as a testament to life than the movie itself.

"Money! Money! Money!" cried Miriam Hopkins, on the screen. "All you think about is money! You grub and cheat and lie for money!"

"I'll bet she gets a salary of two thousand a week to say that," said the stout gentleman, and added: "Urk!"

"All I want is a single room so long as it's with you! That would be splendor!"

"Urk! I'll bet she has fifty rooms in her house and ain't never bin in the kitchen. That's the single room where gels like that orta be. Urk!"

"What I want is you! I only want love and tenderness and beauty!"

"That's wot they all say before you marry 'em. After that they want a fur coat and pork chops twice a week. Urk! Urk!"

"You're old and warped and greedy and full of hate and deceit!"

"Urk. You ain't looking so young yourself, my gel. Urk. I bet she's over forty if she's a day, and look at them wrinkles, Urk."

"I don't want you to make money! I want you to do what you were made to do, what you can do! I want you to express yourself!"

"Yeah. A month after she gets him she'll want him to express himself all right—on a cheque book, Urk. Don't I know it? Urk."

"Life wasn't meant for money grubbing, for slaving and pretending and spending."

"Yeah. But a gel must have five meals a day and a limousine and a couple of French maids, don't she? Urk."

"Life is beautiful and exhilarating and warm."

"Urk. Not in that north wind, it ain't. You should try walkin' acrost the Causeway in it with them silk undies. Urk."

"Here I am working in a department store, for $25 a week."

"You must have a rich sweetie, me gel, to buy dresses like that. You don't get them fer no $25 a week. You oughta try livin' on relief in B.C. You'd get no silk undies then. Urk."

"Oh, take me away!"

"Sure, take her away and let's get on with the job. It's almost past my bedtime now. Urk. Urk. Urk."

COMFORT

LIDDELL HART, the British military critic, is tremendously encouraging about the approaching world war. In an article in The New York Times he says it won't be nearly as bad as most people had imagined, because the air forces of the great powers have been most grossly exaggerated by politicians and newspapers. For example, where Germany was said to have 10,000 bombing planes ready to launch over Europe, the number will probably reach only about 1,500 in 1937. France only has about 1,600, Britain some 1,100, Italy the same number, and Russia some 3,000.

This is, indeed, reassuring. Apparently, at the present time, there are only about 7,200 bombing planes in Europe, which means that they can carry only about 14,400 tons of high explosive about with them at one time. Working hard, they might be able to drop only about 50,000 tons a day. It would take them weeks, perhaps months, to destroy the cities and civilian populations of Europe; that is, unless the war is delayed for a couple of years to permit the powers to double their armaments.

On the whole, as Mr. Hart implies, there really isn't much cause to worry. What one cannot understand is why the civilian populations of Europe are so terrified. Quite a few people may not be destroyed at all. What is all the fuss about?

RIDDLE

A WHILE AGO, when I ventured to explain in this place what had happened in the famous Riddell incident, and why the Canadian government had repudiated its representative at Geneva, a lot of people were annoyed. Several wrote to a Vancouver paper to say that obviously I didn't know what I was talking about, as usual, and that the inside story couldn't possibly be as I stated in Ottawa. The other day Premier King repeated the thing exactly as outlined here but nobody wrote to the paper about that.

Mr. King's explanation of the Geneva business was satisfactory. He did the right thing about Dr. Riddell, but it leaves the basic question still unsettled. Canada cannot remain in the position of condemning such things as the Hoare-Laval peace arrangement and at the same time refusing to back the League to the point of war if necessary in the interests of collective security. We can't criticize the statesmen of the Old World for their nasty tricks unless we are prepared to get out of Europe altogether or go into it and fight for what we think is right. We can't stay in the League while refusing to accept our full responsibility to its covenant.

The Social Credit Party in the House of Commons has proposed a resolution which seems to meet the situation and should be passed. It says, in brief, that Canada should not fight any foreign war until all the League nations have observed their full obligations under the covenant. These responsibilities include disarmament, definitely promised in the covenant—a responsibility which we almost alone have fulfilled. They also include the obligation not to enter into any monkey business like the Hoare-Laval settlement. They are supposed to prohibit the entire spider-web of secret treaties and understandings between the League nations which now strap Europe down to a powder keg.

When the European nations are prepared to live up to the League principles, it will be time enough for Canada to fight for them. If the Social Crediters do nothing more than secure the passage of their resolution they will have justified their existence.

HOME WORK

THE GENIAL SANITY of the British parliamentary system is what saves it from disaster. A few days ago, for example, while all the great capitals were feverish with war talk and the world seemed on the brink of anything, the British Parliament paused to discuss home work for school children. Some learned professor addressed the Commons to prove something or other about home work and propounded a simple question in mathematics which held the House guessing for a long time and no one could solve it. The important thing was that the House paused from the tribulations of these times and tried to solve it. It is just this streak of Alice in Wonderland, this beautiful sanity of the Mad Hatter that keeps England from madness.

What conclusion Parliament came to about home work I could not find out, but everybody knows it is a damnable business, part of the present goose-stuffing system of education which tries to cram into small minds so many facts that hardly any are retained five years after the mind leaves school. The fact that the British Parliament couldn't solve a simple question in arithmetic which would be quite easy for any child, shows you how all the mathematical knowledge crammed into the parliamentarians in the course of their school homework was wasted. They would have been far better employed in those days playing cricket or collecting stamps.

Perhaps, however, the parliamentarians failed to do their homework. This may account for their ignorance of mathematics now. This again proves that homework is no good for without it these gentlemen rose to be members of Parliament. This is a recommendation for homework or against it, depending on what you think of members of Parliament. Perhaps if they had done their homework they might have avoided politics altogether and become useful greengrocers, plumbers or financial barons. It is a complicated question.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

Other People's Views

CHILDREN'S CLOTHING

To the Editor:—A leading editorial in The Victoria Times on February 11 gave some striking particulars of the percentage of school children of the province who, under medical report, are below par. Of over 97,000 children examined, more than 75,000 were sufficiently affected in one way or another to be included in the deficient column. Some 8,400 were suffering from malnutrition. I think this is a very pathetic and prophetic statement of conditions in such a land of promise as British Columbia.

The record strikes us more forcibly at this moment as, from every quarter of the globe, we have hourly dispatches of the severe weather conditions, and we have been congratulating ourselves that our record in this respect remains unsullied and that we in British Columbia live in an ideal white man's country.

This medical examination shows a very grave state of matters which surely ought to draw prompt action, especially as in the immediate future a more or less compulsory Health Insurance Act appears likely to prevail in the province.

With regard more especially to malnutrition data there is another aspect one of which it might be edifying to obtain some information. This is the way in which the children are clad. Anyone who has reared and fattened stock knows that however well the animals are fed, good results are nullified if they are not sheltered and in regulated comfort.

A general report as to the quality of children's clothing, both underwear and outer garments, would be instructive.

Should this be done it is probable that not 10 per cent of all clothing would be found to be of pure wool. The children unfortunately receive no more instruction in their curriculum than did their parents as to the advantages of using wool in such climates as ours, the consequence being that shoddy materials of all kinds, many of which are even imported into the country, are foisted upon them to the detriment of their general health.

News has just come to hand that, to counteract the encroachment of so many artificial wool substitutes of inferior heat and health maintaining quality, Mr. Wilson, of Hawick, Scotland, is leaving for Australia, where he will organize the support of the big grazing interests for a great wool-advertising scheme which will embrace all interests in the empire. A large body of Yorkshire and Scottish woolen people have already given approval to this proposal, which calls for an initial expenditure of £50,000 per year for six years in advertising the necessity and advantages of wool before the world.

It is hoped that Canada, though unfortunately in a most hopelessly disorganized condition and apparently ignorant of her capabilities in wool-growing, may at least take some steps to benefit from this important undertaking. We do not produce a tenth of the wool we ought to in this country and the returns for 1935 show that there has been no increase in sheep.

During the past twenty years I have suggested to various authorities the advisability of establishing and extending sheep and wool experimental stations. But, apparently, what so-called research work is carried on is left to a committee under the research council which, during its six or seven years, has failed to furnish any information of a practical nature for growing sheep, and use of wool for the manufacture of genuine all-wool materials necessary to our welfare.

Sir C. Delme-Radcliffe Tells Club History and Conditions of Ethiopia

A background for the rather confused picture of the Italo-Ethiopian war was sketched for members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon yesterday by Sir Charles Delme-Radcliffe, who has an extensive personal knowledge of the areas concerned.

The present situation, he said, was a difficult one to define accurately.

"It is astonishing in some ways that the Ethiopians have kept together so large a force so long," said Sir Charles. Haile Selassie, he added, was an astute ruler who had followed a clever plan since his accession, and had won a certain control over his people.

Sir Charles doubted the final success of Ethiopia's resistance. He considered its present relative unity was the result of the slowness of the Italian advance, held back by the necessity of building roads. "Road-making is a great factor, and the Italians are great road-builders."

He emphasized the unreliable nature of the communications from the front, adding that the only statements worth noticing were those originating from Marshal Badoglio, a close personal friend of his, and an excellent and reliable soldier

HISTORY OF ETHIOPIA

Sir Charles reviewed the history of Ethiopia, showing how in early times it had been connected with that of Greece and Egypt. After the Greeks had brought civilization to Egypt, an expedition of 240,000 Egyptians went into Ethiopia in 556 B.C. The members liked the country so well that they all deserted. There were traces of this Egyptian admixture still to be found at the present day.

Ethiopia was one of the first countries to adopt Christianity, its church having been founded in 330 AD. At that time the Ethiopians were an important people in the Red Sea area, conquering the sea coast of Arabaia, and remaining there for more than sixty years.

Sir Charles told the Ethiopian legend of the Queen of Sheba, who had given birth to King Menelik I after a visit to King Solomon. Menelik, a violent young man, went to pick a quarrel with his father, and had to flee from Solomon's court. But he carried off with him the Ark of the Covenant, which was supposed to be buried somewhere in the northern part of Ethiopia.

FAULT OF BRITAIN

Speaking of the later history of Ethiopia, Sir Charles said: "To a certain extent the present trouble is due to our eglect in not taking advantage of our opportunities after Lord Napier's expedition, when the Ethiopians asked for British control."

Sir Charles described the geography of the country, with Ethiopia proper made up of the high mountain land of the centre and north, and Abyssinia of the lower plain lands.

On the subject of Lake Tsana, Sir Charles said that the canalization of the Nile through the marsh lands of the Sudan would more than compensate for any loss in the river's flow which might arise if, as had been suggested, the Italians diverted the Blue Nile where it rose in the lake.

The Ethiopians Sir Charles described as a people with many good and an equal number of bad qualities. They were plucky, determined, intelligent and religious, but they were also cruel to their captives and slaves in an almost unbelievable degree.

GOLF VISITORS PRAISE ISLAND

Interviewed on Junior Chamber Radio Programme

Praise for Victoria golf courses was given Monday evening by golfers speaking on the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce's third programme on "Know Vancouver Island," over station C.F.C.T. The programme was dedicated to Duncan and Cowichan Lake district.

"Scotty" Campbell, winner of two Canadian amateur golf championships and present holder of the P.N.W. title, and Ralph Wahley, who last year won the men's open event in the P.N.W. championship play, who are at present taking part in the Mid-winter Empress Gold Tournament at the Victoria Golf Course, were interviewed by W. O. Findlay, master of ceremonies.

"Colwood, in my opinion, is the finest natural course in the Pacific Northwest," Mr. Campbell said when asked how he liked the local courses. He hopes to travel to England and take part in the British Amateur Championship, this year, he mentioned.

Mr. Whaley said he thought Vancouver Island as a holiday playground was unsurpassed.

Vernon Ridgeway, chairman of the radio committee, read a speech forwarded by Hugh Savage, M.P.P. for Cowichan-Newcastle, containing interesting facts told about Cowichan and Duncan.

E. H. Adams, president of the Evergreen Playground Association, spoke briefly.

ORGANIST LYON GIFTED ARTIST

Seattle Recitalist Heard Here in Programme, Brilliantly Interpreted

By G. J. D.

John McDonald Lyon, a gifted young organist and well-known recitalist of Seattle and other centres, gave an enjoyable evening with organ music in his recital at the Metropolitan Church yesterday evening. The whole programme of thirteen numbers consisted of works from the great masters of organ compositions and organists.

Naturally enough, Sebastian Bach, the Colossus, and the fountain head of all modern music, occupied chief place in the programme, in a group of three numbers: (a) Prelude and Fugue in G Minor, unaffected, melodious and amiable; (b) The appealing and wholesome sinfonie from Cantata 156; and (c) The majestic and impressive Prelude in D Major.

It was natural, too, that the French composer-organist, Cesar Franck, was represented in his fascinating "Pastorale," beautiful in shading and tenderness, and his "Chorale," so characteristic of this composer's peculiar musical style and works that are so carefully wrought, the organist seemingly enjoying in full measure in their beauty in stop manipulation and interpretation.

It was thought in the second half of his programme the numbers bore a similarity in selection, as for instance, in the "Pastorale," delightful in treatment, and the "Redemption of "Opus Sacrum," by Paul de Maleingreau; the quietly subdued "Chorale" of Arthur Honegger; Karg Elert's chorale improvisation, "Oh, God, Thou Faithful God," especially appealing and enjoyed; and the "Mater Dolorose" in the first symphony, by Guy Weitz, organist at Westminster Cathedral, London. Mr. Lyon, by the way, was the first to introduce this work in United States and in Canada.

Though these were all similar in character, if not in treatment, they all found beauty and definite alternations of tonal volume and color, the organist choosing at times simple "blocks" of tone, varying in strength for different passages. In the "Stella Maris," in spite of its intricacies, it moved along in spirited fashion and expressiveness to a finely accomplished climax.

At the conclusion of the programme the artist was twice recalled by the small, but select, and musically appreciative audience. The unusually cold weather spell was undoubtedly responsible for the disappointing small attendance.

It is always good to hear singing as conscientious and as disciplined as was that of Dr. Harry Johns, who assisted in two numbers: Schumann's rapturous and popular "Widinung" (dedication), and the wondrous aria for bass, "It Is Enough" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." For a recall number he sang "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." Edward Parsons, organist of the church, accompanied D. Johns.

Music Teachers Name Officers

Annual Report Points to Establishment of Firmer Position During Year

Reginald Cox was elected president of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association at its annual meeting this morning. Other officers named were: Recording secretary, Nora Sherwood; corresponding secretary, Miss Beatrice Griffin; treasurer, Miss Marion Roberts, and vice-president, Mrs. McGovern.

Mrs. M. McCoy Jameson is auditor.

The organization had been definitely placed in a firmer position during the year, the annual report said, and co-operation with the federation as a whole had been more marked.

The most progressive step made by the federation and from which the local branch would incidentally gain, was the formation with the federations of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta of the Canadian Music Teachers. Federation.

Mr. Cox is on the executive of this bigger body and the publicity committee formed from association members last fall was the means of the inauguration of joint pupils' recitals which it is hoped will be held twice yearly. The first held in November was a distinct success, and the second will be held on February 28.

The association held ten general meetings and six executive meetings during 1935. Luncheons were held in February, October and January with speakers at each.

The annual picnic was held in August at the Japanese Gardens, with Egerton Lowe of Trinity College, London, as speaker, giving his experiences in the examination room an impression of the worth of examinations.

Additional books were placed on the shelves of the Carnegie Library and a reference library of English publications was established at the Memorial Hall.

The association hoped to form a branch up-island and a delegation of five went to Nanaimo in July, but met with considerable opposition. Mr. Cox has been in constant correspondence with Duncan and Nanaimo since that time.

Coinciding with our progressive spirit of last year, the association starts the year 1936 with the offer of a scholarship for pianoforte classes in the local music festival and is also sponsoring a series of lectures to be given by Harold Samuel following festival week.

PLAN TO WORK DESPITE COLD

Central Films Will Begin Outdoor "Gunsmoke" Shots Tomorrow

"Hot or cold, we shoot tomorrow," said Kenneth J. Bishop, producer and president of Central Films Limited, who are making "Gunsmoke" here for Columbia Pictures Incorporated, this morning.

The company has been delayed to a certain extent by the weather. All indoor shots were completed by the end of last week, but all the outdoor work, representing about two-thirds of the scenes in the picture, is yet to be done.

This morning the production staff went out in the company's car to view the locations on which it hopes to get to work tomorrow on the Saanich peninsula.

Meanwhile Ford Beebe, director, and J. B. McGowan, veteran actor, are working on the script of "Scarlet Patrol," mounted police story which will be made immediately on completion of "Gunsmoke" with the same cast, including Charles Starrett and Finnis Barton.

WE DRIVERS

A Series of Brief Discussions on Driving, Dedicated to the Safety, Comfort and Pleasure of the Motoring Public. Prepared by General Motors

NO. 1—CURVES AND TURNS

No matter how expert we may be as drivers, we are all apt to fall into habits of driving that don't quite measure up to what we really know is right.

For instance, we all know that we ought to be careful about passing cars, especially when another car is approaching from the opposite direction.

And yet there possibly isn't one of us who hasn't, at one time or another, moved over in the road to pass a car, and then wondered if we would get around in time.

Now here's an interesting thing about that. When we try to pass a car that is going forty miles an hour, it is just the same as if we tried to pass a standing string of cars 100 feet long or more depending on our own speed in passing. In other words, it is like passing eighteen cars parked bumper-to-bumper in the road. This is probably a new idea to most of us. If we kept it in mind, we would never pass a car unless we were sure that there were no oncoming cars for a good long distance ahead.

But turning aside to pass is not the particular kind of turning that we are interested in discussing here. What we are now concerned with is taking curves and corners. From time to time in these discussions we will find that the same old laws of Nature will be involved. Foremost among them will be the laws of momentum, and momentum plays the major part in going around curves. Because momentum not only wants to keep us going, but going in the same direction. When it is trying to make us go straight instead of curving our course, it operates under an assumed name, if you please. For then we call it "centrifugal force."

Now, of course, we all know what centrifugal force is. We feel it when we go around curves. Highways and railroads are banked at curves to offset centrifugal force. Aviators bank their planes at turns by tipping them with the controls. But even though we all know about centrifugal force, few of us realize how powerful it is and how much greater it gets the faster we go.

A 3,000-pound car making a turn of 500-foot radius, has to overcome a centrifugal force of only about 156 pounds at twenty miles an hour. But at thirty miles an hour, that force has grown to 360 pounds, and at sixty it is nine times as great as at twenty . . . over fourteen hundred pounds trying its best to push us off the road! The only thing that keeps us on the road in the first place is the friction between our tires and the road. The minute the centrifugal force gets stronger than the force of that friction, off the road we go.

The trouble is that we often don't realize how fast we are going. On road trips, for instance, after we have driven at a certain speed for a long time, it seems a small matter to increase our speed a few miles an hour. Then after a while we may do the same thing again. In other words, we keep putting forward our basis of comparison till by-and-by we have lost our usual sense of how fast we are going. Then, the first thing we know, we are face-to-face with a turn or even half way around it and we feel Old Man Centrifugal Force trying to push us off the road.

So what do we do? We clamp down the brakes. It is the only thing we can do when we find we are going too fast. But just the same, approaching that corner too fast has kept us from taking it as we should have liked to. For if conditions permit, it is often desirable to increase speed as we go around a curve. As long as our rear wheels are not being retarded, but are actually pushing us around the curve, our steering is effective and our car is under control.

The long and short of it is that we cannot take liberties with the laws of momentum and centrifugal force. Man's speed laws may not always be observed, but Nature's speed laws always are!

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

FROM JOLTS to VOLTS

Men and women of European society used to be amused by the shocks they got by standing on wax floors, rubbing glass rods and feeling a tingling spark fly between their lips as they kissed. But Alessandro Volta, professor of experimental physics at the University of Pavia, sought to seek a more steady current than the mere jolt that shocked ballroom devotees.

For eight years he experimented. Then, in 1800, when he was forty-six, he piled up silver and zinc discs, placed wet cloths between them, connected the top and bottom layers by wire and got the first steady electrical current in history. This in the principle of the flashlight battery cell of today.

Greatly honored by Emperor Napoleon for his remarkable invention, Volta received the world's greatest honor when the name of volt was given to the unit of electric energy.

Keating

Keating, Feb. 19.—The regular monthly meeting of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute will be held in the Temperance Hall, Thursday evening, when Dean Clements of the University of British Columbia will address the meeting on "Money—A measure of Value."

A 500 and bridge party will be held in the Temperance Hall Friday evening under the auspices of the South Saanich Women's Institute. A wool bee will also be held in the Temperance Hall on Thursday morning and afternoon, and on Thursday evening the members will meet in the Institute room for their regular monthly meeting, and also join the farmers' meeting to hear Dean Clement's address.

Pender Island

The first "Amateur Night" programme presented in Hope Bay Hall last Friday evening attracted a capacity audience. S. P. Corbett acted as master of ceremonies.

The programme was opened with a comedy skit by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sones, entitled, "Love at Crackers' Corner." Next followed a Spanish dance by four senior girls, Muriel Corbett, Margaret Stigings, Joan Grimer and Peggy Smith; a group singing southern melodies, including Mrs. Reddyhoff, Ruth and Elizabeth Mollison and Sybil Corbett; a humorous song and dance by E. J. Dobie; "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works," with John Teece introducing the figures; a recitation by Jimmy Auchterlonie, "Wood, Wood, Wood"; a humorous song, "Waiting at the Church," by Mrs. E. P. Corbett; a piano, violin and harmonica trio by Allan Johnston, Tom Rains and Ted Corbett; an amusing turn put on by "Goofus" and "Rastus," impersonated by Art Tolputt and Art Sproule; a group of little tots dressed in nursery rhyme costumes made a charming setting for "The Wedding of Jack and Jill," sung by Donna Lamont and Austin Sones, dressed as diminutive bride and groom; a recitation, "Little Hands," by Doreen Auchterlonie; another by Bill Corbett, and harmonica selections by David Moore, were followed by selections by the "Hobo Band." In this group were six men, Messrs. F. Foster, guitar; Don Dobie and Jack Macdonald, harmonicas; E. Purdy, whistle; Cliff Stigings, jew's harp, and E. J. Dobie, drum and clappers. The final item was a humorous play, entitled "Cuckoo," presented by Mrs. Reddyhoff, Mrs. L. Auchterlonie, Mrs. E. J. Dobie, Mrs. Art Sproule and Mrs. Frank Steeves.

The judges were: Mrs. Mollison, Miss Hampshire and J. B. Bridge.

After the refreshments the winners were announced as follows: First prize, for individual performance, Jimmy Auchterlonie; second, Mrs. S. P. Corbett; first prize for group, "Goofus" and "Rastus" (Art Tolputt and Art Sproule; second, the Hobo Band. Dancing was later enjoyed to music supplied by the Hobo Band.

HUDSON and TERRAPLANE

"This car has more of everything I've wanted!"

and HERE'S WHY!

Every new car has some new features. Only Hudson and Terraplane have them all. Features that will keep them still up to date next year and next and next . . . worth more money then to those who buy them now.

Completely New Style

Hudson and Terraplane have the most distinctive new style for 1936. And buyers everywhere are deciding it's wise to ride the crest of this new style wave, rather than the ebb-tide of the old.

They are finding many extra advantages, too, in these striking Hudson and Terraplane designs. The amazing capacity of the rear luggage compartment, with enclosed spare tire lying flat. The extra width of the seats, and the deeper, more restful cushions. Head room, leg room, unequalled in the medium and low price field.

Extra Safety is Built-in

Hudson and Terraplane are the first popular-priced cars with Radial Safety Control (patent applied for) . . . the great new safety principle that makes riding, steering and stopping safer . . . and with Tru-Line steering and the Rhythmic Ride.

Safer Bodies! Safer Brakes!

Bodies all of steel . . . another 1937 necessity that you get this year in a Hudson or Terraplane with the first bodies really all of steel, clear through to the improved seamless solid steel roof.

Brakes! Ordinary brakes are out of date, now that Hudson-built cars have shown the way with Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for). Latest and best hydraulics, with a separate reserve braking system operating from the same pedal that takes hold automatically, if ever needed. Plus the Electric Hand, an optional extra, for finger-tip shifting with both hands always on the wheel.

Try a Hudson or Terraplane with next year's style and features—let them prove themselves to you as this year's best automobile investments.

Summer Sweethearts

"Exactly!" Mrs. Merser's tone was dry.

"Katherine needs a lot of love, sympathy and understanding," she pursued a moment later. "Or—well, you know how it was with me. She may go off the deep end . . ."

"I haven't the faintest notion what you mean!" The man's annoyance showed in every syllable.

"I mean you may expect her to find sympathy—or love—wherever she can find it."

"Oh, tommyrot!"

"I did," reminded the woman, with rather a bitter smile. "My home was unhappy. I believed the first pretty story a man told me. You may remember . . ."

He looked as if the reminder were to him a painful one.

Violet Merser rose, as if terminating the interview. "Well, that's really all I wanted to say, Victor. Go on up now. First door to the right at the head of the stairs."

His tread echoed pompously through the house.

The woman, left alone, stared around her for a moment, as though rousing herself from a dream into which she had fallen. A lamp, lighted at her elbow, cast a golden circle of light upon polished mahogany and dropping rose petals. The swish of a broom, kitchenward, came to her ears; the clinking of milk bottles, as a screen door closed. Then the door to Lavinia's room was firmly shut. Upstairs there was the murmur of voices, father and daughter's.

"Seventeen years," murmured the woman, half to herself. She settled herself with a book, but her gaze wandered from the pages.

* * *

"Well, well!" Victor Strykhurst came downstairs briskly, rubbing his hands together. "Katherine's in fine shape. We were in luck to come off so easily. Don't you think I could take her off with me tonight?"

"The doctor advised letting her stay till morning." Violet Merser smiled at him. "You'd rather get her out of my house, wouldn't you?"

"Nonsense, nonsense! I am eternally indebted to you for your kindness to Katherine."

"I'm not going to tell her anything about—us," said the woman with deliberation.

"Naturally, you wouldn't. You're a most sensible woman, Violet. I always said so . . ."

"Not sensible enough!" A sardonic touch to her voice now. "That is, I'll not say a word, on one condition!"

He stared. "And that?"

"That you let her come to see me occasionally. That you don't attempt to wean her away from me. I like the child. I've taken a great fancy to her. I've two of my own now, Victor, you see."

"Really! But, of course, you must be friends with Katherine. Why not?"

"There may be another objection to that," commented Violet Merser dryly. "Your wife . . ."

"Ah, you didn't take a fancy to Bertine, I can see that." Putting back his handsome head, the lawyer gave the hearty laugh she so well remembered.

"Bertine is all right. She means well. It's not so easy, you know, to raise another woman's child."

Violet Merser smiled to herself. She could almost hear the second Mrs. Strykhurst's voice. He had been told that many, many times.

"I agree. I had a stepmother myself. Looking back now, I can see that sometimes she meant well . . ."

"You're very cozy here." His eyes roamed around the sitting-room. "I've always noticed this place. Decent bit of garden."

"Interesting," murmured the man, at a loss. "Well, well, Violet, I must be getting back. My wife will wonder if something has happened."

She allowed him to clasp her slender hand in his fleshy one. "And—and we didn't know each other before, Victor!"

"Right you are!" There was relief in the words. "Explanations are so tiresome."

She stood, smiling rather wryly after him.

* * *

Katherine came down the stairs slowly the following morning.

"You're all right?" Violet's eyes sought hers anxiously. Outside Bertine sat at the wheel of the big car. Ellen, with a suitcase, followed her young mistress.

"Oh, I'm perfectly fine. Just have to get my land legs again."

"Well, it's been lovely having you."

Sybil and Dianna were on the edge of the group, their long legs brown and slim under the brief shorts of their white play suits.

"Do come again to see us, Miss Katherine. Please do!"

"Oh, I will! And there must be another puppy for the basket, mustn't there? A nice quiet one who will stay at home when he's told to?"

"Oh, yes, yes," they chorused and danced up and down.

Bertine smiled stiffly, her company smile. She climbed out to assist Ellen who was helping Katharine in.

"Thank you ever so much, Mrs. Merser. My husband and I are eternally grateful."

The words were right, but the tone withheld much. Bertine was saying, behind that pleasant mask of hers: "But of course no one knows the Mersers in Innicock. We shall smile and bow to you in Main Street, of course; that is all."

Katharine waved to them until the car disappeared out of sight, around the bend.

"Mummy, who was the fattish man who came after we went to bed last night?" Sybil's wistful, round face with its long golden mane was lifted to her mother's.

"Oh, you bad ones, you were supposed to be asleep!"

"We peeked," Sybil said confidingly. "We heard the car stop and saw him come up the walk. Was that Miss Katharine's daddy and was he nice?"

"Very nice," said Violet absently.

Diana pounced upon her.

"Mummy, you're not listening. I can always tell when you're not listening. You use such a faraway voice."

"Oh, do I? But I was, really, this time. Sybil asked if Katharine's father were nice and I said yes, he was."

"But sort of puffy, Mummy, wasn't he? It wasn't quite dark and we got a good look at him. Not nearly so good-looking as Miss Katharine. Don't you think she's beautiful, Mummy? Sort of like a movie star?"

"Yes, I do. She's really lovely."

"Shall I ever be that lovely, do you suppose, if I stop biting my nails and things?" Sybil asked gravely.

"I think very likely. Look, if we want to get down to the village to get things we'd better start."

Violet wheeled the little car out and the two hopped into it.

"Mummy, what were you muttering to yourself just now?"

She flashed her dark eyes at them. "Just a song some one I know used to sing. The words of it, I mean. Don't remember the tune."

WOMEN GOLF RIVALS MEET

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 19.—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare and Patty Berg, 1935 finalists in the U.S. women's national championship, were scheduled to meet again today in the annual Palm Beach tournament by virtue of first-round victories.

Mrs. Vare reached the round of eight in a battle with Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, winning one up at the eighteenth hole. The Minneapolis school girl defeated Jean Cothron of Greenville, S.C., 5 and 4.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

By the time a child is three, it will begin to eat almost any food eaten by grownups, but he must avoid certain foods which, if taken in excessive amounts, will cause difficulty.

Dr. M. Fishbein

Foods cooked with a great deal of grease or fat, food too highly seasoned with spices and pepper, excessive amounts of nuts and candy, and stimulants like coffee or tea, are bad not only for children but also for grownups.

It is much more difficult to feed an older child than it is the younger ones. A child from three to six years of age begins to have a mind of his own. At this time his parents must exercise real authority to make certain that he gets enough of the foods essential to health and growth. Particularly, these include sufficient amounts of calcium and iron.

Remember that milk contains a great deal of calcium; as do cheese and vegetables. Iron is present particularly in the leafy green vegetables, but mostly in substances like liver and lamb's kidney. Whole liver is most valuable of all. It is possible to prepare this for children by grinding and making a liver paste, which, with suitable seasoning, makes excellent sandwiches.

By the time your child is entering nursery school and kindergarten, he will begin to eat away from home. His first meal of the day—breakfast—is then of the utmost importance.

If he walks any distance at all to school and then plays around for a few hours, your youngster naturally will burn up a great deal of energy. He should, therefore, be given an adequate breakfast, including fruit, cereal and perhaps eggs as well.

Fresh fruits may include oranges, tangerines, grapefruit, melon, pears, bananas, and pineapple. Cooked fruits may be baked apple, apple sauce, stewed prunes, stewed figs, cooked pears, or apricots. All of these are important in the vitamin and mineral salts which they provide.

The cereals which are useful chiefly for giving energy include not only the whole-grain cereals, but also the prepared cereals. The whole grain cereals help to provide vitamins and mineral salts, as well as carbohydrates. Moreover, cereals are usually served with milk and with cream, which provide additional calcium and vitamins.

Waffles and pancakes may be eaten occasionally, but should not be regular diet for growing child.

TODAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—How can lordosis (forward curvature of the spine) be overcome?

A.—By maintaining the best posture, by suitable exercises and, in extreme cases, by use of appliances under surgical advice.

LANGFORD

A lantern lecture will be given by Deaconess M. Robinson on Friday evening in St. Matthew's Church, the subject being, "The King's Jubilee."

An invitation has been received by the president of St. Matthew's Guild for the members to attend a card party in the Colwood Hall on Friday, at 8 o'clock.

A meeting of the council members of St. Matthew's Church will be held on Wednesday, February 19 at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, Marshwood.

IS LAST PENSIONER OF 1812

More than 120 years after the end of the War of 1812, one name remains on the U.S. federal pension rolls as a beneficiary of a soldier of that conflict, a striking illustration of the length of time that a government pays war costs after the clash of arms has halted.

The last pensioner is Mrs. Lydia Ann Graham, ninety-eight, of Brushy Run, Va. Widow of Isaac Graham, drummer boy of 1812, she was married to the veteran in 1869, when he was an elderly man and she was a woman of thirty-two. Graham died in 1881. Now Mrs. Graham dwells alone in her mountain cottage, raising chickens and cultivating her garden, living comfortably on the $50 cheque which she receives each month from the veterans' administration. She has no modern conveniences—running water, lights or gas—but still uses kerosene lamps and carries in her own fuel.

The one great annual event in her life is the family reunion at her home. She has three daughters, all of whom have large families. While the pension list of the War of 1812 has dwindled to one beneficiary, several thousand veterans and widows of veterans of the Civil War still are receiving cheques from Washington, and officials estimate that this century will be drawing to a close before the last one has passed away. If pensions are granted to widows of World War soldiers, which is expected to be the next goal of veterans' organizations, the U.S. government will be paying them well into the next century.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THE "COLIC" BABIES HAD OF YORE WAS MAINLY HUNGER

We hear less and less of the term colic these days and eventually, let us hope, it may pass out of our vocabularies. The reason for this is that, by and large, babies are better fed. The colic from which babies of a past generation suffered was all too often just the pangs of unsatisfied hunger. Bad enough, that is true, but no pain that hot water, hot blankets or carminiatives could really cure.

What cured most colicky babies of their "six weeks" or "three months" colic was the mother's practice of putting the baby up to the family table and treating him to gruel or mashed potatoes or something else soft—but incidentally nourishing. Then the colic ended.

HE EATS TILL HE'S FULL

Today the average baby has such a varied and generous diet that if he suffered from indigestion, we would hear even more of colic. The present-day formulas are not even limited in amounts. More than the baby can take is prepared for him, and then he is allowed to satisfy his appetite just as he would if he were being nursed.

It has always been plain, to most mothers who observed correctly, that a baby did not always want an exact amount of formula at each meal, but would sometimes take five, and sometimes eight-ounces—if he could have had it. Now we do just that, offer eight and let the baby take what he pleases of it.

WHAT IS INDIGESTION?

The difference between colic (indigestion) and hunger must always be recognized and, as an aid to this, readers may have the leaflet called "Symptoms of Under and Overfeeding," for a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

But to give the baby the right food, and enough of it, and at longer intervals has, so far, seemed to be the practices which have made colic almost an unknown term to the new mother.

Sidney

Sidney, Feb. 19.—The twenty-first anniversary of C.G.I.T. work was observed in Sidney last Saturday evening, when senior and junior groups participated in a monther and daughter banquet. Mary Butler, president of the junior group, presided.

Sixty persons, including mothers, daughters and special guests sat down to supper, after which an address on "The Life of Miss C.G.I.T." was given by Miss Middleton, guest speaker. Following a singsong, the following toasts were proposed: "The Welcome," by Gloria John, president of the junior group; "Mothers," proposed by Audrey Le Vack, responded to by Mrs. G. John; "Sunday School and Church," proposed by Phylis Parker, responded to by Mr. Lowe, superintendent of the Sunday School. Instrumental numbers were given by May Oxford and Edith Readings. This was followed by a toast to the "Trail Rangers," proposed by May Oxford, responded to by Jim Gardner, president of the boys' work. A vocal duet was then rendered by Oriole Grundon and Grace Gardner.

The toast to "The Leaders," was given by Vivienne Butler and responded to by Miss Jean Gardner and Miss Winnie Thornley. The toast to "C.G.I.T. Work" was given by Phylis John and responded to by Miss Middleton. Miss Rhoda Craig, ex-leader, and Rev. Keyworth, minister, gave short talks.

TIMBALES TO BE PERFECT MUST BE OVEN POACHED

By MARY E. DAGUE

Timbales—do you know them?—are of the custard family, that is, built on a milk and egg basis and seasoned with grated cheese, finely ground meat, flaked fish or minced vegetables. Timbales are baked like custards, in greased custard cups or timbale molds, placed in a pan of hot water. You need a moderate oven—in fact, you really oven poach a timbale.

Bread crumbs or a thick white sauce often are added to make the custard firm enough to hold the added material in suspension. Otherwise, the seasoning, being heavier than the custard, would settle to the bottom of the mold.

With a good foundation rule you can make almost any kind of timbale from canned salmon to sweetbread.

CHICKEN TIMBALES

Two tablespoons butter, ½ cup stale bread crumbs, 2-3 cup milk, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 1 cup finely chopped chicken, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon white pepper, ¼ teaspoon celery pepper.

Melt butter, add bread crumbs and milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Add eggs slightly beaten, parsley, seasoning and chicken. Turn into well buttered molds, having molds two-thirds full. Place in a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Serve with mushroom sauce.

When timbales are served I always choose a crisp salad that is decidedly piquant. French endive and grapefruit is splendid and so is a mixture of grapefruit, oranges, white grapes and nut meats arranged on a bed of romaine and served with a French dressing made with grapefruit juice. One tablespoon crumbled Roquefort cheese can be added to the dressing.

PEA TIMBALES

Two cups canned peas, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs, 3 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, few drops onion juice.

Rub peas through sieve. Melt butter and stir into puree. Beat eggs until light with milk and add to first mixture with salt, pepper and onion juice. Turn into well-buttered molds. Place in a pan of hot water and bake until firm in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.).

PEASANT GIRL WITH A VEIL

Two cups dried rye or graham bread crumbs, ¾ cup plum jam, ½ cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup whipping cream.

Any tart jam can be used. I had some plum open so I used it and we liked it. Melt butter and add with sugar to crumbs. Mix thoroughly and pack into a mold lined with waxed paper. Bake about twenty minutes in a slow oven (350 degrees F.). Turn on to a serving dish. Cool slightly and cover with jam. Chill thoroughly and when ready to serve cover with cream whipped until firm.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Dinner: Veal and pork loaf, scalloped potatoes, buttered kale, beet and cabbage salad, date cake, canned peaches, milk, coffee.

Salvation Home League—Mrs. G. E. Altree-Coley will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Salvation Army Home League, commencing at 2.30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, in the Broad Street Citadel. The meeting is open to any women who are interested, particularly mothers with small children. Mrs. M. Wilkinson will preside.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

MORE EXCLUSIVE PICTURES OF QUINTUPLETS COMING WITH NEW SERIAL, 'COUNTRY DOCTOR'

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

—Toronto Star.

These are exciting days at the Dafoe Hospital, in Callander, Ont., for the Dionne quintuplets are anticipating two big events in their already thrill-packed lives—their debut as heroines in a novel, and their appearance as leading ladies in a feature moving picture film—both to appear under the title of "The Country Doctor." The novel is to appear in The Times as a serial story, starting Saturday, February 22.

The versatile Dionne Quintuplets stepped into a new role today—as heroines of a popular novel—with the announcement that quintuplets are the leading characters in "The Country Doctor," newspaper serial story to be printed in The Times in fifteen daily installments, beginning Saturday, February 22.

Around these ever-popular babies has been written a thrilling story of the far north, of a country doctor's battles for life and limb amid dread epidemics, of a dashing young flier who dared a blizzard to save little lives, and won love as well.

This story, based on the scenario of "The Country Doctor," the quintuplets' first full-length movie starring venture, just completed by Twentieth Century-Fox, is entirely fiction. Its incidents and characters are entirely imaginary. But with the phenomenal babies as a centrepoint, the authors have written a story that, in addition to being an absorbing yarn in itself, gives you much of the color and romance of the country in which the quins were really born.

This new serial is illustrated with still photos from the just-completed movie production of the same story, and with new and unpublished pictures of the quintuplets themselves as they appear in their first starring movie.

While fictional in detail, "The Country Doctor" presents a true and vivid picture of life on the fringes of civilization in the northland, and it is in addition a beautiful tribute to all country doctors, as well as to the never-failing charm of the lovable quintuplets.

Into a situation complicated by hatreds and intrigues, as well as by a stormy love affair, come suddenly the quintuplets, and the way in which their unexpected appearance straightens everything out makes a thrilling tale. The story is full of characters just as lovable as the ones in the real affair at Callander, and no one will want to miss a single chapter of this stirring saga starring the most famous and most-beloved babies in the world.

While the quintuplet scenes in the moving picture version of "The Country Doctor," were photographed under the personal supervision of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the quintuplets' physician since their birth, the film story is in no manner a novelization of Dr. Dafoe's life or, for that mater, the real lives of the quintuplets. Producers and authors both stress the point that the entire work is based entirely on an imaginary plot and story.

For the Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, Darryl F. Zanuck, brilliant young Hollywood executive, has been in charge of the production. The film was directed by Henry King, with Nunally Johnson acting as associate producer. The screen play was written by Sonya Levien, based on a story by Charles Blake.

YOUTH NEEDED IN ALL GROUPS

Miss W. Kydd Discusses Need of Wider Outlook in Women's Bodies

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—Women's organizations," Miss Winifrid Kydd said today, "should be so constructed as to embody all religions and all politics" as well as to include youth.

The young, red-haired president of the National Council of Women declared in an interview that women's organizations "should not be static as to age, for they should be composed of a cross section of the body politic to be of the greatest use to the community and the nation."

"It is particularly important at this time that women's clubs should be adapted to include youth. We need their courage and faith in the future. Working with young people brings back the zest and keenness that is essential to success."

Miss Kydd mentioned the importance of retaining a sense of humor. "We need it when we are most deadly in earnest, and most particularly is it essential when things go wrong. A sense of humor is really a feather bed on which we can fall back, and save ourselves the worst bumps."

Last September Miss Kydd was among the delegates appointed by the Canadian Government to attend the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva. As president of the National Council of Women she heads a body which consists of a federation of women's organizations and fifty-two Local Councils. She is also dean of women at Queen's University.

Duke and Duchess In Nursing Home

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 19.—The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire have entered a nursing home in Bristol. The duchess is ill following the heavy strain suffered during the Jubilee celebrations last summer and the King's funeral last month.

The duchess, as Mistress of the Robes, was at the ceremonies attendant upon the funeral and was official head of the Ladies in Waiting for the Jubilee celebrations. The Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada from 1916 to 1921, has entered the same home for a rest and to keep the duchess company.

Old Piano Gift Of Mrs. Baldwin

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 19.—Mrs. Stanley Baldwin presented to a new girls hostel at Chelsea a piano upon which Britain's prime minster performed his childhood labors. Said Mrs. Baldwin: "It was on that piano that little Stanley Baldwin learned his first notes and played the 'Blue Bells of Scotland' and 'The Merry Peasant'—pieces which every child of his generation aspired to play."

Reading Proves "Open Sesame"

Miss Clay Talks to Gordon Head Group on Tastes in Books

Miss Margaret Clay, public librarian, was the speaker at the Current Events meeting of the Gordon Head and Mount Tolmie women held in the Gordon Head hall on Monday afternoon. Taking as her subject, "Reading and Books," she emphasized the importance of reading with discrimination, intelligence and a keen critical sense, which can only be developed by the use of books and converse with educated persons.

People who read were divided into three groups by the speaker—85 per cent of those who read do so to dope their minds and to escape from life. The next small group are those who read for the express purpose of finding out facts. The third group are those who read with taste, discrimination and intelligence.

Miss Clay said further, that the object of all reading should be to develop our intelligence, and increase our fund of wisdom. "Literature is the record of one generation handed on to the next, their struggles, their successes and failures, sufficiently beautifully recorded to last, and as such it should be of easy access to every man, woman and child in the country," she said.

The speaker then discussed the trend of modern writing, showing how science has been applied in the modern economic system. She cited as an example, H. G. Wells, who was originally a scientist, but who has done for history what no one else has ever done, in that he was the first person to portray a panorama of world history.

The speaker outlined several modern novels, showing that the new novel is a study of the social scenes and not one with a "plot" as used to be the case.

The programme opened with two beautiful violin solos played by Mrs. Henry, accompanied by Mrs. E. G. Paddon. Mrs. J. E. Tysoe read and outlined an article on "The Fallacy of Conquest," condensed from Harper's Magazine. This subject was discussed under three headings: 1. Conquest as an outlet for population. 2. Conquest as a market for exports. 3. Expansion in order to secure accession to supplies of raw materials.

Mrs. Stewart Skillings contributed a humorous story.

HOTEL CONCERT IS APPLAUDED

Golfers Enjoy Spectacular Dancers and Orchestral Numbers at Empress

As a relaxation after the opening rounds of the Empress Winter golf tournament, being played at the Victoria Golf Club, the visiting golfers and local guests were entertained at a delightful concert in the Empress Hotel ballroom yesterday evening, under the direction of William F. Tickle. The setting was quite informal, rugs and comfortable lounge chairs being arranged, with a space left in the centre of the floor for the dance performances.

Ian Gibson, a pupil of the Russian Ballet School, contributed a spectacular and fiery Cossack dance, in appropriate costume. The augmented orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Tickle, rendered a well-chosen programme, which included "Doge's March," (Rossi); Suppe's famous overture "Pique Dame," the Haydn "Serenade", Allegro Moderato, from Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony", "Prelude in C Sharp" (Rachmaninoff); "Echoes From Metropolitan" (arranged by Langey); dances from "Nell Gwyn" (Edward German); "Musical Gems" (Tschaikowsky), and a selection from Romberg's "New Moon."

CLUB TO SING IN AID OF "Y"

Schubert Club Concert Next Wednesday to Aid Girls' Work

The Schubert Club, that popular aggregation of women's voices, will again lend its talents in the cause of philanthropy when, next Wednesday evening, February 26, at the Empress Hotel ballroom, it will appear in a programme of wide diversity to suit the popular taste.

The proceeds of the concert will be devoted to the girls' work of the Y.W.C.A., a cause which carries its own commendation, particularly at a time like the present when so many girls, through the economic pressure, are in need of the helping hand and kindly understanding which awaits them at the "Y."

Baby Born Minus An Esophagus

Newburgh, N.Y., Feb. 19.—A baby girl with a closed esophagus took nourishment through a tube at St. Luke's Hospital yesterday and awaited a name.

The child, born February 5, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sovick of Beacon.

In the same hospital, a year ago last Sunday, another child, similarly handicapped, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Linsig of Marlboro.

IN CHINESE BALLET NUMBER

Seated in the "ricksha" in which she will be drawn into the ballroom by two Chinese attendants, Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, as shown above, will sing the solo in the dramatic Chinese ballet which is to be one of the entertaining features at the cabaret at the Empress Hotel on Saturday night. This cabaret will be the grand finale to the Empress winter golf tournament, and the many reservations already made indicate its overwhelming success. Tonight the hotel is staging a dinner dance in honor of the golfers from 7.30 till 11.30 o'clock, for which a few reservations are still available.

LONG-LOST SON FINDS MOTHER

Happy Ending to Toronto Woman's Nineteen-year Search

Canadian Press

Halifax, Feb. 19.—Johnny Doyle, twenty-five-year-old youth who came to Halifax to find his mother, whom he has not seen since he was six years old, left today for Toronto where the happy reunion will take place.

Taken south to Lexington, Ky., when a child by his father, Johnny was implored when his father was dying to find Mrs. Lila Doyle, separated from them for nineteen years. The lad came back to Halifax on his quest and without funds sought shelter in a Salvation Army hostel.

This morning Johnny was almost speechless with joy when he found his mother had read of his plight in a Toronto newspaper and had sent money so he could join her.

"It's wonderful," he said.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Tearful with joy, Mrs. Lila Doyle stared at a faded photograph of a sturdy youngster on a velocipede today and wondered how much her son Raymond had changed in nineteen years.

Raymond, separated from her since the Halifax Explosion of 1917, was about to start from the Nova Scotia capital to meet her in Toronto. Their long search for each other had ended with the publication of a newspaper story of the search yesterday.

"I can't tell you how happy I am about finding him," said the mother. "I know I'll recognize him the moment I see him."

"He was only five when I last saw him," she added. Since then, Raymond had travelled from Halifax to Kentucky and back in quest of his mother, at his dying father's wish. "I don't suppose he'll know me now," Mrs. Doyle said.

"And every day I've searched the personal column of the newspapers," she continued. "I've sent countless letters. Sometimes I thought Raymond must be dead."

Civic Federation Dance on Friday

A good programme has been arranged for the function, which will continue until midnight. Refreshments will be served.

Gets $500 Damages For Bite By Dog

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—Three-year-old Betty Jane Strachan was awarded damages of $500 against James McGinn, poultryman, for a bite on the cheek she received from McGinn's dog. Betty's father was awarded $83.80 for medical expenses. The girl was bitten while playing in a vacant lot next to McGinn's backyard where he kept his dog.

His Lordship decided the child was standing outside McGinn's fence and therefore was not a transpasser and that the dog had put his head through the upper portion of the fence to bit her.

VICTORIAN IN AUSTRIAN CASTLE

Mrs. J. O. Cameron of Victoria is shown (right) above amid the treasures in the Mirror Room at Schonbrunn Palace, near Vienna, which formerly belonged to the Emperor Franz Josef. She is with a friend from South Africa with whom she spent a delightful time in Vienna. Mrs. Cameron, who has been spending the last few months in Great Britain and on the continent, is now on her way home to Victoria.

RED CROSS HAD ACTIVE YEAR

Workshop Needs More Public Support; Mrs. H. Fleming Again President

The twenty-first annual meeting of the Victoria City and District Branch Canadian Red Cross Society was held yesterday at room, 318 Belmont House, the President, Mrs. Harold Fleming in the chair.

The honorable secretary-treasurer presented the financial report which showed receipts for the year $24,655.37 and disbursements $26,017.14.

The president reported on the Branche's work during the last year. Mrs. Grimison, the hospital visitor had visited the ex-soldier patients regularly and had distributed comforts and cigarettes. During Christmas week she trimmed the tree in the Fleming Ward providing ornaments, bon-bons, electric lights, candy, fruit etc. On Christmas morning parcels were distributed to each ex-service patient in the hospitals.

Families had been visited and help provided where necessary, among other things two surgical limbs, two sergical belts, one surgical bandage, two pairs surgical boots.

The workshop is the principal activity of the branch. This provided work for thirty men otherwise unemployable. The past year had proved rather difficult owing to the general depression. The great need was for more work to keep the men employed. The making of the poppies and wreaths for Remembrance Day was a great help in this respect as it kept the more severely disabled men employed most of the year. It was satisfactory to note that there had been an increase in the number made in 1935, and it is hoped it will be the same this year. It was pleasing to note that the original committee were still active, and gave of their time freely.

Officers re-elected were: President, Mrs. H. Fleming, first vice-president, Mrs. J. L. Grimison; second vice-president, Miss K. Oldfield, hon. secretary-treasurer, Capt. J. U. Gordon. Workshop committee re-elected: Chairman, Mr. F. W. Jones, Mrs. H. Fleming, Mr. W. L. Morkill, Mr. G. H. Dawson, Bishop Schofield, Mr. C. Hensley, Mr. G. Deane.

ELSIE: My dear! — my pet frock has just returned from New Method. It looks lovely! Thanks for telling me about the new Sanitone process.

JANE: I knew you'd be delighted. I'm having all my things Sanitoned—really, it makes them just like new.

You, too, will be delighted with the new Sanitone system of Dry Cleaning. Convince yourself . . . compare . . . you can see the difference.

WIVES' MAIDEN NAMES BAFFLE

When Are They Mrs. and When Miss Is Asked of Notable Cases

New York, Feb. 19 (Associated Press staff writer).—This modern problem of what to call married women who continue using their maiden names has become, several men agreed today, nothing short of a headache.

When are they "Mrs.?" When are they "Miss?" and why, after months or years of domestic bliss does "Miss Smith" suddenly, for a brief moment, decide to call herself by the name of the man she married?

Dorothy Thompson, the writer, brought the whole baffling question into the spotlight recently when she attended one of Mrs. Roosevelt's luncheons under her married name of Mrs. Sinclair Lewis.

Fannie Hurst, the novelist, is a fairly frequent visitor at the White House, and she never goes as Mrs. Macques Danielson, although she has been married to Danielson for more years than Miss Thompson has been married to Lewis.

Nor does Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins call herself "Mrs. Paul Wilson"—which she is—at Mrs. Roosevelt's luncheons or elsewhere in Washington.

The woods are full of matrons young and old who are attending luncheons, writing, painting, acting, singing, lecturing and swimming under the names they were born with—Katherine Cornell (Mrs. Guthrie McClintoc), Ishel Ross (Mrs. Bruce Rae); Lynn Fontanne (Mrs. Alfred Lunt), and Joan Bennett (Mrs. Gene Markey) are just a few of them.

A few husbands of women in this vast and growing category were sounded out on the question. Their response was, in effect, "We don't mind—much."

Loyal True Blues—An enjoyable evening was spent recently when Mrs. F. Doherty entertained the members of Capital City No. 303, Loyal True Blues, at a delightful Valentine party, at her home, Princess Avenue. Mrs. Ford sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. E. Groves and housie-housie was played. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The regular meeting will be held at 7.30 on Friday in the Orange Hall, followed by a social, when housie-housie will be played. Will all members please make a special effort to attend.

Bishop to Lecture—On Friday evening, February 28, in the Auditorium of St. Ann's Academy a lecture on the early history and settlement of Nova Scotia will be given by Bishop J. H. MacDonald, the proceeds to be devoted to the funds of Victoria Subdivision Catholic Women's League. Further information may be had from the committee in charge by telephoning E 0485.

Eleanor Powell Squelches Broadway Stage Gossip

By GEORGE ROSS

New York. — Broadway has just heard the last of l'affaire Mlle. Eleanor Powell. If you saw "Broadway Melody of 1936," you will recall the Powell girl as the person who danced off with the film.

Until a week ago, she had been the shining satellite of the Rialto's hit tune show, "At Home Abroad," along with Beatrice Lillie. Then it was announced one evening that Miss Powell was on the sick-list; that she could not appear; that she was to be removed, nerve-shattered, to a sanitorium in Crestwood. That was when the ruckus began, reverberating in public prints and by grapevine route, through Times Square.

First there was the doctor's dilemma. Miss Powell's doctor wanted the world to know that Miss Powell was on the brink of a nervous breakdown and that she was in need of rest and quiet. But the Shuberts who own "At Home Abroad" could not believe it. So dubious were they that they sent their own physician along to Miss Powell's bedside. The patient, he said, was not in grave danger; the lady with the rhythmic tap-tap-tap, he diagnosed, was just tired—and, he intimated, the show could safely have her back the following Monday night. The war waged for a morning about the medical reports and then new suspicions rose.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Miss Powell, the wags said, was dissatisified with her billing in "At Home Abroad," discontented with her colleagues, disgusted with Beatrice Lillie, Ethel Walters and the other stars. There were tales of backstage jealousies, backstage spats and one of these narratives found its way into the theatrical columns. Broadway's elders shook their shaggy heads and moaned about the usually ebullient Eleanor's swelled head; adding what a pity it was that the young lady had gone, all but unknown, to Hollywood and returned a squawking, squeaking prima donna.

ELEANOR POWELL

Well, Miss Powell, who is lovely to look at and a sight to watch when she is dancing, wrote finis to this from her sick-bed, the other afternoon. To the Shuberts, Beatrice Lillie, Ethel Waters and everybody else in "At Home Abroad" she addressed wordy telegrams, describing her adoration for all of them and canceling all rumors to the contrary. And as added proof of the blissful serenity that exists backstage of the musical show, "Bea" Lillie," as she is known to those who do not call her Lady Peel, took the sick Eleanor's place in a coast-to-coast broadcast.

Thus settled down another Broadway tempest in a teapot.

WELSH SOCIETY PLANS BANQUET

Will Honor Patron Saint Saturday, February 29

The Victoria Welsh Society will hold its annual banquet in honor of the patron saint, Saint David, on Saturday evening, February 29, in Spencer's dining-room, at 6.30 o'clock.

Mayor and Mrs. David Leeming will be present on this auspicious occasion and also Rev. and Mrs. T. G. Griffiths. Invitations have also been extended to Dr. Clem Davies and Canon and Mrs. Joshua Hinchliffe.

A splendid programme of Welsh and English items has been arranged, including several selections by the Welsh Glee Club, Walter Jones, and many other well-known artists. The concert will be held in the dining-room immediately after the banquet. Due to this fact, it will be impossible for anyone not attending the banquet to attend the concert, as has been the custom in previous years.

Entrance to the building will be at the Broad Street entrance only. Members requiring more tickets are requested to telephone the secretary, Miss Thomas, E2394. Anyone else wishing to attend the banquet may procure tickets from Miss Phyllis Williams at Ballantyne Bros Florists, Douglas Street.

Members are asked to co-operate with the committee in charge by notifying Miss Thomas as soon as possible as to whether or not they will be present.

"Merrie England" To Be Presented

The Eurydice Art Club Operatic Society will present a notable attraction, "Merrie England," the comic opera considered by many to be Edward German's masterpiece, at the Empire Theatre on March 7.

This opera was first produced at the Savoy Theatre, London, in April, 1902, and met with instant success, creating a furore as it was at once realized this was Gilbert and Sullivan's only rival. "Merrie England" is an elaborate spectacular production, with melodies bordering from the classic to light, lilting movements, a fair proportion of rich humor and a plot centred around the court of Queen Elizabeth, a combination of features which make an entrancing entertainment.

A strong cast has been chosen, and the principals include Phyllis Deaville, Catherine Denison, Phyllis Holmes, Ailsa Barclay, William Frampton, J. Kirchen, Norman Tyrell, Don Brake, Jack Townsend and James McVie.

In view of the outstanding success of the performances by this society in the last three seasons, a capacity audience is expected, and reservations should be made promptly.

England Becomes Land Of Mourning

Black, Grey and Purple Brings Revolution in Britain's Fashion Plans

By Special Correspondence

London.—Black, grey and purple are the only three colors being worn by women in Great Britain who can in any way afford to buy clothes in keeping with the nine months' period of court mourning which has been declared in memory of His Majesty King George V.

As a result, there has been a revolution in the fashion plans. Instead of the gay reds, greens and yellows which were promised for this coming season, dress designers have substituted the lovely colors royal purple, silver grey and amethyst.

The cut of dresses and coats, too, has been altered over night. Classic tailor mades will take the place of the jaunty cape-sleeved coats with their short skirts to match, which were promised us for March wear. Evening dresses show the same trend. They will be more regal in line and will be made of stiff silks—black, purple or grey—I learn from one of London's most exclusive designers.

Full mourning is only compulsory for ladies of the court—as the nobility and wives of the diplomatic corps are styled.

They must wear nothing but black—shoes, frocks, hats, coats—for six months. After that they will wear half mourning for three months.

JEWELS BANNED

During this period, they are forbidden to wear jewels other than pearls, jet or onyx.

The saying "pearls for tears" comes from this tradition. As the ladies of the court usually set jewel fashions for the rest of us, jet or onyx brooches are likely to be widely worn.

Later in the year, a scheme of colors for clothes, shoes and handbags, drawn up by the British color council, will be introduced. These were first intended for the February-June season, but now have been replaced by black.

They are particularly lovely and show how deeply impressed Londoners have been with the Chinese art exhibition now being held here.

Their names show this. First comes Chinese green, a lovely soft shade taken from the color used as a background on ancient Chinese pottery. Then there is Mandarin blue and imperial gold, while tropic red and fir cone (a soft brown) have been chosen to tone with them. Many hundreds of bales of materials in these colors had already been printed—now some has been dyed black, while the rest has been sent back to the storerooms.

"SILVER LADY" GIVES BLACK

London's famous "Silver Lady" has enabled hundreds of unemployed men to wear mourning for King George.

She is Miss Betty Baxter, known to the workless as the "Silver Lady" because for eight years she has given free food to them from her coffee stall and has distributed sixpences.

Out of respect for the King, she draped her stall with black crepe for several days before his funeral. Seeing this, one of the men asked if she could spare a little of the crepe so that he could wear it round his arm.

"I have got respect," he told Miss Baxter, "but that is all I have got. I want to show in some way this respect for our King."

The next night, Miss Baxter was ready. With the aid of helpers, she distributed black ties and armlets to 500 unemployed men. Some had no shirts or collars—they could wear no ties—but they insisted on having an armlet.

Miss Baxter's work among the destitute of London began through chance. One night she took a short-cut through the Adelphi Arches. There she saw men and women huddled together, some almost starving.

Every night since, she has distributed free food to the poor from a specially erected stall near Nelson's Column in Trafalgar Square.

News of Clubwomen

Sewing Circle—The Sewing Circle of Court Maple Leaf A.O.F. will meet at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fenerty, 1784 Denman Street, on Thursday evening, February 20. Court whist will be played and all Foresters and their friends will be welcomed.

W.I. Card Party — The fortnightly card party held under the auspices of the Esquimalt Women's Institute, will be held tomorrow evening at 8.15 in the Parish Hall, St. Paul's Garrison Church. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

First United W.M.S.—The W.M.S. Auxiliary of the First United Church held their regular meeting on Monday afternoon with a good attendance of members. Mrs. A. Chisholm, the president, in the chair. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. L. M. McLennan, who spoke on the theme "I Must Work, for the Night Cometh," carrying forward the spirit felt at the presbyterial and inspiring all to renewed effort for the Father's kingdom during this year. The impression that, love of the work and loyalty to it, prevailed throughout the encouraging reports submitted at the presbyterial was expressed by the delegates, Mrs. J. Norris and Miss E. Gill, while appreciative reference to the interesting and instructive addresses given by the guest speakers received special mention. The president referred with pleasure to the presentation made to the First United representative, Mrs. A. G. Todd, by the C.G.I.T. leader, Miss L. McCall, at their mother and daughter banquet held last week. One new member was received. The study book "The New Africa," written by Dr. Donald Fraser, was introduced in a very interesting and informative manner by Mrs. H Billingsley. The meeting closed with prayer led by Mrs. H. Earl.

Baptist Women's Union—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Union, First Baptist Church, was held in the church parlor on Monday afternoon, February 17, Mrs. A. Slater, the president, in the chair. Mrs. Carter brought the devotional message, followed by prayer by Mrs. W. P. Freeman. It was decided to hold a guest tea and sale of work at Easter. At the close of the business session, Dean Quainton gave an interesting review of Dr. Stanley Jones's book, "Christ—Alternatice to Communism." The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Spofford.

Metropolitan W.M.S.—The monthly meeting of the Metropolitan W.M.S. was held in the schoolroom on Monday afternoon. It was suggested by the president that prayer groups be formed, one group responsible for each meeting also that, at two meetings out of every four a short time should be given to a study book, "The New Africa," with special speakers for the other meetings. Mrs. W. H. Whiteley moved, seconded by Mrs. Christie that seven heralds be appointed to speak one minute each, taking each a different country, namely, Africa, China, India, Japan, Trinidad, Korea and one Home Missions. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. W. H. Ozard; Mrs. W. E. Harper reported seventy-five calls made. Reports were also given by Mrs. E. Akhurst, stewardship secretary, and Mrs. Christie on Presbyterial meetings. Members were reminded of the world day of prayer on Feb. 28. A paper by Mrs. J. E. Runions on prayer and faith, contained many helpful thoughts. Mrs. E. Akhurst offered prayer, and a solo "Take Time to be Holy," was very beautifully rendered by Mrs. Adams. Miss M. Laurie, Superintendent of the Oriental Home, told of work being accomplished in the home missionary field, particularly of the Home Schools of Wahstao, Alberta, and in southern Saskatchewan, where the "New Canadian" is cared for. The president, thanked Miss Laurie for her address. The meeting closed with the Benediction pronounced by Miss Baker.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.—The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held Monday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Wm. Ellis, in the chair. The meeting was opened with prayer, Miss Mortimer read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Ellis led in prayer. The secretary and treasurer's report was accepted. Mrs. M. R. Fuller, supply secretary, reported she had received an allocation of clothing of an Indian youth of eighteen years, and also the sum of $2 to help to procure footwear for him. This request was unanimously accepted. Mrs. R. Moore reported receiving a copy of "Our Church," which would be placed in the library for the use of members. Mrs. M. R. Brown reported receiving exchange papers from the provincial, which could be passed on. It was decided to have copies of cards with officers names, date of place of meeting printed and distributed. Representatives were named to the provincial meetings in New Westminster next month. The secretary was instructed to convey messages to several members who were on the sick list; Mrs. F. R. Moore gave an interesting account of current events in the mission field. Mrs. M. R. Fuller read an interesting letter from missionaries who had returned to the mission field in Formosa, revealing many of the difficulties encountered, and encouraged the members to fresh efforts in helping on the great missionary cause. The members stood in silent tribute to the memory of King George and sympathy to Queen Mary, and closed the meeting with the National Anthem, followed by prayer.

ILLEGITIMACY UNFAIR STIGMA

State Health Officer Seeks Legislation For "Innocent Victims"

Associated Press

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 19. — Dr. J. D. Dunshee, state medical officer, urged last night that legislation be adopted to make legal the births of 1,132 children born out of wedlock in Idaho in the past ten years, and to relieve future generations of "the stigma of illegitimacy."

"The church cannot be counted on to correct the evils of this social trend," Dr. Dunshee said, "because of the tendency of parishioners and officials toward ostracization of these innocent victims of others' vices.

"The application and teaching of mental hygiene could do much to relieve the practices involved and the contingent distress.

"The recommendation of Dr. John R. Nichols, dean of the university of Idaho, southern branch, to a state educational meeting here yesterday to the effect that psychiatry be more broadly applied would be well taken.

"State and institutional psychiatrists — competent and qualified by education — have done much good in other states. The field in Idaho for a sane, competent specialist along those lines is unlimited."

Women of the Moose—Under the auspices of the Victoria Chapter No. 25, another instructive sewing bee will be held on Thursday evening, February 20, at the home of Mrs. H. Parker, 3075 Washington Avenue. Mrs. M. Pearce will be the hostess. A request for old felt hats to be brought is made.

Strawberry Vale

Strawberry Vale Women's Institute held its monthly meeting in Colquitz Institute Hall, Wilkinson Road. Mrs. G. Austin was in the chair. Owing to the large increase in Girl Guide membership, it has been decided to organize a Saanich division. A Girl Guide committee was elected, including the following officers: President, Mrs. G. Austin; vice-president, Mrs. Martin; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. L. Burow; badge convener, Mrs. W. Foster; captain of Guides, Miss Stocken; leader of Brownie Pack, Mrs. Lehmer; executive, Mesdames Harper, Girton, and Humphries.

Plans were made for a meeting of Saanich Girl Guides and their parents to be held early in March.

Under the auspices of St. Columba Women's Auxiliary, a silver tea was held in the Colquitz Institute Hall last Thursday afternoon. The home cooking stall was in charge of Mrs. L. Burow and Miss Brown.

A successful bridge party was held at the Colquitz Institute Hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute. First prizes were awarded to Miss Lillian Rolands and R. Mackie, consolation prizes going to Miss G. Riche and Mrs. Scafe. A special prize was won by Miss Dorothy Fulton. The next bridge party will be held on Monday, March 2.

Mrs. Albert Allison, Loenholme Road, entertained at her home on Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Ross of Binscarth, Manitoba.

Catholic Silver Tea—The Diocesan Subdivision Catholic Women's League is holding a silver tea and sale of home cooking and candy at St. Ann's Academy on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The proceeds will be devoted to St. Clare's Monastery, and all interested friends are cordially invited to attend. A special musical programme has been arranged.

To End Annoying Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the well known old recipe which thousands of housewives have found to be a dependable means of breaking up winter coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs very little, but it does give quick relief.

From any druggist, get a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's easy. Thus you make 16 ounces of a very efficient remedy, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This home mixture soothes the irritated throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the phlegm and eases the soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine in a concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

ONTARIO DEATH

Kincardine, Ont., Feb. 19 (Canadian Press)—Seized with a heart attack as she trudged through storm-drifted snow, Miss Celinda Walker collapsed outside an inn here and died today.

Offer Reported At Inquiry

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—An affidavit declaring a striking Vancouver longshoremen's representative had offered relief camp strikers total contributions of $4,000 if they would remain in the city last April was submitted at today's session of the resumed Regina riot commission here.

Chief of Police W. W. Foster produced the affidavit, which he said had been made by a relief camp worker who attended the meeting where the waterfront representative made the offer.

The meeting was called to discuss proposals by Mayor G. G. McGeer and himself, the chief said, that the men leave Vancouver and also to consider the longshoremen's offer.

The affidavit stated that Oscar Salonen, an executive in the Longshore and Water Transport Workers' Association, which was on strike at the time the relief campers were in the city, had offered the relief strikers $2,000 immediately and an additional $2,000 in a short time if they would remain in Vancouver until all their demands were met.

Man Conscious As Arm Amputated

Associated Press

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 19.—A surgeon, standing on the swaying tip of an extension ladder, performed on amputation today on John McCoy, Lowell Gaslight Company worker, whose arm was jammed between the control car of a traveling crane and a steel girder fifty feet above the ground.

He was conscious throughout the operation, Dr. N. Gilmor Long, the surgeon said. He was in a critical condition later at a hospital.

COMMISSIONS WERE $31,000

New Yorker Tells U.S. Senators About Buying Canadian Boat For Brazil Rebels

Associated Press

Washington, Feb. 19.—A tale of how he paid $31,000 in "commissions" in buying the Canadian patrol boat Margaret for $18,000 for Brazilian rebels in 1932 was told at the United States Senate munitions committee hearing today by F. L. Zimmerman, New York ship broker.

Zimmerman, a German by birth, took the stand after a suave munitions dealer of Spanish descent, Jose Cunill de Figuerola, had told of selling machine guns, rifles and ammunition to Brazilian revolutionary agents without "asking questions."

He told briefly his side of negotiations for a ship to carry the munitions to Brazil and was followed by Zimmerman.

Their story was that they went together to Halifax to inspect the patrol boat up for sale in September of 1932. They had $50,000 of revolutionary funds, placed in Zimmerman's hands by A der Ferrera, who was operating with Leigh Wade, Frank Jonas, William P. Brown and others in buying the munitions.

After examining the boat, the two went to Ottawa to bid on it.

FOR OFFICER, $1,000

"When I put in my bid, I said to the officer there—I can't remember his name—that if I get the boat I give you a thousand dollars," Zimmerman told the committee, which was convulsed with laughter.

He then went on to relate how he had asked $50,000 in negotiating the deal, since he wanted $5,000 for himself, $5,000 for Wade, $5,000 for Jonas, $5,000 for Brown, $5,000 for Ferrera and $5,000 for Figuerola.

He explained the addition of $500 for Figuerola was because the latter had paid expenses of their trip from New York to Montreal.

"I wanted enough to take care of those men with $5,000 commissions," Zimmerman beamed. "That's fair, isn't it? I want others to make money through me. That's the way to build up business."

But when Zimmerman completed his calculations he could not immediately account for a $1,500 cashier's cheque presented in evidence by the committee. Finally, when reporters questioned him afterward, he recalled it represented the difference between United States and Canadian exchange, giving him a profit on the $50,000 transaction.

"What did you do with the $1,500?" reporters asked.

"I kept it for myself, for Heaven's sake," he grinned.

Resume Operations At Fraser Mills

New Westminster, Feb. 19.—The Fraser Mills plant of the Canadian Western Lumber Co. Ltd. resumed operations today after being closed down for several days owing to the ice conditions in the Fraser River.

The door factory department of the mill was expected to recommence work later today, bringing the number of men employed on the day shift to 700. Officials were undecided whether the night shift would be started yet.

ROMILLY BOYS GOING SOUTH

The Romilly Boy Singers will be heard in matinee and evening concerts at the First Baptist Church auditorium on Saturday, before leaving for the south, where they are to appear in all of the large cities.

Appearing at the Empress Theatre, in Vancouver last week (R.J.) critic of The Daily Province, writes: "Music-lovers in these parts who desire to hear something realy worthwhile should not overlook the Romilly Boy Singers, who earned an unqualified triumph in the first of a series of five programmes Tuesday night. An event of this kind is a sweeping vindication for the teaching of music in our public schools."

SECOND SECTION — VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1936 — SECOND SECTION

Smart Basketball Programmes Arranged Here This Week

THE SPORTS MIRROR

KENNY FLEMING, a natural athlete whose rugby has improved with his self-control in the last season or two, will probably be missing from Victoria's oval ball front when next season starts. From reliable sources it has been learned the speedy inside threequarter has been offered a professional berth with an English Northern Union Club.

* * *

If Fleming takes the job it will mark the promotion of the third Victoria player to the moneyed northern union ranks in recent years. Roy Gaunt, who impressed English scouts in his appearance against the Japanese when they played here a few years ago, blazed the trail across to the professional group. He was followed last year by his blonde-headed brother Syd, who also caught on with Rochdale Hornets.

* * *

In many quarters Fleming is considered of equal calibre to Roy Gaunt and probably one of the fastest starting and smoothest broken-field runners developed here in many years.

* * *

A sprinter of some merit, as well as a basketball player of no mean accomplishments, Fleming has all he needs in athletic equipment. He has been smoothing out a temper that was inclined to ruffle easily and will doubtless make a good showing if he accepts the invitation.

* * *

The bid is just another indication of Victoria's potentialities as a training ground for good professional athletes. In addition to the rugby players there are Torchy Peden and Lynn Patrick and brother "Muzz"—who can cross over to the moneyed ranks when he wishes—to mention but a few.

* * *

Only yesterday Tommy Musgrave was reported signed by a Yankee scout for a tryout in moneyed ball. Baseball followers here will be hoping he makes the grade and clicks in the Big Time in the not too distant future.

J. H. "Mickey" Richardson, popular captain of the Colwood Golf Club, will assume the formal position of assistant secretary to that club shortly. A popular member of the local golfing fraternity, "Mickey" will doubtless receive the best wishes of a host of mashie wielders in his new position. Eventually he is expected to relieve Reginald Genn, veteran secretary, of the onerous duties connected with that post.

From The Daily Mirror comes the answer to the query over the name "All-Blacks" carried by New Zealand's ruggers.

"The man mainly responsible for the nickname 'All-Black,' Mr. E. E. Booth, recently died in Christchurch," the paper states in a despatch. "Booth was a member of the famous New Zealand side which toured England in 1905. When he was out training one day a journalist noticed that he was wearing black elastic knee-bands and anklets in addition to a black vest and shorts. Asked the reason, he made the jocular reply, 'Oh, just to be all black.' The name stuck and has been used ever since."

With the provincial senior A men's basketball championships scheduled to start less than a month hence, Victoria Dominoes will go into a huddle tomorrow evening to map out training campaigns, strategy and finances for the provincial duels. The first two games in the three-out-of-five series are scheduled for the High School on March 13 and 14. Any following fixtures will be played in Vancouver the succeeding week.

* * *

The Dominoes have had lots of experience in the way of exhibition fixtures this season, but they have yet to meet that extra something that enters into a play-off series. However, local experts figure them overwhelming favorites for the provincial crown. And followers of the hoop game will remember that last year they were given the toughest fight of the entire schedule leading to the Canadian championships by the Varsity boys in the British Columbia championships. It is a safe bet to predict that the forthcoming series will be marked by the usual referee debates.

Golfers to Meet In Final Sunday

Winners of the six monthly competitions staged by the Victoria Golf Club will meet in the final Sunday. The match will be eighteen holes against par.

Following is the draw:

H. F. Hepburn vs. W. B. Lambert, winner vs. W. P. Bowden. G. M. Terry vs. J. D. D. Campbell.

Three Play-offs Tonight; DeMolay Due On Saturday

FAVOR LOCALS THIS EVENING

Victoria's basketball customers looked forward to a smart hoop programme this week with the attractions opening this evening at Victoria High School gym as three Duncan teams take the floor against local squads in Lower Island play-offs. On Saturday what promises to be one of the keenest duels of the season is billed for the same court with the Dominoes meeting visiting De Molay stars from Seattle in a rubber game.

Starting at 7.30 o'clock St. Louis College will tackle the Duncan intermediate B boys tonight. Following that tussle the Cardinals will go into action against the Duncan Elks in the women's game and Saanich Mercantiles will play Duncan's Union 76 in the final fixture on the card. The Victorians will take the floor with big leads in each case and will be outstanding favorites to advance to the island finals against upisland winners.

SATURDAY'S GAME

When the Dominoes stack up against Chuck Durgan's Seattle squad on Saturday they will be facing an outside outfit which has handed the locals their only exhibition setback this season.

In 1933 and 1934 the De Molay boys defeated the Dominoes, then operating as the Blue Ribbons, by ten-point margins. In their first appearance here this season, however, they dropped a single point decision, the final score being 29 to 28 for Victoria. More recently they played before a good house to humble the Dominoes 49 to 48 with a last-minute drive that turned a five-point deficit into victory as the locals failed to cope with a lightning attack.

Three new players will be included on the De Molay team in the coming game. Vic Calderon, high scoring guard, will team up with Roy Williamson on the defence. The front line will be the same as that which represented the team in its last game here, with Murray at centre and Bill Hughes and Strelo flanking him. Crandall Nefzger and Stokes will be reserves, in place of Shupack and Johnson.

Williamson is rated one of the most outstanding players in Seattle's independent basketball. A former star for Ballard High School, he played with the Oregon freshmen two seasons ago. He has switched to the University of Washington since then but transfer rulings make him ineligible for the Husky squad at present.

NAME CHAMPS AT BRENTWOOD

Jimmy Watt Takes Men's A Division Singles Badminton Laurels in Good Duel

Jimmy Watt, Reg. Hoadley and Muriel Sluggett mounted the pedestals of club championship in the Brentwood Badminton Club finals played at the Brentwood Hall yesterday evening.

Watt, smart young performer, downed Charlie Douglas, defending champion, in the A section men's singles division, while Hoadley took the measure of Archie Broadfoot in the B section. Watt lost the first set 15-17 to Douglas but came back nicely to take the second 15-11 and hit his stride in the third in which he blanked his senior.

Hoadley was extended to an extra point set in the first game but took the second handily.

Watt later teamed with Drennan Hincks to take a good doubles duel, while Hincks went on to win another with I. MacWatters against Watt and F. Airdale.

RESULTS

Results follow:

R. Roadley won from A. Broadfoot, 18-17, 15-6.

Miss A. Barber and G. Barber won from Mrs. Horth and A. Atkins, 17-14, 15-17, 15-12.

WIGHTMAN CUP DATES ARE SET

Associated Press

London, Feb. 19.—The British Lawn Tennis Association yesterday announced June 12 and 13 as the dates and Wimbledon as the site for the renewal of the Wightman Cup series between teams of British and United States women stars.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Work, according to the scientific point of view, is done when a force acts against resistance to produce motion in a body. When you lift something you produce motion in a body (whatever you lift) against a resistance (gravity). But when you hold something stationary overhead you do no work because you produce no motion, despite the fact that the pull of gravity is acting on the body that you are holding.

Work is done when you lift a feather; no work is done when you hold a heavy weight overhead. Likewise, a bridge piling does no work in supporting the bridge, a table leg does no work in supporting the table.

Probably the two most confused geographic names in the United States are the State of Washington and Washington, District of Columbia. Strange as it seems, the state was so named to avoid confusion with the nation's capital. When "Columbia" was proposed as the name for the new state, this name was over-ruled on the ground that a state called Columbia would be confused with the Federal District of Columbia. So they named the State Washington instead, and ever since then people have been getting the state and the capitol city mixed up.

Strange as it seems, Hal Styles's championship as the fastest talking human is a result of his inability, at one time, to speak at all. During a trip in Arctic waters, Styles suffered a mysterious malady which rendered him voiceless. When he recovered he became especially interested in voice, and developed his until he can speak 450 words a minute.

Campbell Beats Howard In Open

Seattle Star Eliminates Handicap Medalist in Afternoon Play in Empress Winter Golf Tournament

Defeated in handicap play by his fellow townsman, Ralph Whaley, yesterday, Albert "Scotty" Campbell, Seattle, whose golfing record shows two Canadian amateur titles and P.N.W. laurels, still remained among the top-ranking favorites for open honors in the Empress winter golf tournament at the close of yesterday's play.

Harold Brynjolfson, highly-regarded local player, advanced with a victory by a similar margin over J. R. Morris, while E. J. Ketcham, Seattle, a finalist last year, overcame R. F. J. Featherstone in a closely contested match on the nineteenth.

In the women's handicap section, Mrs. A. S. G. Musgrave advanced with comparative ease with a 6 and 5 verdict over Mrs. H. Paterson. Miss M. Mackenzie-Grieve defeated Mrs. W. M. Toothill by a like margin.

Feature of the men's handicap play yesterday was the elimination of "Scotty" Campbell by Whaley and the exit of the medalist, Howard, who succumbed to Featherstone 3 and 2.

RESULTS

MEN'S HANDICAP Championship

R. F. J. Featherstone defeated E. L. Howard, Seattle, 3 and 2.

Dr. W. W. Earles, Seattle, defeated A. J. Taylor, Wetaskiwin, 5 and 3.

W. B. Pitcairn, Winnipeg, defeated C. L. Willis, 1 up.

POLO SERIES WASHED OUT

Associated Press

San Francisco, Feb. 19.—A contemplated four-game polo series between British and United States quartettes has been washed out by eight days of rain.

The opening encounter was to have been played today "rain or shine," but Dick Schwerin of the Golden Gate Polo Club said the field was too much "like a swimming pool." The series was cancelled rather than run the risk of serious injury to horses and players.

Postponement was out of the question because the British players were to leave for England by March 1 for trial matches before the England-American series.

Eric Tyrell-Martin was captain of the English team which included three regulars and one substitute of the British team named for the international series. Raymond Quest of Long Island was to have led "the All-Americans."

BOSS JOHNSON LACROSSE HEAD

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—Byron Johnson, M.P.P., president of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association, was re-elected president at a meeting of that body yesterday evening.

E. E. Barnes was elected first vice-president, L. Dickinson, second vice-president, and Charlie Mason, third vice-president, were both re-elected along with E. K. Ross of New Westminster, secretary, and J. McMillan, treasurer.

Amendments to the constitution and other business was set aside to be brought up again at another meeting, called for March 13.

PLAYER RAPS CANUCK TEAM

Canadian Hockey Loses Prestige in Europe, Former Star Says

Canadian Press

Halifax, Feb. 19.—Canada has suffered a tremendous loss of prestige and Canadian hockey players are no longer heroes in Europe as a result of the loss of the Olympic championship, Frank Finlay, former St. Mary's College and Kentville Wildcats hockey star, stated today on his return here from Milan, Italy, where he played all season.

"You have to live over there to realize what a tremendous hold hockey has on the sport followers," Finlay said. "Canadian players and teams in past years built up great reputations. The average fan is fully convinced that if you come from Canada you must be a star performer in hockey.

"It's too bad Canada sent such a weak team across," he added.

TO TIGHTEN UP ON TRANSFERS

Canadian Press

Halifax, Feb. 19.—Investigation for infractions of the amateur code is to be a new duty of officers of the maritime provinces branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, according to a letter written by President T. L. MacDonald to those connected with amateur sport in the maritimes.

Playing transfers would be granted only to athletes who moved to other towns "under a legitimate business transfer," and affidavits to that effect might be demanded from both players and employers, he said.

Seattle Is Sending Table Tennis Team

Visitors Will Meet Local Stars in Inter-city Match at Crystal Garden Saturday; Many High Ranking Players Coming

Victoria will play Seattle in an international table tennis match on Saturday. Final arrangements were being made today for the intercity clash, which will take place on the tables at the Crystal Garden.

Between ten and fifteen stars from across the border are expected to make the trip, but the exact number and names of the players are not known yet. Among the visitors are expected to be a number of women.

CHAMPION EXPECTED

Special seating arrangements are being made for the capacity crowd which is expected to see the first intercity match ever staged here. The Seattle invaders are expected to include among their numbers, Ray Pearson, the sensational schoolboy star, who was seen in action here recently, and who is now champion of Washington state.

The match will be between an equal number of United States and local players and will include singles and doubles. The first game is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

The Vancouver Island open tournament, which was scheduled for March 9, 10, 11, and 12, has been cancelled, due to the fact that the dates chosen clashed with the British Columbia open championship, to be held in Vancouver, Bob Crombie announced today.

RESULTS OF LEAGUE PLAY

The results of first division matches in the city league played yesterday evening in the Crystal Garden follow:

Melrose defeated The Times, 9 to 7. Jarvis was the only one among the newspaper men who held up his end, and though Rigby sprang a surprise by beating the high-ranking Whittinghame with ten points to spare, he lost every other game. The veteran Chattel played well for Melrose scoring three points.

The Times: Jarvis 3, Rigby 1, R. Stursberg 1, P. Stursberg 2.

The new Y.M.C.A. team beat the Redwings, 9 to 7. Harding and Lynch shone with three games each, while Browne-Cave again remained invincible.

Coach Lines—Hurst 1, Kay 2, Pendray 1, Brynjolfson 1.

BRENTWOOD IN SHUTTLE WIN

Defeat Willows Club 9 to 7 in Second Division League Match

Playing in a Lower Island Badminton League fixture yesterday evening, Brentwood's second division netters nosed out the visiting Willows club squad 9 to 7 in the Brentwood Sports Hall.

The eventual winners captured three of the four matches in the women's doubles and broke even with their opponents in the men's and mixed doubles to give them a slim margin.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES

Miss Gilman and Murdock lost to Misses Benson and Ruggles, 15-7, 7-15, 11-15.

Misses Gerrard and Beaumont won from Miss Benson and Ruggles, 15-10, 15-17.

Misses Gerrard and Beaumont won from Misses Jackson and MacDonald, 15-7, 15-5.

Misses Gilman and Murdock won from Misses Jackson and MacDonald, 7-15, 15-7, 15-9.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Watt and Woodward lost to Phillips and Pitkethley, 15-8, 14-18, 8-15.

MIXED DOUBLES

Miss Murdock and Tolson won from Miss Benson and Phillips, 7-15, 8-15, 17-14.

Miss Gilman and Francis won from Miss Benson and Phillips, 15-8, 7-15, 15-10.

Miss Gilman and Francis lost to Miss Jackson and Pitkethley, 15-10, 2-15, 16-18.

Miss Gerrard and Woodward lost to Miss MacDonald and Harris, 8-15, 12-15.

Miss Gerrard and Woodward lost to Miss Ruggles and MacFarlane, 4-15, 9-15.

Miss Beaumont and Watt won from Miss Ruggles and MacFarlane, 15-8, 15-8.

ARSENAL WINS REPLAY MATCH

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 19.—Arsenal defeated Newcastle United 3 to 0 at Highbury today in a replayed fifth round match in the English Football Cup competition. The teams played a 3 to 3 draw at Newcastle last Saturday. In the next round the Gunners will be at home against Barnsley, Rugged second division squad.

The fifth round game between Chelsea and Fulham at Stamford Bridge ended without a goal being scored and the teams must fight again to determine which side will oppose Derby County in the sixth round. Scheduled for last Saturday, the cup-tie was postponed on account of fog.

New Horses For Vancouver Man

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—Austin Taylor, prominent Vancouver race horse breeder, who is at present at Santa Anita with his string of ponies, had added three more horses to his stable, it was learned here yesterday. His new acquisitions are Special Agent, Quick Look and Indian Broom, from Mrs. Dodge Sloan's Brookmeade Stable.

Santa Anita Handicap Favorite Runs Well in Practice

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Feb. 19—Discovery, champion of the United States turf, is "dead right" for Saturday's racing extravaganza, the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's big money winner ran a mile and a quarter, the handicap distance, in 2.08 yesterday. This final tune-up was run on a sloppy track, with Discovery's stablemate, Scotch Bun, furnishing the opposition. Scotch Bun stayed with the big chestnut until the last furlong, when Discovery, under the urging of Jockey Johnny Bejshak, streaked it for the finish and left Scotch Bun in the ruck.

Regardless of weather, Discovery will go to the post a pronounced favorite. He was eight to five in the future books today, and has been since Head Play and Cavalcade were withdrawn.

ROSEMONT GOOD

Rosemont contributed a good performance, too, yesterday, running the mile and one-quarter in 2.09 1-5. He eased up near the finish after going the half in .49 3-5; three-quarters in 1.14 2-5, and the mile in 1.40 3-5. Compared to this was Discovery's half in .48; three-quarters in 1.13 4-5, and the mile in 1.41 3-5.

Riskulus, the Norman Church five-year-old, also took a turn over the mile and a quarter, but the best he could do was 2.11 1-5 driving.

Larry Aurie Hurt; Record High Score In New York Draw

Schriner Forges Ahead in Standings as Amerks Tie Maroons 8 to 8

Hawks-Canadiens Game Deadlocked

Canadian Press

Just two frantic yells echoed across the frozen front of the National Hockey League today and it was a question whether the bosses screeched "Stop those Red Wings" any louder than the players chorused: "Stop Schriner."

Detroit whipped the Bruins in Boston 2 to 1 yesterday evening and increased their lead over American section rivals to four points.

Slender Sweeney Schriner bagged two goals and two assists when New York Americans held Montreal Maroons to an 8 to 8 tie. He was six points up in the scoring derby.

The events were considered to be portentous. For the Red Wings they were disastrous, too, because Chunky Larry Aurie fractured his collarbone in a collision with Eddie Shore and may be lost to the Wings for the rest of the season.

A New York crowd watched the season's biggest scoring bee, producing sixteen goals and fifty-one scoring points. Three goals were scored in the first period, eight in the second, three in the third and two in overtime.

SCHRINER ROMPS AHEAD

Schriner collected two goals, two assists to bring his scoring total to thirty-seven, six more than that of his centre, Art Chapman, who was credited with three assists. Hooley Smith, veteran Maroon centre, bagged two goals and three assists. Old Harry Oliver of Americans got one goal and four assists, and his partner, Nels Stewart, whipped in three goals and helped with a fourth.

Keeping pace in the Canadian section with Americans, Montreal Canadiens earned a 3 to 3 tie at Montreal with Chicago Black Hawks.

Lineups:

RELIEF GOALIE AWAITING BERTH

Abbie Cox, Who Has Played Big Time Hockey, Still Waiting For Regular Job in N.H.L. But Happy in Minors

Canadian Press

Montreal, Feb. 19.—After ten years of knocking around the minor league, little Abbie Cox is still looking for a regular National Hockey League berth — that is he would take one if offered — but is content to stay in Springfield if the cards fall that way.

Cox was on hand yesterday evening as Canadiens played a 3 to 3 tie with Chicago as utility man in case Wilfe Cude was unable to go into the nets, a role Abbie has filled on several N.H.L. clubs since he entered hockey more than a decade ago.

Six years ago Cox was with Windsor in the International Hockey League when called up to play for Maroons when first Flat Walsh and then Clint Benedict were put out with injuries. Cox suffered a fractured pelvis and fractured fifth vertebra.

Maroons never expected him to play hockey again. He spent twenty-eight weeks in hospital and the next season found him back in the nets again with Pittsburgh of the International League in a remarkable recovery.

In the off-season he runs the Memorial Golf and Country Club, and in his own words is "doing all right." That is why he is content to stay with Springfield of the Canadian-American league.

Moot Pro Hockey Plan For England

Dandurand Outlines Scheme to Start Moneyed Game in London; Other Centres After Franchises

Montreal, Feb. 19.—Two groups of sportsmen, one in London and the other "spanning the length and breadth of this continent by long distance telephone," are formulating plans for introduction of organized professional hockey in the old world—perhaps by next season, The Gazette states this week in a dispatch from its New York correspondent.

"The machinery for the biggest expansion of professional hockey since the game was introduced into the United States was set in motion late Monday by Leo Dandurand, the Montreal sports promoter and former owner of Canadiens, almost as soon as he stepped off the liner Europa after a ten-day visit to London and Paris," the dispatch added.

LONDON PIONEERING

"London will be the first city in the old world to have a professional league. The plan is to organize six clubs in the London district, all games to be played in a single amphitheatre to be built especially for hockey," the correspondent stated after an interview with Dandurand.

Sportsmen of Paris, Cardiff, Liverpool and Manchester were anxious to enter the league but Dandurand felt a modest beginning in London was the wisest move until Europe was thoroughly educated to the sport.

Present rosters of the National Hockey League would not be raided, Dandurand was quoted as saying. A working agreement with that organization would probably be sought.

OFFERED POST

Canadian Press

Montreal, Feb. 19. — James P. Strachan, former president of Montreal Maroons of the National Hockey League, has been offered the presidency of a new hockey league being organized in London, he said today. "I intend to go to England during the summer and will look the situation over thoroughly," he said.

Mr. Strachan said "They intend to start as amateurs—sort of semi-pro. I guess—and gradually work onto the professional end."

Bowling Scores

Straith's squad, winners of the first half and leaders in the second half were voted the championship and a halt was called in the regular schedule.

A special six-weeks' series was arranged between the three teams, Straith's, Poodle Dog and Macdonald's Consolidated. It will be run on a point basis, total pins on each game counting two for high score of the three teams and one for second.

Macdonalds went away on top of the new series by taking five points. Straiths took three and Poodle Dog one.

Big Seven in Major Hockey

Canadian Press

Baldy Northcott and Hooley Smith, emerging from the season's greatest scoring splurge in which Maroons and Americans indulged in an 8 to 8 tie, landed in the Big Seven group of National Hockey League scores. Charlie Conacher and Bill Thoms of Toronto, idle while fireworks flared at New York, were dropped.

Northcott collected three points and Smith five, bringing their season total to twenty-eight, one more than Conacher. Sweeney Schriner, taking part in the same affair, came out with four points to strengthen his league lead. He was thirty-seven points.

Breaking Old Swimming Marks

W.A.C. Girls Record Holders in so Many Events They Are Now Smashing Own Laurels

Associated Press

Seattle, Feb. 19.—No wonder the Washington Athletic Club girls have had such a time trying to break that 200-yard relay swimming record.

When they finally turned the trick in Seattle Monday night, their coach, Ray Daughters, proudly stepped up in front of the crowd:

"Ladies and gentlemen, you have just witnessed one of the greatest swimming feats of all time," he said. "This is one mark we have been after for a long time. The old mark was made by Helene Madison and her teammates in 1931 and it was terrific. This new record is a magnificent achievement."

An inquisitive sports writer poked his nose in the record book after the speech and found a trifling mistake.

HELD RECORD

The old record Daughters was talking about was made by these same girls—Olive McKean, Doris Buckley, Mary Lou Petty and Betty Lea—in Detroit last April, and not by Helene and her pals. They had shattered the Helene mark at that time.

"No wonder it was so tough," puffed the girls. "And to think Ray has been having us work for something we already had."

"You've got me," snorted Daughters, with a red face. "But doggonit these kids make so many records I can't keep track of them," was his alibi.

Freddy Miller Trounces Pena

Featherweight Champion Batters San Francisco Challenger in Twelve Rounds; Billy Buxton Takes Decision

Associated Press

Seattle, Feb. 19. — Freddy Miller's featherweight crown rested more jauntily on his brow to-day after he had soundly whipped Johnny Pena, San Francisco challenger, in twelve gory rounds, and erased the sting of a recent decision Pena held over him.

The left-handed champion from Cincinnati, Ohio, found Pena an easy mark yesterday evening for a biting left that opened his face early in the bout, and kept the blood flowing for the rest of the session.

Balked by Pena's persistent covering up, Miller experienced trouble landing solidly. He got a clean left-handed shot to Pena's jaw in the eleventh, and the former New York and Chicago Portuguese went down for a nine count.

In the fourth round, and again in the eighth, Referee Tommy McCarthy examined Pena's cut mouth, mushy nose and battered face and then consulted with the boxing commissioners at the ringside about stopping the slaughter and awarding the fight to Miller on a technical knockout. Both times the commissioners ordered the bout to proceed.

Ben Cordova, 163, Fort Lewis, Wash., and Danny Mack, 159, Sacramento, waltzed for three and a half of their scheduled four rounds before the referee called "no contest," and chased them from the ring.

BISONS NEAR FINALS BERTH

Buffalo Team in Good Position to Enter I.H.L. Play-offs

Canadian Press

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 19.—Frank Nighbor summed up playoff chances of his Buffalo Bisons today and decided they looked better than for many weeks. His club, as a result of yesterday evening's 4 to 0 shutout over Hap Holmes's Cleveland Falcons in Fort Erie, were within a point of London Tecumsehs, second-place team in the eastern section of the International Hockey League.

The Herd backed up by stellar net minding of Alex Wood went ahead on a lapse by Tecs, who were beaten 3 to 1 in Rochester by the lowly Cardinals. In the other tilt of the evening, Detroit Olympics moved further in front in the western group by downing Windsor Bulldogs 2 to 1 in Detroit.

HIGHER DUTY ON CHICKS URGED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Representations have been made to the government to increase the tariff against baby chicks imported from the United States, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, told the House of Commons yesterday afternoon the government had made no decision in the matter.

Before the reciprocity treaty, the Canadian tariff against chicks was 30 cents each, a prohibitive duty. The treaty reduced it to 17 per cent, which amounts to a cent or two each.

Canadian poultrymen, the minister said, had suggested a rate less than the 30-cent figure.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Delegates to the annual convention of the Association of Rural Municipalities were unanimous yesterday about the necessity of discovering some scheme to replace direct relief by public works, but they found nothing they liked in a proposal of Reeve Ben Levert of East Sandwich.

The Levert proposal was that the Ontario government open "unused factories, sawmills, brickyrads, etc., to unemployed to produce and sell at cost farm equipment, farm machinery, clothing and prepared foods."

SOCCER GAMES ARE POSTPONED

Percy Shrimpton, secretary of the Wednesday Football League, yesterday evening announced that games scheduled in the Pendray Cup play for to-day had been postponed, owing to the unfit condition of local playing fields.

Gas Station Control Urged

Action Will Await Commission Report to Be Presented in Six Weeks

The B.C. Garagemen's Association told Premier Pattullo today that in Vancouver there is one service station for every seventeen cars and that in Victoria the situation, while not serious, is bad enough.

They urged the government to pass legislation to control service stations by licensing them and determining how many are necessary to service the cars on the road.

Premier Pattullo expressed sympathy with the garagemen's problems. He said the government expected to have a report from its Royal Commission on coal and petroleum products within six weeks or two months and indicated that something might be done after this report was presented and considered.

The garagemen argued that the large overhead for maintaining an unnecessary number of service stations probably had a lot to do with keeping up the price of gasoline.

They put before the Premier a draft of an act in force in Nova Scotia to control stations. This provides for provincial licensing, thus empowering the government to determine the number of licenses issued. Several provinces have similar laws in effect, they said.

Fred Elliott, president of the garagemen's association, headed the delegation which also included R. Heggie, W. Brown and Earl McMorran of Vancouver, and Jack Smith, Percy Dutton and W. Crabb of Victoria.

ELECTRICITY ENDING KNIFE

George MacDonald Tells Credit Granters Rays Replacing Surgery

There will be no need to have recourse to surgery in curing appendicitis, gall stones and kidney stones within the next three years, George E. MacDonald, of Jameson's Electric Company, told members of the Credit Granters' Association at their luncheon in Spencer's dining room yesterday, in the course of a talk on "Electricity and Health."

Mr. MacDonald told how curative rays which have their origin in electricity are replacing the surgeon's knife.

The valuable infra-red, ultra-violet and orange rays emanating from the sun could be reproduced electrically, he said.

He told of the discovery of X-rays by Roentgen in 1894, and of the strange misconceptions of their powers generally held at that time. One enterprising dressmaker advertized X-ray proof petticoats, and the British parliament forbade the use of the rays except in limited cases.

Mr. MacDonald explained the principal of diathermic treatment in which rays gradually raised the temperature of the blood and tissues until harmful organisms were killed by the temperature.

He quoted cases from the records of Canadian and United States hospitals, in which sinus trouble, carbuncles, tumors, spinal puncture, mumps, sciatica, ulcerated stomachs, Pneumonia, arthritis, infantile paralysis, brain lesions and some forms of insanity had been cured by diathermic treatment.

Several cases had been treated in Victoria hospitals with almost miraculous results, he said.

Other medical uses of electricity mentioned by Mr. MacDonald included the electro-cardiagraph, which takes pictures of heart vibrations, and the electric needle capable of restoring life in many cases of heart disease.

He prophesied that in the near future electricity would open up still more fields of treatment raising the general level of the health of the world.

Thomas McPherson was appointed vice-president at a recent meeting of the executive, it was announced by Mr. Banner. George Frant and E P. Johnston were again chosen auditors.

Committee chairmen were announced as follows: Col. H. E. Goodman, bureau; Walter J. Fletcher, membership; Lawrence Mallek, programme; G. A. A. Hebden, publicity; George E. MacDonald, educational; Logan Mayhew, attendance, and Louis Cork, legislative.

More Discussion On Longshoremen

Representatives of the Victoria Longshoremen's Association attended a meeting of the business and trade development committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon to give their views in connection with waterfront difficulties.

Last week the committee held a round table discussion with representatives of the three local companies which employ longshoremen and the two longshoremen's association. After the meeting the representatives of the Victoria Riggers and Transport Workers held a private discussion with the committee.

Yesterday afternoon James Lackie, president of the Victoria Longshoremen's Association, accompanied by Norman Scott, secretary, presented their side of the case.

The committee will prepared a report for presentation to the City Council, Alderman Archie Wills, chairman of the committee, announced this morning.

The Catholic Young People's Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock. A guest speaker will discuss world events and their relationship to the Catholic world. Vic Montaldi will be the chairman. After the refreshments, a discussion will be held in the nature of questions and answers.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Theft of $8 in cash and a gold wrist watch valued at $30, from her apartment at 434 Simcoe Street, was reported to the city police yesterday by Mrs. Flora Harmer.

The reorganization of the local branch of the Garagemen's Association of British Columbia was discussed at a meeting held yesterday evening in the Douglas Hotel. Other plans for the future were also discussed.

Ward Three Liberal Association will hold a regular business meeting next Friday at Liberal Headquarters. A. Chambers will give a talk on "Health Insurance." All Ward Three members are invited. The meeting will start at 8 o'clock.

On a charge of obtaining goods valued at $6.35 from J. C. Stewart, Robert Ellison was remanded until tomorrow, when he appeared in the City Police Court this morning. Cleeve White appeared as defence counsel.

At its meeting yesterday afternoon the business and trade development committee of the City Council decided to recommend to the council the acceptance of the tender of $10,000 from Riddell, Stead, Graham and Hutchison of Vancouver for the purchase of the machinery in the B.C. Worsted Mills.

Serious ice condition exists on the Cariboo Road, from Tank Creek, thirteen miles east of Lytton, to Boston Bar, a total distance of forty-six miles. This information was received this morning by the Victoria Automobile Club by the Public Works Department of the provincial government.

A. C. Ross will address Ward Five Liberal Association this evening at Liberal headquarters at 8 o'clock on the subject of "State Health Insurance." After the address questions may be asked, and Mrs. Ross will endeavor to answer them. A cordial invitation is extended to all Liberals of the city to attend.

Frank Sims was arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning on two charges of obtaining money by false pretences from Margaret Fields. He was remanded until tomorrow morning at the request of P. J. Sinnott. The charges allege he obtained a total of $14.40.

Charges of perjury were read in the City Police Court this morning Guridt Singh, Isabelle Burkmar and Sundar Singh as a result of testimony given in a recent assault case, in which Meha Singh was convicted of assaulting Gurdit. B. C. Lowe will appear for the defence, and a remand was taken until Wednesday at his request.

Despite the freezing weather, spring cannot be far away, for a host of robins greeted William Greenhalgh when he woke up this morning in his home on the corner of Cook and Dublin Streets. There were so many robins in the garden that he could not count them, Mr. Greenhalgh said. He has some birds as pets and throws seed out for them, which may account for the flock of robins gathering around his home.

Max Kilburger, 88 Obed Avenue, has applied to the courts here for naturalization as a Canadian. He was born at Sweibrucken, Bavaria, but became a citizen of United States in June 1905 at Pittsburg. He came to Canada in 1912 and has been a resident of Victoria since, establishing a considerable business here. He has been set down to appear before Judge Lampman on June 1 for public hearing on his application.

The Chinese United Young People's Society held a Valentine social Friday with the Chinese Presbyterian Young People's Society and the Chinese Anglican Young People's Society as guests. The president, David Gung, welcomed the visitors. The devotional period was under the leadership of Josephine Wong. John Bong gave a solo, "The Viennese Waltz"; Josephine Wong and Pearl Lowe played a duet, "The Militaire March"; David Gung played many selections on his piano-accordion.

Veteran Club Activities

Members of the executive of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, at a meeting held yesterday evening decided to approach the Provincial Government and ask that the rights of ex-service pensioners be kept in mind in regard to health insurance.

The committee will again make an issue of vegetable seeds this year to needy members. It was felt by the executive that growing their food would encourage members to look out for themselves a little more rather than look to the club for help all the time.

Delegates of the Britannia Branch who will attend the annual Canadian Legion Convention this year in Vancouver will urge that the Dominion convention be held in Ottawa each year, only if the traveling expenses of the delegates are pooled, otherwise they will vote against it.

A smoking concert will be held this evening by the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion, in their headquarters, 625 Courtney Street, J. P. J. Collins will be chairman. The following artists will contribute to the programme: Mr. McBride, cowboy songs; Jeff Cummings, magician; W. Morry, monologue; Alf Adams and Stan James, comic songs. The programme will be opened by an overture by the orchestra under Mr. Cartwright. Community singing and request numbers will also be on the programme.

Members of the Army and Navy Veterans Club Local Unit No. 12 will pay a social visit this evening to the Duncan returned men's club. Cars will be available to members at 6 o'clock in front of the club headquarters, corner of Wharf and Broughton Streets.

City Problems Cause Lively Discussion

Mayor's Salary, Publicity Bureau, Willows Exhibition and City Hall Shortages Under Fire at Annual Meeting of Ratepayers Association; F. J. Crowhurst Re-elected President

At the annual meeting of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, held yesterday evening in the Sons of England Hall, many civic problems, including the Willows exhibition grounds, the woolen mill, recent shortages at the City Hall, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and the mayor's salary, were discussed.

A motion to have the publicity bureau moved to the City Hall was defeated and a resolution to have all members of the relief department ratepayers of Victoria was sidetracked.

F. J. Crowhurst was re-elected president. Other officers named were: R. Margison, first vice-president; Mrs. J. de Blaquiere, second vice-president, and E. Bragg, Rev. A. Bruce, James Parfitt, Mrs. Roberts, C. M. Cookson, R. J. Rogers, J. Savident and G. Bolander, members of the executive.

ANNUAL REPORT

In his annual report Mr. Crowhurst said the association did not accomplish anything of vast importance during the year, but had given serious consideration to many civic problems. It had co-operated with the Tourist Trade Association in a "better deal for Vancouver Island." Objection had been made to camera meetings of the City Council, and the association had fought daylight saving. The association expressed itself as opposed to any more expenditures on Macdonald Park and went on record as opposed to the present police commission.

Arthur Hinder, secretary-treasurer, said a balance was left in the bank at the end of 1935 of $22.11. Expenditures during the year had been $93.21. He stressed the need of more members and urged the present members to bring in their friends. The more members the association had, he said, the more prestige it would have with the City Council. He said Victoria seemed a "half dead-alive city," when it came to working up enthusiasm over civic problems. He said the association was out to reduce taxes, to co-operate with the City Council and to avoid making those "huge blunders" which had been made in the past.

TAXATION ADDRESS

W. C. Warner gave a brief address on taxation and said there was a general feeling that the time had come to abandon taxation on capital value and adopt taxation on earning power. He said this had been successfully done in many countries. The changes proposed were not new, he said. He thought allowances should be made in taxes for periods of vacancy.

It had been found, Mr. Warner said, that 80 per cent of taxes on property were paid, but on income the taxes were paid almost in full. He said the method of assessment and taxation on income had been tried out and it was found to work satisfactorily to all concerned.

MAYOR'S SALARY

Following the formal part of the meeting, which was interrupted several times, several speakers were on their feet at once, demanding answers to a number of questions regarding civic problems. Several times the chairman called for order.

J. Howard A. Chapman wanted to know why the mayor's salary had been increased from $3,600 a year to $4,000 a year.

"He says he is a full-time mayor, but he is off on his publicity work a lot," Mr. Chapman said.

When questioned on this subject, Alderman Andrew McGavin said he had thought a salary of $3,600 a year was enough.

Taking the platform, Alderman McGavin said: "I'm sorry to see this association slipping. I said two years ago it was a factor at the time of a civic election. I didn't come here tonight to be shot at, and I'm not going to be shot at from anyone here. I'll only answer reasonable questions. I can tell you the last civic election was a severe lesson and since then the City Council has been sitting up and taking more notice."

Asked by a woman in the audience about the recent shortages at the City Hall, Alderman McGavin explained his part. He said, however, he was not there to discuss the inside staff.

MONEY RETURNED

The person charged with the shortage told the finance committee that $2,500 had gone on betting on the horses, Ald. McGavin said. He then went to certain people in the city, in charge of the horses and told them they had $2,500 of the city's money and he thought it should be returned. A few hours later, Mr. McGavin said, the money in cash was brought to his place of business and he requested it be taken to the Mayor. This request was refused and later Mr. McGavin himself took it to the City Hall.

"But there are some vicious-minded persons who would like to cast reflection on the good work of others," he said. "They say I'm in the pot And there are plenty of vicious-minded people in Victoria."

He went on to say he was satisfied the publicity bureau grant would have been swamped had it been submitted to the ratepayers. He said the small homeowner counted more at the time of an election than organizations. He charged Aldermen Luney and Hawkins with "drawing a red herring across the trail" at the last council meeting, in connection with the police commission. He said he was not dissatisfed with the present system but only wanted to see the people get their rights.

"I've no time to go looking for votes," he said in conclusion.

RELIEF ALLOWANCES

A man in the audience, who said he was on relief, said: "This relief is getting the bunk." He objected strongly to being penalized for taking his clothing allowance to a certain store.

James Parfitt advised the ratepayers' association to do something about the $16,000 a year being spent on the Willows Exhibition Grounds.

"I question the advisability of holding an exhibition," Mr. Parfitt said. "I'm told by merchants they have the greatest slump of the year immediately following the exhibition."

Mr. Parfitt was interrupted several times. In connection with the Mayor's salary, he said: "If you want a good man you have to pay for it."

He was asked why, as a member of the Chamber of Commerce, he did nothing about the Willows expenditure.

"Because the Willows is out of Victoria. I've an idea it is a drag on the city. Sell it to the highest bidder. According to lots of ratepayers it isn't worth a darn. Instead of assisting the council you are here criticizing," Mr. Parfitt said.

Mr. Parfitt urged the ratepayers' association to work on something big instead of on a lot of small stuff.

SYSTEM BLAMED

Alderman Ed. Williams said the present system of taxation could not be changed until the whole economic system was changed. He said the City Council was no more in the wrong than the ratepayers' association in this regard. Personally, he said, he did not think it right to collect taxes on vacant property.

Someone in the audience asked: "What about the woolen mill?"

Another party read from newspapers reports about the publicity bureau and said it had taken, according to figuring $20,000 of the people's money to bring 272 tourists to Victoria last summer.

Mr. Crowhurst told of his appointment to the financial committee of the publicity bureau and said he was not particularly anxious to serve.

Because a member of the association had been appointed to the bureau Mr. Crowhurst did not think the meeting should go ahead with the resolution about the bureau being moved to the City Hall.

The meeting was adjourned at 11 o'clock.

PLAN DELAYED ON LABOR LAWS

B.C. Awaits Court Decision Before Consolidating Provincial Acts

Because of uncertainty over the legality of federal labor legislation, pending a decision of the Supreme Court of Canada, a plan to bring in an all-embracing industrial statute for British Columbia has been shelved for the time being, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, indicated this morning.

The proposal here was to pass one law consolidating all the existing legislation covering minimum wages and working conditions, including the male and female minimum acts and the Hours of Work Act. This would have brought the entire labor legislation under one head, tending to facilitate the administration and make amendment easier.

However, provincial opinion is that if the federal labor laws are upheld by the Supreme Court it may mean they will supersede provincial law, although no definite ruling on this point is available yet.

LACK OF WATER IS EXPLAINED

Break in Concrete Line Necessitated Turning Off Sooke Supply

The cause of a protest from Sooke residents over the lack of an adequate water supply during the last three days was explained by G. M. Irwin, city engineer, today.

Mr. Irwin said a hole in the syphon of the east branch was discovered on Sunday, and authorities were unable to drain the pipe until Monday. The syphon is a concrete pipe line, and because of the location of the break it was necessary to drain it completely before repairs could be started.

After repairs had been made Monday, the concrete did not set until Tuesday, owing to the cold weather. The water was turned on last night at 6 o'clock, and reached homes adjacent to Sooke Harbor about 2 o'clock this morning.

The cutting off of the water was protested by a meeting in the Community Halll at Sooke yesterday evening, when it was decided to bring the matter to the attention of the Attorney-General and Provincial Secretary.

Mr. Irwin stated this line is the one for which material has been ordered for replacement.

PROTEST FISH TRAP CLOSING

Two Hundred Sooke Residents Urge Reconsideration to Cancel License

Protesting the decision of the federal government to refuse fish trap licenses on the southwest coast of Vancouver Island after the close of the 1936 season, 200 residents of the Sooke district, meeting last night in the Sooke Community Hall, will forward a resolution to Ottawa stressing the need of the industry to the area and strongly urging reconsideration of the license cancellation.

The meeting was sponsored by the Sooke Community Association, and resolutions promising support to any concerted move to keep the Sooke fish traps in operation were read from the women's auxiliary of the Sooke branch of the Canadian Legion, members of the Canadian Legion, employees of the Sooke Harbor Fishing & Packing Company Limited, J. H. Todd & Sons Limited, the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute, the Sooke Badminton Club, the women's auxiliary of Holy Trinity Church and the Sooke Athletic Association.

MANY SIGN

Everybody in the hall signed their names to be appended to a petition and lists for further signatures will be displayed throughout the district.

The resolution to be forwarded to Ottawa will point to the fact that the heads of at least forty Sooke families will be thrown out of employment if the fish traps are closed down.

"We, of Sooke, are united in our efforts to keep the fish traps open," said S. Helgesen, who presided over the meeting.

Mr. Helgeson pointed out that compared with purse seine and gill nets, fish traps gave fish plenty of chances to escape.

Horace Goodrich, manager of the Sooke Harbor fish traps, contended that fish traps were the only method by which salmon could be caught in quantity. Gill netting and seining, he said, had proved ineffective, because of the clearness and phosphorescence of the water.

OPERATED SINCE 1904

He explained that fish traps had been operated on the southwest coast of Vancouver Island since 1904 and the industry represented an annual expenditure of about $70,000 in the Sooke district and a further large amount in Victoria and Esquimalt for cans, labels and cases.

Mr. Goodrich refuted the argument that the Sooke traps spoiled sport fishing in the vicinity of Victoria.

Alan Chambers, who addressed the meeting, offered his services to Sooke residents in their efforts to maintain the industry and his remarks were received with loud applause.

LONG UNDER ADVISEMENT

Mr. Chambers denied that the fish trap situation had anything to do with party politics as the cancellation had been under advisement since last May.

He explained how the closing of 237 fish traps on Puget Sound resulted in British Columbia fishermen securing 55 per cent of the salmon last year, compared with the customary 32 per cent. The federal government, he said, believed it would be easier to keep the United States traps closed if those in British Columbia ceased to operate.

"Fraser River fishermen do not want fish traps to operate again, and they are willing to sacrifice you to keep their higher catch up," said Mr. Chambers. "U.S. purse seiners," he added, "did not catch more fish with their traps closed because it has been proven that fish traps are necessary to furnish leads or fish will not school."

WOOLEN MILL MOVIES OFF

Barsky and Schneiderman Instruct Solicitor to End Negotiations With City

The deal for the leasing of the B.C. Worsted Mill to Isadore Barsky and George Schneiderman, Hollywood movie men, was canceled yesterday.

Schneiderman advised W. T. Straith, their solicitor here, that the agreement arranged by Mr. Straith with the city was not acceptable to them.

The wire read: "Conditions of lease absolutely not acceptable to us. Impossible for us to do business in Victoria. Cannot await any further delay in adjustment. Please notify your people entire deal is off."

Questioned this morning, Mr. Straith said he did not know why his clients had turned the offer down. He expects an explanation in a letter.

The cancelation concluded several weeks of negotiation, during which the city had proceeded with plans for the alteration of the worsted mill building, which was to cost $3,700. Work had not commenced, owing to failure of the movie interests to make the $3,000 deposit required under the agreement.

The city has been put to some expense in drafting agreements, plans and preparing the building for movie production, after being assured the deal would go through.

When the matter was first brought before the City Council it was attacked by Aldermen James Adam, J. D. Hunter, Andrew McGavin and Archie Wills. When the draft agreement was voted on the other seven members of the council favored it. The council agreed to remove the machinery from the woolen mill, renew the flooring and raise and repair the roof, the total cost of which would be about $9,000.

The business and trade development committee was instructed to call for tenders for the machinery in the mill and have plans drafted for the necessary alterations as well as prepare the final agreement.

EXTEND AGREEMENT

Barsky and Schneiderman had until the end of January to exercise the agreement, but when the Dominion Government failed to make an announcement of its intentions in regard to the duty on movie picture machinery the movie men, through their solicitor, asked for an extention of time. This was granted on the understanding that Barsky and Schneiderman should advance $3,500 for use, in raising the roof of the building and have it credited to rental over the first six years. Barsky and Schneiderman agreed to advance $3,000 and this the committee accepted. The committee agreed to have the building ready for occupancy by April 1 provided the money was deposited forthwith.

At Monday evening's meeting of the City Council Alderman Wills, chairman of the trades development committee, drew the council's attention to the fact that Barsky and Schneiderman had not deposited the money and that the repairs to the building would take six weeks to carry out. This would make it impossible for the committee to have the building ready in time and he advised the council to notify Mr. Straith of this fact, stressing that it was due solely to failure of Barsky and Schneiderman to deposit the money in time. The council adopted this course.

Members of the council are anxious to learn what has caused the movie men to turn down the agreement after it had been drafted by their solicitor, Mr. Straith, and the city solicitor, H. S. Pringle.

FALSE REPORT ON BEACH FIRE

A report that the home of E. G. Beaumont at Discovery Island was destroyed by fire early this morning was denied after Provincial Police investigation today.

The fire, reported by the Ss. Princess Elizabeth at 1.15 o'clock this morning, was a beach bonfire built by Indians to smoke mink hides, which got out of control for a short while.

Constable A. G. Carmichael was sent to the island this morning and on returning he reported there had been no damage from the blaze.

Geoffrey Harding was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of driving to the common danger. The charge was the result of an accident, in which Mr. Harding's car forced William Hoy's machine off the road.

Announcements

DIED

MELLIN—Died, on Tuesday, February 18, Anastasia Rose, wife of Captain H. de M. Mellin.

Funeral services will be conducted at the chapel of Hayward's Funeral Parlors, at 2 p.m., on Thursday, February 20. No flowers, by request.

LAMBERT—There passed away Tuesday evening at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, after a very short illness, Walter Lambert of 1896 Lulie Street. The late Mr. Lambert was born at Grey, Essex, England, and came to this city twenty-four years ago. He was a member of Victoria-Columbia Lodge No. 1, A.F. & A.M., and the Forresters. There survive his widow, at the family residence, Lulie Street, and two daughters, Mrs L. Neelands, 2595 Musgrave Street, and Ethel Lambert, at home.

Funeral services, under the auspices of Victoria-Columbia No. 1, A.F. & A.M., will be held Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, after which the remains will be forwarded to Seattle for cremation. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

IN MEMORIAM

HAINES—In ever-loving memory of my dear husband and father, Arthur E. Haines, who passed away February 21, 1935.

This is a day of remembrance
And one of sad regret.
This day we shall always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
—Inserted by his wife, daughter and two sons.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

New Books On The Library Shelves

By BOOKWORM

"If I Were Dictator," by St. John Ervine. In this work the author recognizes that men do not want liberty, that they shrink from responsibility, and that they demand, first and foremost, comfort, and that the first excuse for a dictator is to make it possible to turn a nation of slaves into a nation of men unafraid of freedom. As his type of dictator he chooses Moses, who turned a horde of slaves, continually whining for the flesh pots of Egypt, into a host of freemen. Since Mr. Ervin's goal is liberty, he hates fascism and communism alike, and he is satirical at the expense of those who consider economic freedom must precede any other kind of freedom. It seems, however, that he has history against him on this point. The book, nevertheless, is based on a genuine idea, which in itself seems a blessing in a time that is rather marked for a dearth of ideas.

"Cheerful Giver, the Life of Harold Williams," by A. T. Williams. Harold Williams was correspondent for The Times and The Manchester Guardian and other papers in Russia from 1903 to 1921. The book has a double appeal—as biography it is a vivid and compelling piece of portraiture, as history it covers a period as dramatic as any in the century. Mr. Williams had a remarkable gift of tongues. When he was only eleven he could read Latin, Greek, Hebrew, French, German, Italian and Maori, but this gift was not an end in itself, for it gave him a sympathy with human nature in all its forms, and from this strong characteristic one gets the reason for the title of his biography—the Cheerful Giver. The book also gives a picture of the Russian scene up to 1921, when Mr. Williams returned to England and became leader writer for The Times and later foreign editor, a post he held until his death in 1926.

"Birth of the Middle Ages," by H. S. L. B. Moss. A book admirably planned to clarify the ideas of those familiar with the subject and to give the cultivated reader with no special knowledge a full and clear understanding of a period which to most people appears forbidding in its obscurity.

"New Numbers: How Acceptance of a Duodecimal (Twelve) Base Would Simplify Mathematics," by E. E. Andrews. The author advocates a change of base in our system of numbers from ten to twelve, and how it would revolutionize arithmetical processes in many fields. Mr. Andrew's book has grown out of two articles in The Atlantic Monthly last winter which called forth so many letters and so much interest that he developed the ideas briefly presented in them into this modest volume. He not only states his case with clarity and with a certain humorous charm, but he proves it. Undoubtedly his system is a better one. Only one thing is lacking: it cannot possibly be adopted. He knows that as well as his most skeptical reader and gets up no fever of propaganda for it, but sugarcoats his serious argument with humor and literary charm.

"Facing Two Ways, the Story of My Life," by Baroness Shidzue Ishimoto. The author was born the daughter of the age-old aristocracy of Japan, but her father had become interested in western ways, and though as a girl she was taught the arts of the Japanese lady, flower arrangement and the tea ritual, she also played tennis and learned Swedish gymnastics. Her husband was a Liberal and took his wife to Europe and America, and in time she became an ardent feminist and advocate of birth control. This charmingly written autobiography reveals both sides of her life and the life of Japan during the years of transition from feudalism to modernism. It is a rich, brave, delightful book. And though Shidzue Ishimoto may not like it, for she is an ardent advocate of the way of the twentieth century against that of the fifteenth, it is the pages that deal with her childhood and youth that will bring the greatest delight to her western readers.

"Woman's Best Years," by W. B. Wolfe, repeats more fully, and from an entirely feminine viewpoint, the contention that "life begins at forty." It is written in a non-technical style and is crammed with sound advice for women with problems of a psychological rather than economic or a physical nature. "The art of staying young" is the sub-title, and forms a good clue to the nature of the contents of this very readable and helpful work.

"The Lion and the Unicorn, or What England Has Meant to Scotland," by Eric Linklater. The author declares he is not a Scottish Nationalist, nor is he entirely English in his outlook, in fact he claims to be more or less impartial in his judgment. His argument seems to prove that England and Scotland are mutually in each other's debt, but that Scotland's incorporation in Great Britain has been of great material benefit to many individual Scotsmen, for, he says, Scotland's principal export has been manpower, and these men have found material success in England, where their services were needed. The author delves into history, and discusses present day problems in developing his thesis. The whole is related with wit and a surety of touch that will delight all readers.

A company has been formed by the English milk industry for the sole purpose of recovering "lost, strayed, or stolen" bottles and churns. Nearly 8,000,000 were recovered in a year. It is estimated that the company saved the milk industry $250,000 that year.

POPULAR STARS AT THE CAPITOL

Hollywood.— Timing and rhythm are especially important in a screen comedy, Harold Lloyd believes. While making his latest feature, "The Milky Way," Lloyd retained Stephen Pasternack, musical advisor, to pay particular attention to both of these phases when sequences in the new Lloyd comedy were being unfolded before cameras.

Pasternack set to work a metronome—the same type of instrument that some piano teachers use—while Lloyd, for instance, was shadow boxing in one part of the production. In other parts of the picture, which were partial to dialogue and jokes, Pasternack consulted a stop-watch so that these sequences would be perfectly timed.

Explaining the use of both instruments, Pasternack said:

"Let us assume that we have been photographing a scene and the script called for a sudden change to another scene, and then back again. This might mean that we had to pick up a song in the middle of a chorus and yet at the same tempo that it had been playing earlier in the picture. Then again, sometimes a director has to have a certain amount of dialogue in a specific footage of film. In these cases the sound track has to match that footage. And so timing and rhythm are absolutely essential."

Actress Saves Clothing Costs

Hollywood.—Many working girls, especially those not burdened with dependent relatives, spend most of their earnings on clothes. And they are very foolish women. If they would follow the ways of some of the screen's best dressed actresses, they might find that dress bills could be cut coinsiderably.

That sums up a theory of Grace Bradley, attractive artist who is appearing in Bing Crosby's new feature, "Anything Goes," with Charlie Ruggles, Ethel Merman and Ida Lupino. And what constructive criticism has Miss Bradley to offer to many women wage earners? Simply this:

"If girls of the country would really take a leaf from the book of our experience and learn the devices we use in Hollywood, they would be astonished at how little it costs to be smartly dressed all of the time and yet have their appearance so varied that few people would realize that their wardrobes are small.

"For instance, I have found that by changing accessories, one changes the entire appearance of a suit and some types of dresses. I have a little grey suit which I wear frequently. But one time I will wear a white shirt-waist, a certain type of hat and carry a certain type of pocketbook. The next time I will wear, probably, a black shirt, a white tie a radically different type of hat, and change the pocketbook.

"Safe economies include such things as dancing slippers, because even the good ones wear out quickly and the inexpensive variety look just as well; hosiery, because they wear just as well as the costly type; handbags, because high-priced creations are beautifully reproduced in less expensive types, and handkerchiefs, scarfs, hats and sweaters used for active sports."

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

George Du Maurier's immortal love classic, "Peter Ibbeson," having achieved fame as a novel, a stage play, and just a couple of seasons ago as an opera at the Metropolitan, now takes its place on the screen with the filming of the Paramount version of the famous book, starring Gary Cooper and Ann Harding in the leading roles, now running at the Playhouse Theatre.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Keen Thinking Sets Hand

Opponent Reviews Bidding and Figures Cards Held by Partner Before Deciding on Play

Some people play bridge to win money, others enter tournaments with a determination to win, but there are lots of people who play just because they enjoy the game.

I have in mind one of the directors of the American Bridge League, C. F. Waltman, of Reading, Pa., who conducts and attends many tournaments during the course of a year.

When I said to Waltman, "You certainly enjoy tournament bridge," his answer was, "The thing I enjoy most is the meeting of old friends and the making of new ones."

That I believe is the real answer to the popularity of tournaments.

SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

Waltman, who sat in the east, admits that his double might be termed optimistic. His opening lead was the ace of hearts, which held.

North: ♠ K Q 10 8 5 2 ♥ 6 4 ♦ Q J 8 6 ♣ 7
West: ♠ A 9 ♥ K J 9 8 7 3 ♦ 10 3 ♣ 9 4 2
East: ♠ 7 ♥ A 10 5 2 ♦ A 7 5 2 ♣ Q J 8 6
South (Dealer): ♠ J 6 4 3 ♥ Q ♦ K 9 4 ♣ A K 10 5 3

Duplicate—N & S. vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♥
2 ♠	3 ♥	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Double

Opening lead—♥ A. 6

Now, of course, a switch must be made. Undoubtedly North's bid and rebid was based on some strength in diamonds, Waltman reasoned, as he himself held the strength in clubs and his only hope to defeat the contract was to find his partner with a doubleton diamond and the ace of trump.

East did not count North for five diamonds, as he had not bid that suit. So at this point a small diamond was played, declarer winning with the queen. The king of spades was played, West winning the trick with the ace and immediately returning a small diamond.

East won with the ace and played back a diamond, which West was able to trump with the nine of spades, and the contract was defeated.

Today's Contract Problem

By optimistic bidding, North is forced to play this hand at six hearts. Should West echo in spades, when that suit is played, and complete the echo on the third round of hearts?

North: ♠ 6 5 3 ♥ Q J 9 8 ♦ A 10 6 3 ♣ 9 2
West: ♠ Q 8 7 2 ♥ 10 4 ♦ J 5 4 ♣ K J 4 3
East: ♠ J 10 9 ♥ 7 5 3 2 ♦ 8 7 ♣ 10 8 6 5
South (Dealer): ♠ A K 4 ♥ A K 6 ♦ K Q 9 2 ♣ A Q 7

None vul Opener—♠ J

MYRNA LOY AT THE CAPITOL

Plays Opposite Spencer Tracy in "Whipsaw," Opening in Victoria Today

Starring Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy in their first picture together, "Whipsaw" opens today at the Capitol Theatre as one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's more important offerings for the new season. It presents Miss Loy as a member of an international ring of jewel thieves, and Tracy as a secret service man tries to trap her through romance. The supporting cast includes Harvey Stephens, William Harrigan, John Qualen, Robert Warwick, Irene Franklin, Lillian Leighton, Wade Boteler and others. The picture was produced by Harry Rapf and directed by Sam Wood for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer from the screen play by Howard Emmett Rogers.

Also being shown as the second fixture on this programme are Herbert Marshall and Jean Arthur in "If You Could Only Cook."

"Call of the Wild" Will Open Tomorrow

Night shots were "out" on 20th Century's "Call of the Wild" location on Mount Baker, Washington. The forty-odd sled dogs and assorted dogs used in the Darryl Zanuck production, based on Jack London's classic of the Alaskan gold rush, set up such a deafening serenade when the moon burst over Shuksan Mountain that not even the "soundproof" stage could exclude their clamor.

Clark Gable, Loretta Young, Jack Oakie and other members of the company experienced difficulty sleeping the first few nights on location, but as time went on the assorted howls became an accepted factor in daily location life.

"Call of the Wild" is released through United Artists and comes to the Little Orpheum Theatre tomorrow.

COLUMBIA

Bette Davis has a new name. It's "Miss Front Page." She acquired the new title during production of Warner Bros. "Front Page Woman," which is being shown at the Columbia Theatre.

Whenever Director Michael Curtiz wanted Miss Davis for a scene, he called: "Step up, Miss Front Page." Finally the entire cast and technical crew were addressing her by that title and the name has stuck.

DOMINION THEATRE

"Three Live Ghosts," sparkling comedy-drama featuring Richard Arlen is being shown today at the Dominion Theatre. The "ghosts" are portrayed by Arlen, Claude Allister and Charles McNaughton, appearing in a cast which also includes Beryl Mercer, Cecilia Parker, Nydia Westman, Dudley Digges, Jonathan Hale and others. Adapted from Frederick S. Isham's famous novel and play, "Three Live Ghosts" was directed by H. Bruce Humberstone.

NOTICE

THE CLOTHING DEPT. OF THE CITY WELFARE OFFICE, 1322 BROAD STREET. GARDEN 8104.

Are issuing an urgent last-week appeal to the generosity of the citizens of Victoria in their Clothing Drive, starting Saturday, February 15. The Scouts of the Victoria District are circulating pamphlets to all Schools and private homes asking them for co-operation in a very worthy and needy cause. Clothes are more than welcome, and boots can be repaired. Sacks will be left by Scouts for articles, which will then be collected on Saturday, February 22.

Men's, women's and children's underclothing, overcoats, dresses, men's suits, trousers, socks, stockings, boots, blankets, mattresses, sweaters, stoves and small heaters, and that of cash donations, are gratefully accepted.

Late Selling Wave Reduces Prices On New York Exchange

Associated Press

At the top were motors and rails, but power issues and steel company equities were sold at reduced prices.

Throughout almost the entire day, motors and rails were conspicuous for higher prices and popularity. Many of the industrial specialties and rail equipments fell by the wayside but did not join the losers. Others, however, and a few metals were definitely low.

Steels and utilities attracted early attention of those seeking to establish profits or switching into other equities. With a few exceptions, they were off fractions to around a point.

Among those higher were Chrysler, General Motors, Union Pacific, Deere, Westinghouse, Air Brake, American Locomotive and New York Central.

U.S. Steel was off more than 2, and Republic and Bethlehem went down. North American and Consolidated Gas declined more than a point as did Douglas Aircraft, Montgomery-Ward, Case, Loew's and U.S. Smelting. Other utilities slid off fractions, the same as numerous industrials.

Cotton and grain were narrow and irregular, the dollar was easy against leading foreign exchanges, and the bond market was led by gains in U.S. government obligations.

(By H. A. Humber Ltd.)

MACASSA RISE IS HIGHLIGHT

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Macassa's advance of 25 cents or better to around $4.70 on heavy trading was one of the mining market features today. Buffalo-Ankerite was an outstanding soft spot, dropping 30 cents to $5.50.

Noranda held a minor fraction and Falconbridge closed down 5 cents after selling at $9.20. Sherritt, Base Metals Corporation and Hudson's Bay turned in small recessions.

God's Lake, Pickle Crow and Hard Rock changed hands at higher prices, while San Antonio, Siscoe, Reno, Little Long Lac, Beattie and Central Patricia all held their ground in moderate turnover.

LATE SELLING AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press

Montreal, Feb. 19.—A late sell-off developed on Montreal Stock Exchange today and early favorites closed on the downside after shattering former highs for recent years.

Profit-taking predominated in one or two selected issues but the list showed scattered selling.

Nickel tumbled rapidly and finished with a loss of about ⅜ after reaching a new high for more than five years at 54 in early dealings.

Power Corporation reached a new high since 1934 at 16½ but was only a point or so higher at 15¾ at the close. Quebec Power finished higher while Montreal and Brazilian eased slightly.

C.P.R. was barely steady at the close after reaching a new high of 15⅝. Dominion Steel and Coal and Dominion Coal preferred were both easier after touching new highs.

TODAY'S FOTO-FOOLER

In today's Foto-fooler you are looking at the flint wheel and flame of a cigar lighter. The wick can be seen at lower right. The objects are difficult to recognize because they are shown many times enlarged by macrophotography. Watch for another Foto-fooler in The Times tomorrow.

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 29. — Buoyed up by a spurt in demand from overseas purchasers, wheat prices jumped out of a five-day rut to higher prices on the grain exchange here to-day. Values at the close were ⅜ to ¼c higher.

The May future closed at 83⅜c, July at 84¼ and October at 83¼.

Throughout the session the futures market reflected strength at Liverpool, where the close was 1¼ higher. Buenos Aires at noon held unchanged to ⅛ higher, while Chicago posted an advance of 1c.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—May wheat climbed 1⅝ cents today to the highest price since Feb. 7, but July and September lagged.

The rise of May wheat resulted specially from demand for red wheat to be shipped out of Chicago. Since the first of the year, contract stocks of red winter wheat here have been reduced about 1,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed irregular, ¼ lower to ⅜ higher compared with yesterday's finish, May 98¼ to 98⅜, corn ¼ to ½ down, May 61⅜ to 61½. Oats unchanged to ¼ off, and provisions at 2 cents to 7 cents decline.

Tarzan And the Fire Gods

As the moaning overhead grew in volume, women wailed, children shrieked, and the ancients of the tribe collected tremblingly about Niarchus, who chided them in shrill voice: "Have no fear if ye trust in Baal our god, Iskander his son, and Niarchus his prophet."

Then spoke Heth the elder: "But suppose, father, that it is not Iskander who comes. Suppose it is a demon who is an enemy of Baal, and who comes to plague us who worship him." The hideous face of Niarchus was twisted in fanatic fury as he turned to Heth.

"Dare you deny the revelation of Niarchus the First, father of my fathers, who prophesied that Iskander would come to us from the skies? Dare you deny that I, your prophet, who walks in the sacred grove, shall recognize the shining glory of Iskander when he cometh?"

"But it was revealed that demons, too, would come," Heth insisted. "True," Niarchus admitted; "but should this be a demon, it shall be tested before the Fiery Pillar of Baal, which visits torture and miserable death on those who do not believe in him!"

The Gumps

Perfect Mates Are Rare Indeed

Dorothy Dix

Says There is no Profit in Divorce for Women

AN ATTORNEY who has assisted 3,000 husbands and wives in breaking their matrimonial bonds declares that the only people who profit by divorce are the lawyers, and that the men and women who cannot get along peaceably with one wife or husband are not likely to live harmoniously with another.

I commend this statement to the careful consideration of the disgruntled couples who believe that marriage would be an earthly paradise, instead of the hell they find it, if only they were free of their mates and married to someone else. Such is not the case. Marriage is marriage, with the same restrictions, with the same obligations, calling for the same sacrifices whether it is a first one or a tenth. Those who could not adapt themselves to it in the beginning will rebel against its limitations to the end, and the man and woman who could not adjust themselves to Sue and Tom find it equally impossible to adjust themselves to Isabel and Percy.

There is no such thing as the perfect mate of whom they dream, and in swapping husbands and wives they simply exchange one set of faults for another and one set of characteristics for another that is just as hard to endure. Mr. A. divorces Mrs. A. who is a crackerjack cook and housekeeper but a boresome companion, and he marries a No. 2 wife who is a brilliant conversationalist, but a poisonous cook and a nagger. He swaps her for No. 3 who is easy-going and good-natured but a ruinous spendthrift.

Mrs. B. hikes out for Reno because Mr. B. is all business while she is all soul, and she wants a husband who will quote poetry to her and understand her finer nature. So she swaps her No. 1 husband for No. 2 who can't make a living and, wearying of starvation, she trades him off for a great lover who is so adept at his courting that he makes love to every pretty girl who comes along.

There they are. No better off with their "lasts" than they were with their "firsts." The net result of all of their divorces are alimony to pay, mussed and broken up lives, and a lot of hard-boiled little children with three or four mothers and fathers apiece.

Women are the petitioners in more than two-thirds of the divorce cases. This is partially due to the fact that it is considered a gallant gesture for a husband to let his wife ask for the divorce and lay the blame for it on him. But mostly it is because women have a naive and child-like belief that divorce is a cure-all for whatever ails them. Life hasn't given them all they wanted. They haven't enough money. They are tired of commonplace husbands. They are weary of pinching pennies and slaving at housework. And they think that all they have to do to be happy and prosperous and gay and carefree is to get a divorce.

This unshakable faith that women have in the miracle-working power of a decree absolute would be cynically amusing if it were not so tragic in its consequences. For it is what keeps the divorce grist mill grinding overtime on the matrimonial affairs of women who think that a little piece of paper can take the pain out of a broken heart, turn a middle-aged mother into a glamorous flapper and provide her with Croesus for a husband.

No other one thing in the world would do as much for the happiness and general good of women as to convince them that, generally speaking, there is no profit for them in divorce. Of course, there are exceptional cases in which divorce is as necessary as the surgeon's knife that cuts away a cancer, but ninety-nine times out of a hundred for a wife to get a divorce from her husband only makes a bad matter worse.

Maybe the husband philanders around a little. Maybe he is undemonstrative and takes his wife for granted. Maybe he is grouchy and hard to get along with. Maybe he goes to sleep over his paper of an evening. But he provides a home and comfort for his family. He educates his children. His wife has her place in society. And if his wife divorces him she is thrown out into the world to support herself and the children, helped by a little grudgingly paid alimony. Many a woman finds that all she gets out of divorce is the necessity of standing behind a counter.

And if the divorcee marries again she finds that No. 2 is no more a Prince Charming than was No. 1, and that she has to put up with just as aggravating peculiarities in him as she did in her first husband.

Uncle Wiggily's Shoes

By HOWARD R. GARIS

One night after supper in the Hollow Stump Bungalow, when his rabbit children were doing their school homework, Mrs. Longears said to her rabbit gentleman husband:

"I hope you aren't forgetting your promise, Wiggy."

"What promise was that, my dear?" asked the bunny uncle politely.

"You promised to take me to the movies to see the funny show you and Mr. Twistytail saw last night," said Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, the one we went to when I tried to sew some buttons on my coat and sewed up the sleeves instead," laughed the rabbit gentleman. "Yes, that was a very funny show."

"Well," spoke Mrs. Longears twinkling up her pink nose, "I have sewed the buttons on your coat for you and now I'm ready for you to take me to the movies. The children will stay with Nurse Jane."

"Very well, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily. "If you don't mind," he went on. "I'll just go upstairs and change my shoes. The ones I have on are rather old and it wouldn't be polite to take you to the movies if I wore my old clothes. I'll hop upstairs and change them."

"It is sweet of you to think of that," said Mrs. Longears. "Not that I mind your old shoes. I'm going with you and not your shoes. But change them if you like."

"I won't be five minutes," said Uncle Wiggily as he hopped up the stairs to his bedroom.

HIS WIFE WAITS

His wife sat down in the front room to wait for him. The clock ticked on and on. One minute passed—two minutes—three minutes.

"My goodness! Wiggy must be shining his shoes," said Mrs. Longears.

Still she thought she wouldn't call to her husband to hurry even though it was almost time for the first show and if there was one thing Mrs. Longears disliked more than another it was to be late for anything—even a movie.

"I'll wait a few more minutes," she thought. "He doesn't like to be called. But I hope he hurries."

When six minutes had passed and Uncle Wiggily with his new shoes hadn't come downstairs to take his wife to the movies, Mrs. Longears could stand it no longer.

"Wiggy! Wiggy!" she called. "Please hurry! We'll be late! Never mind about changing your shoes. Come down as you are."

There was no answer. Mrs. Longears called again. Then Nurse Jane called. So did the rabbit children. Uncle Wiggily didn't answer.

"Oh, I'm sure something dreadful has happened to Wiggy!" cried the rabbit lady. "Come with me to his room, Nurse Jane and we'll look!"

FEAR BAD CHAPS

"Maybe one of the Bad Chaps jumped in the window while he was changing his shoes and took him," said the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Oh, I hope not!" sighed Mrs. Longears. She and Nurse Jane opened the door of the rabbit gentleman's bedroom. And there he was, all undressed, in his pyjamas and sound asleep in bed.

"Wiggy! Wiggy! What in the world has happened?" cried his wife. "You came up here to change your shoes and then you were to take me to the movies. And here you are in bed!"

"Oh, my goodness!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "How forgetful I am! When I took off my old shoes I thought I was undressing to go to bed. So I kept right on taking off my things and I did go to bed, didn't I? Ha! Ha! That's a joke on me! Dear! Dear!

Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane also laughed. Then Mr. Longears got dressed and took his wife to the movies and he didn't forget to come home. And if the coffee pot doesn't use the snow shovel to put sugar in the tea, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Hippy's honey.

A recent test has revealed that steam whistles are as inefficient as they are noisy. A twelve-inch whistle used 4,000 horsepower in tooting just once.

SALT SPRING

Ganges, Feb. 19.—Mahon Hall was filled to capacity last Friday evening, when a splendid programme was put on by the Boy Scout troop. The programme consisted of a variety concert and an amusing sketch entitled "Ici on Parle Francais." Those taking part in the programme were: Mrs. A. Scoones, Miss F. Groves, Kenneth Eaton, Miss Sheila Halley, Miss W. Morris, Miss L. Layard, Miss M. Scoones, Miss V. Lowther, Mrs. Laurie Mouat, Col. A. B. Snow, Miss June Mitchell, Capt. V. C. Best, G. Howard, A. Stacy, G. Fyvie, A. Robinson, R. Seymour, R. Baker and B. Inglis.

The monthly meeting of the South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Shaw, Fulford, last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. P. Maxwell presiding. Arrangements were completed for holding a military 500 drive and dance in the Institute Hall on March 17, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the needs of the institute ward in the Lady Minto Hospital.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1936

Benefic aspects dominate today when conflicting planetary aspects are active. The stars may encourage nervousness and irritability. It is wise to count ten before speaking to persons whose personalities are challenging.

Women this morning should begin whatever is important and should push all their affairs, social or financial. It is a day to avoid trivial duties and to concentrate on what is most desired.

The moon occults Venus today and the seers read in it fair promise for women who find their happiness in the home. There will be much hasty wooing this year.

It is a fortunate rule of the stars for love affairs, but girls should realize the value of sincerity. Men may be critical as well as susceptible.

This is read as a lucky wedding day, since progress in happy partnership may be expected. The children of this day's marriages should be unusually talented.

Constructive enterprises of many sorts will be profitable under this direction of the stars. Much government building is forecast for the early spring.

Although there will be good news in business and commerce will expand at this time, much secret propaganda will be used in attempts to undermine confidence.

Temperance movements now will be started, the seers prophesy, and will conflict with the plans of prohibitionists, who will organize this year and gain strength.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of much pleasure and real happiness. Success is presaged.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly talented, especially in interpreting life. Many artists belong to this sign.

Joseph Jefferson, actor, was born on this day, 1829. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Michael Munkacsy, Hungarian painter, 1844, and Mary Garden, opera singer, 1877.

FIRST LUMBER OFF TO JAPAN

Crofton, Feb. 19.—With her decks piled high with Vancouver Island logs and lumber the Japanese freighter Hayo Maru sailed from here the other day to mark the end of an international trade dispute, and the beginning of a new business era for this neighborhood.

After loading at the newly constructed Osborn Bay wharf, the vessel, commanded by Capt. K. Abe, sailed for Osaka with 3,000,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber products.

The Hayo Maru was the first ship to load with lumber for Japan since the trade difficulties were ironed out at Ottawa and Tokio at the first of the year.

Shipments of lumber from British Columbia ports to the United States also started this month.

China Province Is Being Socialized

Sterling J. Fisher of The New York Times Back From Orient With Account of Interesting Experiences

The most amazing thing of the whole trip to me was to find socialization in Shensi Province," said Sterling J. Fisher, Far Eastern editor of They New York Times, when he returned to Victoria this morning aboard the Ss. President Jackson after a four-months visit to the Orient.

He went out from Victoria October 16 aboard the Ss. President Grant as a member of the Congressional Party to the Philippine Islands.

In this province the government was staging a great land appropriation scheme, and will shortly buy 10,000,000 acres of land. The programme was a ten-year one and had been going on for two years, Mr. Fisher said, although few outside people ever knew of it.

COMMODITY DOLLARS

"In that province they are issuing the world's first commodity dollar," the thirty-six-year-old newspaperman said. "They are going to issue a million commodity dollars, based on coal, iron, wheat and wool. That means, of course, they are going to fix prices. The government already owns twenty-two factories and a railroad. If the scheme in Shensi succeeds it may be started in the rest of China. I think it will help off-set Communism."

Mr. Fisher toured extensively in China, traveling long distances by air. In Tientsin he had an awkward time when Japanese army officials became rather officious and insisted on searching Mr. Fisher's plane. But because he lived for several years in Japan he was able to speak Japanese to the soldiers, and they became duly apologetic. They were looking for cameras, they explained.

SPOKE WITH GENERALS

While in China and Japan Mr. Fisher had interviews with leading Chinese and Japanese soldiers and statesmen. In Tokio he met members of the cabinet and was entertained by the Foreign Office. He was four weeks in Japan.

He said he found Manchuria extremely interesting and believed Japan was doing a good work there although such a question was too complex to dismiss in a few words.

In Peiping Mr. Fisher met Douglas Robertson, a former Victoria boy, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. David C. Robertson, reside at 99 Moss Street. Mr. Robertson Jr., is Peiping correspondent for The New York Times, and was doing good work, Mr. Fisher said. He flew with Mr. Fisher into the interior of China.

While in the Orient Mr. Fisher wrote news dispatches and special articles for his paper. He has a large number of articles ready for publication when he returns. Coming home across the Pacific from Yokohama he spent much of his time in his cabin working on his stories.

Chinese Was Wreck Hero

Ah Kim, Cook of Tugboat Prosperative, Won Admiration of Rest of Crew

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—Ah Kim, Chinese cook of the tugboat Prosperative, sunk recently in Mackenzie Sound, exhibited the legendary Oriental stoicism when the vessel sank almost under his feet and he won the admiration of the rest of the crew.

While everyone else was rushing around and forgetting things Ah Kim abandoned his personal belongings and carefully placed a pail of fresh water in the lifeboat, salvaged the captain's clothing and brought along his meat carver "to carve up deer you kill for grub."

He reappeared grinning triumphantly, "Got matches," he said, "keep you warm with fire."

Down the Gangway

After a residence of thirty-six years in the Philippine Islands, Mr. Justice Leonard S. Goddard was a visitor to Victoria this morning aboard the American Mail liner President Jackson. He was accompanied by Mrs. Goddard, their daughter and two sons.

"I've retired at last," Mr. Goddard said, when seen at the breakfast table in the Jackson's dining saloon. "I've never been to the northwest, but I've heard lots about it and I'm going to settle in Washington or Oregon for the rest of my days. My old home was in Tennessee, but that was so long ago I've lost interest in it."

While the Jackson was in port Mr. Goddard and members of his family took a drive about Victoria and went out a little into the country. When they returned to the ship they told fellow passengers they would like to settle on Vancouver Island.

"But I want to be under the Stars and Stripes," Mr. Goddard said, "so I think I'll live in Washington and then I'll be pretty close to this island."

Returning from a visit to the Philippine Islands in the interests of future Philippine-United States trade relations, Dr. Frank A. Waring and Ben Dorlman were passengers on the President Jackson. They were accompanied by their wives and will leave Seattle tonight for Washington.

"We did a great deal of groundwork while in Manila," Dr. Waring said this morning. "We discussed many angles of trade and made some plans for the future. Of course, I can't say what they are. We also discussed the conference which President Roosevelt has called for some time next year. We don't know yet where it will be, but it will probably be in Washington. At that conference future tariffs will be set."

Missionaries aboard the President Jackson this voyage include Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Coberly, with Miss Coberly; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Speidel from Korea, with their two small sons, and Miss S. L. MacKinnon.

GREEK CREW IS RESCUED

Ss. City of Newport News Does Fine Work During Bad Weather

New York, Feb. 19.—In a terse radiogram the master of the passenger liner City of Newport News yesterday evening informed the coast guard here he had taken off all thirty-three men from the foundered Greek cargo ship Stefanos Costomenis and was taking them to Norfolk, Va.

The rescue of the entire Greek crew was accomplished in heavy, fog-cloaked seas about 500 miles off the Virginia Capes after more than seventeen hours of fateful uncertainty.

Capt Robert Wright's message to the coast guard said:

"Greek crew safely aboard my ship. Cannot lose time standing by derelict. She lying with colors flying and anchor light exhibited. Have already broadcast derelict position. Proceeding Norfalk."

The coast guard vessel Champlain was sent to mine or shell the derelight to remove it from the path of shipping.

Poking through the gloom of night and the high waves of a storm-boiled ocean, which generally hampered Atlantic Coast shipping, eight ships sought the foundering freighter after she sent out a distress call Monday night.

The Newport News reached her first, after a faulty position report took the others far off the course of the search. The freighter was abandoned after the crew was rescued.

Crew Of Three Thought Lost

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 19.—Fears were expressed here today the storm-tossed Atlantic had claimed the three-masted schooner General Gough, now eighty-two days out of Oporto, Spain, bound for St. John's.

A crew of six were aboard the General Gough, skippered by Capt. Ambrose Walsh. She is owned by the Granbanks Fisheries Company of St. John's.

Another Grandbanks vessel, the General Wood, left Oporto a week before the General Gough, but 600 miles from home was so battered by furious seas she was forced to run for Barbados for shelter, leaving there on the last stage of her voyage a week ago.

Loads Herring Oil For Europe

Vancouver, Feb. 19. — The East Asiatic Line's Ms. Europa is loading 300 tons of bulk herring oil for Europe at the Vancouver Harbor Commission tanks. This is the first shipment of herring oil from Vancouver this year and the first bulk shipment ever made from British Columbia.

It is said European refiners use this product, which is produced at Vancouver Island reducing plants, as a base for margarine, a butter substitute which is used extensively in many European countries.

Shipments of the fish oils from the province last year aggregated 900 tons, chiefly in large drums or steel barrels.

NEW SHIP FOR COAST ROUTE

Vancouver, Feb. 19. — The Union Steamship Company has asked for tenders for a diesel boat, 100 feet in length, with a cruising speed of twelve knots, comfortably equipped for carrying approximately 135 passengers and with suitable freight facilities, Major Harold Brown, managing-director of the company announced today.

The boat, an experimental type which may be the first of a series of this class of vessel for auxiliary services, is intended primarily for direct service to West Howe Sound in the winter and for special service to Howe Sound camping points during the summer.

It is expected the vessel will be ready for service early this fall.

North Pacific Unusually Warm

Passengers on the Ss. President Jackson Able to Spend Much Time on Decks

While persons ashore in the Pacific Northwest during the last two weeks have been shivering in the cold wave, passengers aboard the American Mail liner President Jackson, which arrived this morning from the Orient, report an unusually warm trip.

As a rule the North Pacific is cold and passengers remain pretty well inside, unless well bundled up in overcoats. It is mostly cold just south of the Aleutian Islands.

But this voyage, passengers on the President Jackson were able to be out on the decks without extra clothing. They played deck games, and while they would not go so far as to say they sun-bathed, they did say they spent hours on deck and were not the least bit cold.

She brought in thirty - five first and tourist class passengers, a group of Orientals in the steerage; a good general cargo in her holds, including 200 tons for Victoria, and a large consignment of mail.

The Blue Funnel liner Talthybius reached William Head at 10 o'clock yesterday evening and rode at anchor there all evening, coming into the Rithet piers at 7 o 'clock this morning. Fourteen Chinese steerage passengers disembarked here and the ship also discharged some cargo and put ashore several bags of mail. She got away to Vancouver before noon.

HAD EXCITING TRIP TO CHINA

Vancouver Boy Says He Is Through With the Sea Following Forthbridge Mishap

Crompton signed up on the Ss. Forthbridge, which was lost in the China Sea last month. The vessel sailed from British Columbia December 19, carrying a full cargo and with an eighteen-degree list.

Fire, which it is believed may have been smouldering in the bunkers even before the vessel left this coast, broke out and threatened to destroy the ship. The Arab firemen refused to go into the bunkers because of the heavy accumulation of gas, Crompton said, and white members of the crew had to fire the boilers.

The crew believed they had succeeded in getting the fire under control and were resting when the ship suddenly belched smoke like a volcano. It was soon a mass of flames and Capt. H. F. Darkins ordered the men to the lifeboats.

They reached the Japanese shore, three miles from the burning vessel, and were welcomed by fishermen.

"Nobody could have treated us better," said Crompton.

The crew were soon heading home by different routes. Captain Darkins went by boat to Vladivostok to take a train from there across Russia in order to reach London as soon as possible. Crompton and James McKenzie, A.B., of England, returned here over the week-end.

"Once is enough and I'm through with the sea. A land job would appeal to me," Crompton said on arrival here.

LUMBER DOCKS CONTINUE BUSY

The lumber movement through the Port of Victoria at the Ogden Point docks continues busy this week as Vancouver sland shipments go out for the United Kingdom, Australia and the Orient.

The Ss. City of Vancouver proceeded to Chemainus yesterday evening to finish for Australia. The Ethel Radcliffe and the Anglo Canadian docked this morning, the former to load 500,000 feet for the United Kingdom and the latter 300,000 feet for Australia. Tomorrow morning the Ss. Uganda is expected to arrive to take nearly 800,000 feet for the Orient.

SCHOONER IS BREAKING UP

Port Mouton, N.S., Feb. 19.—Held hard and fast on the rocks of Port Mouton Island, the ninety-nine-ton Lunenburg schooner Shirley B. Corkum was being pounded to pieces today in a violent electrical storm.

Captain C. Iveson and his crew of twenty-six reached land safely in their boats and were given food and shelter by the islanders. Her holds filled with 110,000 pounds of fresh fish, the schooner was groping her way down the coast yesterday afternoon when she struck the rocks, hidden by dense fog.

As the storm blew up Captain Iveson and the rest of his men abandoned the leaking schooner and reached the island without difficulty.

They had hardly set foot on land when the storm broke and the vessel began pounding heavily in raging seas. The Shirley B. Corkum was valued at $25,000 when she was built six years ago.

Fifty-five Ships Will Load Apples

Seattle, Feb. 19.—I. Frazier Company, freight forwarders and cargo brokers, said today fifty-five ships will berth to load apples here within the next two months.

Besides the calls for fruit, the carriers will berth at other ports for lumber, doors, plywood, canned goods and general cargo.

Tacoma will berth thirty-one ships, Everett thirteen, and Olympia nine. Grays Harbor, Longview and Bellingham also will be a port of call for several carriers, the company said.

Ship Subsidy Plans Debated

Reductions Mean No Service Cut, Says Dunning When McGeer Protests

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Reductions in subsidies to shipping lines on both the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans will not mean any impairment of services, Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, told the House of Commons yesterday.

This explanation was made when cuts of $149,000 in the grant to assist the steamship service from Vancouver and Victoria to Japan and China and of $250,000 in the Atlantic service to Great Britain drew criticism from some members of the House.

G. G. McGeer, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, described the reduction in the Pacific subsidy as false economy.

INDULGING IN HEROICS

Mr. Euler charged Mr. McGeer with indulging in heroics and the Vancouver mayor replied he was only beginning and if the minister was worried by what he said yesterday evening he was going to have a "rather bad time in the future."

Economy was the reason given by Mr. Euler for reducing the subsidies and Hon. Charles Dunning said it was the government's duty to the taxpayers to carry on services at the least possible cost. They were satisfied the cut in subsidies would mean no impairment in services.

The discussion arose when the Minister of Trade presented a money vote of $2,086,850 for mail and steamship subsidies. After the debate the subsidy was allowed to stand for further consideration.

BALANCING OF BUDGET

The cut in the Pacific subsidy was a kind of economy which would not be worth much, said Mr. McGeer.

"If that is the kind of economy we are going to adopt in order to balance the budget," he said, "we are going to have a balanced budget at the expense of the Canadian people, at the expense of the expansion of Canadian trade and at the expense of institutional services which are competing with services in other countries which receive liberal assistance from their governments.

The budget would not be balanced in this way, Mr. McGeer predicted, although Canadian companies and workmen would suffer.

"We are not going to help the Minister of Finance to obtain taxes in that way," he said. "We are not going to help the cities of Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert nor the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia to obtain taxes in that way."

The Pacific was one place where Canada should meet the intensive competition provided by the national activity of other nations. Japan had risen to the status of a world power in the last fifty years and was now seeking to dominate the Pacific.

TO PREVENT WASTE

Finance Minister Dunning replying to Mr. McGeer, said he had asked all ministers to try to carry on the public services under their direction for the least possible money. If that was orthodox economy he was orthodox.

"I am sure," said Mr. Dunning, "The minister (Mr. Euler) was convinced there would be no deterioration in the service as a result of this deduction although his reasons are confidential and cannot be divulged. This is a simple matter of Canadian concern and does not relate itself either to the rising power of Japan or to a world war."

J. J. Kinley, Liberal, Queen's-Lunenburg, N.S., pleaded for a preference for maritime sailors on ships carrying coal that was subject to a Dominion subsidy. Several British Columbia and midwestern members protested against the number of Oriental seamen on subsidized vessels on the Pacific.

EMPLOYMENT OF ORIENTALS

Conservative Leader Bennett embraced the opportunity to defend trade subsidies in the Pacific. If Canada was to maintain its trade position in the Orient and the Antipodes it was necessary to pay subsidies. It was a case of "keeping up with the joneses" or losing the business.

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, first objected to the wages paid on subsidized ships on the Pacific. Personally, he did not object to Chinese sailors if they received decent wages. He did object, however, to Chinese crews working for low wages.

Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, objected to Chinese sailors and said they should be replaced by Canadians.

MINISTER TO INVESTIGATE

The Trade Minister defended an increase from $200,000 to $300,000 in the subsidies paid for a two-ship service to New Zealand. It had been represented to him the company was losing on operations and must receive more money from the Dominion.

He had been informed, Mr. Euler said, that it was practically impossible to sign white sailors for some jobs on the Pacific service. He promised to investigate the whole situation, but could make no other promises.

It was no use employing white sailors at coolie wages, suggested Mr. MacInnis. What was needed was an investigation into wages, not the number of Orientals in the crews.

Mr. Euler said the government could not dictate to the steamship owners because most of the ships were registered in London. However, the government would use whatever influence it could to see as many white Canadian sailors as possible were signed by Pacific vessels receiving Canadian subsidies.

BODY RECOVERED FROM RAIL WRECK

Capreol, Ont., Feb. 19.—Wreckage of Saturday's freight train collision here gave up the body of Fireman J. P. Coughlin today. The Toronto trainman was found buried beneath a crumpled car of malt.

Two other victims of the crash, meanwhile, remained on the danger list at nearby Sudbury. Hospital officials reported "no improvement" in the condition of Brakeman E. A. Plumb of Toronto, scalded and suffering internal injuries, and Brakeman J. J. Merrifield of Capreol, who contracted pneumonia from exposure.

Three other trainmen were less seriously injured when the Canadian National Railway freights collided on a curve.

"Nudist" Ship Is Again in Trouble

Boca Grande, Fla., Feb. 19.—The unlucky little "nudist" schooner Fleetwood, outward bound from Tampa in search of a West Indian Utopia, has again encountered misfortune.

To-day she was firmly aground on a sand bar about fifty miles south of here, at Little Gasparilla Pass. Some of the voyagers swam ashore but refused to discuss either their troubles or their plans.

Removing Cargo From Trelissick

Astoria, Ore., Feb. 19.—Partial removal of cargo from the British steamship Trelissick reduced the ship's list to about 8 per cent yesterday. Workmen expected to have the vessel on an even keel tonight.

Ship's officers said investigation revealed the double-bottom ballast tank aft sprung a leak, letting water into the bilge, and that this fact probably was responsible for the dangerous list at sea.

The Trelissick flashed distress messages 244 miles off the Oregon coast early last Thursday, reporting a "bad list" and rough weather. Coastguard boats rushed to its assistance. It arrived in the Columbia River under its own power late Friday.

The ship, loaded with 3,600,000 feet of logs and lumber, was en route from Comox, B.C., to Sydney, Australia.
